Battle for Canton

CHINESE DUEL WITH CANNON

HONG KONG (UPI) — Fierce artillery duels were reported today to have been raging for the past two days in Canton between a regular army division and mutinous brigades in the city's outskirts.

In a related development, pro-Mao top military leaders in Peking called on the Chinese army to play an even bigger role in the raging power struggle, Peking radio said.

The radio report coincided with newspaper accounts in Hong Kong, quoting recent arrivals, that told of the military clash in the major southern Chinese city.

DELAYED FLIGHTS

The arrivals reported that troops of the 47th Army, sent to Canton by order of Peking, mounted an attack against rebels entrenched at the Pai-Wan-Shan (White Cloud Hills) area near the Canton airport.

The right-wing English daily, The Hong Kong Standard, quoted the arrivals as saying the fierce artillery duels delayed the departure of two planes sent by Premier Chou En-lai to bring more leaders of two major opposing Red Guard groups to Peking for a "peace conference."

The Peking broadcast said the military leaders appealed to the army to take "urgent measures" to protect Red Guards from anti-Mao elements and at the same time improve military-civilian relations in the year-old cultural revolution.

BLOOD BATH

Reports in Hong Kong Thursday told of a "blood bath" in the central Chinese city of Chengchow where opponents of Mao besieged a militia unit.

The "combat bulletin" of the Honan Red Guards, received Thursday in Hong Kong, said many supporters of Mao were burned or beaten to death.

$50,000 Position Beckons Minister

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Pickersgill is reported to be planning to leave the cabinet to become the first $50,000-a-year president of the Canadian Transport Commission, a still-to-be-formed federal agency set up by Parliament last winter.

An informant close to the minister said Thursday an announcement to this effect is expected before Parliament opens its fall session Sept. 25.

The new commission is to combine the present responsibilities of the Board of Transport Commissioners, the Air Transport Board and the Canadian Maritime Commission.

Lunch-Stroll Welfare Showdown

Indians Snag Bennett

By IAN STREET
Legislative Reporter

An unusual delegation from the Cowichan Indian reserve confronted Premier Bennett Thursday on the lawns in front of the legislative buildings.

They told the premier they wanted the same social welfare services other residents of B.C. receive and felt they were entitled to them because Indians who live on reserves pay provincial taxes.

The premier, obviously taken by surprise, said as long as the Indians chose to live on federal reserves, the province could not act on their demands.

DISCUSSED WEATHER

Mr. Bennett was on his way to lunch at the Union Club when the group of Indian women caught up with him. The premier told reporters who arrived on the scene a few minutes later that he had discussed the weather.

When pressed, Mr. Bennett said: "I'm on my way to lunch, my friend. Do you mind?"

Mrs. Mary Thorne of Duncan said she told the premier Indians living on reserves paid all taxes and therefore felt entitled to full social welfare benefits from the province.

MET DEPUTY

"Mr. Bennett didn't seem very interested," said Mrs. Thorne. "He said if we choose to live on federal reserves then the province was already doing all that it could do for us."

Earlier, the delegation had a meeting with deputy welfare minister Ray Rickinson and received some satisfaction.

Mr. Rickinson promised to send a social worker to the reserve on a "project basis" to assess the needs of the Indians living there and assist them where possible.

OUT OF LINE

From B.C. Indian Commissioner J. V. Boys, the delegation received an assurance that federal authorities would investigate their charges of discrepancies in welfare payments

Polaris Sub In Collision

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI)—The Polaris-armed submarine Simon Bolivar scraped the bottom of a navy cargo ship Thursday while running submerged on a torpedo practice mission in the Atlantic Ocean 70 miles southeast of Charleston.

None of the 309 officers and men aboard the Bolivar and the USS Beteigeuse were hurt in the collision. Both ships made it on their own power to their home port at Charleston.

N-Blast Leaks

YUCCA FLAT, Nev. (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed Thursday "a minor release of radioactivity" was detected following an underground nuclear test.

Papers For Dief?

TORONTO (CP) — Papers which would allow the nomination of John Diefenbaker as a candidate in the Progressive Conservative party's leadership race have been issued by the leadership convention headquarters here.

An interim report sharply critical of Defence Secretary Robert McNamara, the senators asked closing of the key North Vietnamese supply port of Haiphong and bombing of all other meaningful military targets in an effort to shorten the costly war.

McNamara testified before the subcommittee last week

Train Robbers Grab $80,000

MONTREAL (CP)—Two armed men overpowered a baggage car employee aboard the CNR's Scotian passenger train near Montreal Thursday and escaped with an estimated $80,000.

They entered the baggage car from the passenger section of the 17-car train, handcuffed the single employee on duty, shoved a woollen sock in his mouth and taped his mouth.

The baggage car employee, Marcel Poisson, 41, of Charny, Que., said the men jumped him while the train was passing through Beloeil, about 20 miles southeast of Montreal.

"I couldn't see whether they were young or old," he said in an interview. "It all happened too fast. They wouldn't let me face them."

He said the men gagged and handcuffed him, pushed him to the floor and put a coat over his head.

It was not known where the men boarded the train, bound from Halifax to Montreal. The first stop before Beloeil was St. Hyacinthe, about 12 miles down the track.

FOUND GAGGED

The robbery was not discovered until the train arrived at Central Station in downtown Montreal. Baggage handlers at the station slid open the car door and found the employee lying bound and gagged on the floor.

None of the passengers on the train or the other employees were aware of the robbery, the spokesman said.

The baggage car was just behind the engine.

One of Canada's largest train robberies occurred in 1904 when a gang headed by Billy Miner, known in the West as the "Robin Hood of the Rockies," held up a CPR train west of Mission, B.C. They got $120,000 in gold bullion.

Thatcher Calling Election?

Thatcher

REGINA (CP)—The Leader-Post says Premier Ross Thatcher is expected to issue an announcement Saturday concerning a Saskatchewan provincial election.

The newspaper said rumors were strengthened Thursday by a report that election proclamations have been prepared.

The premier's only comment Thursday was: "Don't hold your breath."

RAIN!

Holiday Weekend Wet One

The long Labor Day weekend may be a wet one if the weatherman's crystal ball has not been cracked by the heat.

The Gonzales weather office forecasts rain today, and the Seattle weatherman's five-day prediction is for more than normal rainfall before Tuesday.

Victoria's traffic officers are keeping their fingers crossed and say the first hour will be the worst. That's how long it will take to clean the road film from the streets.

ROADS SLIPPERY

During that first hour, the roads will be slippery and accidents are bound to happen.

But many may be avoided, says city traffic inspector Richard Berry, if motorists use their heads.

Arctic 'Aqaba' Turns Back U.S. Ice Ships

WASHINGTON (A.P.) The state department added, accusing the Soviet Union of denying to U.S. vessels their rights under international law and frustrating an important scientific mission.

At issue is whether the Vilkitsky Straits between the Soviet Island of Severnaya Zemlya and the Soviet coast is an international passageway — as the United States claims — or Soviet territorial water, as Moscow contends.

The legal issue resembles in some ways the question over the Gulf of Aqaba, whose announced blockade by Egypt triggered the June war between Israel and its Arab neighbors.

United States has halted a voyage by two U.S. icebreakers across the Arctic in a dispute with the Soviet Union over passage through the northern waters, the U.S. state department announced Thursday.

A strong protest has been launched with the Kremlin, the

'Must Take Risk'

Senators Demand Bombing Step-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — An immediate increase in bombing of all important military targets in North Vietnam—even if it risks war with China—was recommended unanimously Thursday by the U.S. Senate's preparedness subcommittee.

In an interim report sharply critical of Defence Secretary Robert McNamara, the senators asked closing of the key North Vietnamese supply port of Haiphong and bombing of all other meaningful military targets in an effort to shorten the costly war.

McNamara testified before the subcommittee last week that increased bombing could not by itself win or shorten the war and that the final victory must be won by ground forces in South Vietnam.

The subcommittee report said: "We cannot, in good conscience, ask our ground forces to continue their fight in South Vietnam unless we are prepared to pres the air war in the North in the most effective way possible.

"What is needed now is the hard decision to, whatever is necessary, take the risks that have to be taken, and apply the force that is required to see the job through."

Workman Killed By 12,000 Volts

WOODSTOCK, N.B. (UPI) — Edward Jewett of Dubec was electrocuted Thursday when 12,000 volts shot through his body as he touched a power line, working on a housing project.

Tory Credentials Go to 86 'Thinkers'

OTTAWA (CP) — Credentials for 86 disputed delegates to the Progressive Conservative leadership convention next week have been issued, informants said here Thursday.

The information was confirmed by Conservative national director Dr. James Johnston, who said he learned of the accreditation Wednesday, adding that he will challenge the action at Sunday's meeting of the convention committee.

The 86 were listed by convention headquarters as delegates from the Montmorency Falls, Que., policy advisory conference held by the party early this month in preparation for the convention.

Dr. Johnston submitted a formal protest last Friday stating that a large number of the "thinkers' conference" delegates selected favored one particular candidate among the nine men and two women at present in the running.

Following protests from Dr. Johnston and agents for several of the candidates, convention headquarters advised party members who made inquiries that the credentials had already been issued.

"I have been told that I should refer the protest to the convention committee," Dr. Johnston said. "That is what I did in the first place when copies of my protest were sent to the 25 members of the committee and to the leadership candidates.

"Despite this, the credentials have been shipped."

He said there are "enough votes in that 86 to throw the convention." He declined to say to whom.

"Unknown hands have compiled a list of 86 people and the credentials have been sent. The convention committee now is expected to ratify this action. "I do not intend to."

★ ★ ★

He said the committee must decide who has power to make such appointments and how many may be appointed. The qualifications of those selected must be set out.

"Whatever the committee decides has to be acceptable as well to a plenary session of the convention," he added.

Flags Kept Flying In Vancouver

BILL THOMAS' NOTEBOOK — Friday

IT'S THAT WAY: Funny the way the civil service mind works. You may remember we left the centennial commission and all its shuffles behind Thursday morning. Well, we did not quite manage to leave them behind. It so happened that Margaret Brenner, who is the sole surviving representative of the commission here in B.C., was in town and read our tale of woe.

After the trite and polite formalities, I asked why she had been able to retain her job when heads seemed to be falling like the rain-starved apples in my garden.

Mrs. Brenner explained the whole matter in a concise and precise manner in her clipped British voice.

"We have a street-level office on Howe Street in Vancouver so that people can come in and take advantage of our flag and banner-lending service."

Mrs. Brenner, who bears quite a likeness to her boss, Judy LaMarsh, said, "I have been very happy in my eight months with the commission, and as an employee I can't discuss any of these matters with you. I will be leaving this job on Oct. 31."

Well, kiddies, that's it. Vancouver has a desperate need for a flag and banner-lending service, and I guess we don't.

SOME HELP: One of the services at the legislative buildings is a horticultural expert, who can define plants for people.

He can tell you whether that strange mushroom is poison or not, whether that odd bit of fruit is edible or deadly.

So goes the theory.

But then a young Oak Bay woman telephoned the government number, got through to Local 2678, and found out what sort of answer the public really gets.

She described the plum-like fruit on a tree, and asked if it was edible.

The answer was, "Why don't you just go to the store and buy some? They're not that expensive." And that was that.

BEST BANK?: George Henderson sailed on many a trip out of San Francisco. He roamed the Pacific on freighters and tankers until his health gave out recently.

George was burdened down with luggage after one trip some 20 yearr ago, so he asked if he could leave it at a waterfront bar, The Admiral. Just recently he thought he would drop in to check on his gear.

The passing of time has done nothing to the memory of bar operator Pat Schofield. As soon as the sailor poked his head in the door, Schofield yelled, "Hey, George — it's still here."

The pair opened the trunk and pulled out a collection of photographs which have since been added to the collection on the bar walls.

Since Mr. Henderson left his gear, the bar has changed locations, but all his stuff, along with that of hundreds of other sailors, went along.

Right now Mr. Henderson is a patient in the Veteran's Hospital. He has been declared unfit for sea duty so he has come home to Victoria.

He saw service with the Canadian Scottish, and hopes that some of his old friends will drop in and see him.

When he is back on his feet, he hopes to send for his gear and the old trunk. It's not worth much, says George, but it is full of memories.

AS KIDS SAY: The Victoria Public Library has a book of Celtic legends. A small girl borrowed the book and read it.

She then turned to her mother and said, "Does Daddy come from Wales?" Her mother replied "Yes."

"Funny," said the child, "the whole country seems to be full of fairies."

Blood-Thinners Problematic

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband had a coronary thrombosis five years ago, and was given a blood-thinning medication. Now the doctor is cutting down the dose until gradually he will no longer be taking any. The doctor feels it has no value now and can do damage in some instances.

However, some time ago, I read an article by a heart specialist who believed any man over 40 should take these drugs to avoid blood clots and prevent a heart attack. We would appreciate your opinion. — MRS. S. G.

A coronary thrombosis is a plugging of some part of a coronary artery, the artery which nourishes the heart muscle and gives it its energy. A blood clot is usually what does the plugging.

The damage is quickly done. The portion of the heart muscle which has been deprived of blood succumbs, and is replaced with scar tissue.

Then, assuming the patient survives the attack, as the majority does, he is given prolonged rest to relieve the damaged heart muscle of strain. Gradually other blood vessels enlarge to take over circulation which has been interrupted by the thrombosis.

As a safety precaution against another clot forming and doing serious damage while the patient is still in this precarious period, the "blood-thinners" often are used. Actually a better name is anti-coagulants — drugs which retard the natural tendencies of blood to form a clot.

These are useful drugs, but it has taken time to assess the amount of their value. It usually does with any new treatment. Only after years of observation, comparing the results with people who have and have not had the treatment, is it possible to come to sound conclusions.

With the anti-coagulants, it appears now for a short time they are a valuable safeguard. Long-term use, however, does not show that patients are better off than patients who have not had the continued treatment.

The idea of "preventing" heart attacks by giving the drugs indefinitely was an intriguing one but not practical.

Consider this: It takes continuing observation to keep the drug level correct. With the anti-coagulants present, one must be constantly alert for any bleeding. Since the drug retards clotting, it follows that any wound will bleed much more freely. You can see the problem if, for example, an ulcer began to bleed.

The delegation claimed the $45 paid for an Indian foster child living on the reserve is way out of line with the figure of $89 paid to foster parents elsewhere in B.C.

Mrs. Ruby Peter, spokesman for the delegation, said the seriousness of the need was impressed upon the provincial officials attending Thursday's meeting.

"I told them of a 15-year-old girl, an unwed mother, who went into hospital and had her baby on Saturday. On Sunday the baby died and on Monday she was released. We found her walking around by herself trying to make arrangements for the funeral. There should have been a social worker to help, but there was no one," said Mrs. Peter.

Chief Denis Alphonse said the delegation represented 1,450 members of the Cowichan Indian band living on six reservations in the Duncan area.

GET RUNAROUND

The chief said: "We were told that on a higher level there was bickering about costs. The provincial government will only take on this responsibility (for full welfare services for Indians on reserves) if they receive 100 per cent of the cost from federal sources.

"We are getting the runaround. It's passing the buck. This is a B.C.-wide problem that has to be solved."

NO WORKERS

The delegation complained that Indians on reserves have no social workers to provide family counselling and assess their needs, and no housekeeping services. They also get no shelter allowance for minor repairs on deteriorating houses on reserves.

One member of the delegation estimated it would take between $4,000 and $5,000 to bring each of the houses built by the Indian affairs branch up to livable standards of heat, light and plumbing.

FEDERAL PROBLEM

After the meeting Mr. Rickinson phoned Welfare Minister Dan Campbell and then released the following statement:

"This government considers welfare services to Indians on reservations a federal problem. But the philosophy and policy of the province is to give the same welfare to Indians on reserves as it gives to white people off the reserves.

REJECTED PROPOSAL

province had rejected a federal proposal to phase out Ottawa's responsibility for welfare services on reserves. The reason for the rejection, the deputy said, is that the plan would cost B.C. several hundred thousand dollars in the first year of the transfer program.

As far as payment of inadequate social assistance to reserve dwellers was concerned, said Mr. Rickinson, this was strictly a federal responsibility.

Before Viet Ballot

Allies Seek Terrorists

SAIGON (AP) — Activity of the anti-Communist allies in the Vietnam war centred largely Thursday on efforts to cope with raids and terrorism aimed at disrupting Sunday's election. Security guards and police were out in heavier than usual numbers.

Field sweeps and road-clearing projects engaged battalions of troops against Communist forces which have killed more than 150 civilians, attacked four provincial capitals and blasted about a dozen bridges so far this week in a drive to cow the voters.

Incidents major and minor dotted the country:

● Police officers are high on the Viet Cong guerrillas target list and a Viet Cong gunman wounded a South Vietnamese national policeman with a pistol shot as he was leaving a Saigon theatre Thursday night. The policeman fired back and killed him.

● Fifteen Communist mortar shells lobbed into Phan Thiet, the Binh Thuan province capital on the coast 95 miles east of Saigon, killed a South Vietnamese child and wounded 11 civilians.

● A guerrilla band kidnapped 39 young men at gunpoint from the village of Cua Doi, 288 miles north of Saigon. Such men ordinarily are given Communist indoctrination and drafted into combat or labor units.

CAMPAIGNING CONTINUES

Pre-election disorders seemed to be having no immediate effect on the campaigning. Chief-of-state Nguyen Van Thieu, who heads the military nomination, and 10 civilians competing for the presidency conducted a final joint press conference in Saigon.

As the U.S. air war against North Vietnam continued, a broadcast dispatch from Hanoi said North Vietnam's armed forces shot down nine U.S. aircraft—eight planes and a rescue helicopter—and captured "a number of U.S. pilots" Thursday. Four planes and the helicopter were reported to have been felled over Haiphong.

Villagers Annihilated

SAIGON (UPI) — Viet Cong terror raiders massacred 150 civilians and burned 100 homes in a virtually unprecedented attack on a northern province village, an official of Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky's government said Thursday.

Observer Can Feel If Elections Rotten

One of U.S. President Johnson's 22 observers here for the Sunday's South Vietnamese elections says he can.

Others of the group were not so sure in interviews that they could determine anything in the short time available.

The 22 prominent Americans had a full day of intensive briefings, exhaustive visits to remote polling sites and pidgin English conversations with Vietnamese election officials Thursday.

As they see their role, they must wade through government red tape to the Vietnamese voter and determine whether he has cast an informed vote on his own initiative in a democratic election—or whether he has been unfairly influenced and his vote snatched illegally.

Few think they can make such an evaluation.

The group plans no joint report. They say they plan to stop in Honolulu en route home for a bull session, some of which likely would be relayed to the White House.

Whitney Young, president of the Urban League, said: "We have no illusions about what we can do."

Republican Senator George Murphy of California, felt that they could determine instinctively, if not factually, whether the election was clean or soiled.

"I think we can tell from watching people go to the polls whether the thing looks fair," Murphy said. "You have to rely mostly on instinct."

Peking Keeps Silent

LONDON (UPI) — New anti-British demonstrations flared outside the British Diplomatic Mission in Peking Thursday, according to diplomatic reports reaching London.

Foreign office sources said the demonstrations erupted in the morning and again during the afternoon. They were minor in nature and apparently without violence.

China meanwhile, has kept up a stolid silence on Britain's proposal to normalize the badly bruised relations between the two nations.

British Foreign Secretary George Brown, in a direct appeal to Chinese Foreign minister Marshal Chen Yi, proposed Wednesday to discuss ways of easing tension.

The Foreign Office said today it had received no news from the Chinese or from its Charge d'Affaires in Peking, Donald Hopson, about Peking's reaction to the British peace proposal.

Wire Rolls Back

ALLENBY BRIDGE, Israel (CP) — Israeli soldiers rolled a barbed-wire barrier back to the middle of the Allenby Bridge Thursday night as a mass repatriation of Jordanian refugees officially ended.

Jordanian officials said the repatriation of Arabs who fled the west bank of the Jordan River ahead of advancing Israeli troops during the June Middle East war was a failure.

But the Israeli cabinet is scheduled to meet Sunday to discuss arrangements for letting in several thousand more refugees from the captured west bank who failed to meet the deadline.

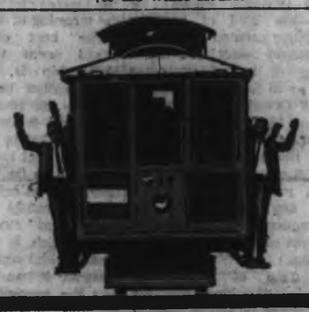

MAY STRETCH

The government struck to its declared policy of not officially extending the deadline, but officials here indicated the operation would be stretched for humanitarian reasons.

They were mostly older men and mothers with children, carrying their suitcases and household possessions.

About 14,000 Jordanians have returned to their pre-war homes in the two-week operation.

This leaves about 5,000 more refugees approved by the Israelis who still have not returned.

Arab Hawks Moulting?

By DENNIS NEELD

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — The Arab summit meeting limped toward its close Thursday with Egypt apparently falling in step with those ready for a political, rather than a military, solution to the problems of the Middle East.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser indicated that Egypt, for the time being, is in no shape to embark on a fresh military offensive to regain territory lost to Israel in the June war.

MORE DIPLOMACY

The Arab nations now should build up their strength and direct their efforts toward the diplomatic field, Nasser obliquely suggested Wednesday.

But there is no indication that he is ready to negotiate with Israel either directly or indirectly.

His intention, say conference sources, is to enlist international sympathy for the Arab cause and there is no sign that he has abandoned dreams of revenge by force of arms.

ARAB FEUD SOLVED

His agreement early Thursday to solve the long-standing feud between Egypt and Saudi Arabia over Yemen was seen as a move to conserve his strength and cut already heavy economic losses resulting from the war.

The agreement to pull Egyptian troops from Yemen in return for a Saudi Arabian halt to its assistance to Yemen's Royalist rebels was in danger of foundering.

PEACE PLAN

The conference is expected to wind up today.

It was reported that Nasser and President Abdel Rahman Aref of Iraq were receptive, at least in part, to a peace plan for the Middle East being peddled in world capitals now by President Tito of Yugoslavia. But Syria refused to go along with Tito.

NEVER QUIT

Florida's Seminole Indians have never surrendered or signed a peace treaty with the United States. They took refuge in the Everglades in 1858 after years of fighting with the U.S. Army.

LBJ Facing Odds

CROWNS are said to rest uneasily on monarchial heads; political heads of state are no less free from concern. More so in fact since they must always keep an eye on the next election.

This is the fix looming before President Johnson, and recent polls held across the line on his popularity are none too promising for him. Next year the American presidential election is due, and LBJ, as he is colloquially known, is faced apparently with mounting disquiet about the policies presently being pursued by his administration.

And in the U.S. this means essentially the president himself.

Mr. Johnson bears a terrible load of work and responsibility and it is a marvel that one man can stand the strain imposed by a system that channels every major problem straight to his desk. Unlike other political systems of governance, such as our own, he does not have the relief that the principle of collective cabinet responsibility affords a prime minister.

His government stands or falls directly on his personal reaction to the image of his administration.

Righ now that image is tarnished because of the conflict between costly involvement in Vietnam and the pressing demands of domestic issues implicit in his credo of a "great society."

The public polls reflect increasing discomfort in relation to these two vital questions. The latest report by a well-known news magazine for example says that an alarming number of Americans is deeply disturbed about Vietnam and the bread-and-butter problems of inflation, taxes and jobs.

It is suggested also that people doubt the credibility of statements on the Vietnam situation; that while admiring President Johnson for his strength, energy and intelligence they think he manipulates the centre of the political stage to himself, and that he is his own worst enemy.

The latter may be an unfair judgment, for willy-nilly he is thrust into the forefront of everything that happens with his government. He can scarcely escape the arrows of disagreement.

Yet December of next year, politically speaking, is not far away, and there seems little likelihood of substantial change in Vietnam, for instance, or in the grave domestic problems that beset him either.

It would take courage to move towards disengagement of American action in Vietnam, so deeply is the U.S. committed and national pride is at stake. Yet it was a precedent of this kind that swept a predecessor into the White House. It was the pledge of General Eisenhower to bring the Korean conflict to an end—by neither victory nor defeat but disengagement—that won him his first term of presidential office.

President Johnson may have to follow a similar course if he is to ensure a second term, and such a decision probably would win him a comfortable majority at the polls next year.

It would be a decision greatly welcomed by many people in countries other than his own, as well as by Americans deeply concerned about the seeming stalemate in Vietnam. The relief would be widespread.

About Turn

THERE IS SPECULATION in Ottawa, apparently inspired by predictions within the department of national defence, that Mr. Paul Hellyer intends to reduce drastically Canada's military manpower.

This comes as a shock, for it is a complete "about turn" from the policy of accelerated recruitment resulting from what was considered a dangerous falling off of enlistments and an increase in retirements as recently as last January.

At the same time, and from the same quarter, comes the prediction of a reduction in military commitments.

In services already woefully undermanned, it would be obviously impossible to reduce the number of serving personnel without withdrawal from responsibilities.

What the reaction of Canada's allies will be to such a decision can be anticipated. It is safe to assume it will not be approval. The obligations this nation has undertaken, whether in the United Nations or NATO, should not be evaded.

But there is another aspect of the situation which, to the armed forces themselves, is even more distressing. The sad lack of continuity in Defence Minister Hellyer's manpower policy must inevitably shake the belief in all ranks that they embarked upon a career which offered security as well as the satisfaction of service to the country. The prospect of dismissal on the grounds of economy should not be allowed to complicate their lives. The inevitable result will be a deterioration of morale, already significantly hurt by the ensign, uniform and unification decisions.

There are, surely, other areas in which the government could practise economies.

Senator Wallace McCutcheon most appropriately remarked on Wednesday that the government called on business "to exercise restraint in expenditures, in prices and in wages," but itself observed "no apparent restraint whatever."

The defence department should be the last, rather than the first, to make sacrifices.

Embarrassed

DESPITE all those bland assurances by senior officers that servicemen are eager to don the army-style green uniform projected for members of all three services, there is one Canadian sailor who has rebelled.

Although of three-year RCN vintage he is so embarrassed at the idea of wearing the non-naval tri-service garb he wants to join the United States Navy. No doubt he will be up on the carpet for his temerity in thus voicing his dissent.

He is afraid that if in a foreign port he said he was a sailor, in contrast to his uniform, he would be laughed at.

One would hope he wouldn't be, but patently he would be eyed with some queerness.

A single objector doesn't necessarily speak for all his mates, but there can be small doubt that he isn't alone in his opinion. It would be nothing short of miraculous if he were.

The true test of those official statements as to the popularity of the tri-service uniform would come only if the troops were allowed a referendum on their reaction to the change. That, of course, will never happen.

Time will bring its own resignation to the new dress, but it is a fair guess there will be many who don it with extreme reluctance.

International Prize Essay — By Russell Wodell

Peace Is Attainable

More than one million children throughout the world wrote essays on "Peace Is Attainable" in an International Association of Lions Clubs contest. Grand prize was won by Russell Wodell, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wodell, now of Cranbrook and formerly of Victoria, where Russell attended George Jay School and, when he was six, spent a year receiving treatment for rheumatic fever at Queen Alexandra Solarium. This article is the first installment of the prize-winning essay.

IN TODAY'S world the title of this essay is like a small voice crying in the wilderness of global uneasiness and mistrust. It becomes even more plaintive when, on closer inspection, we find that it is not a statement, but a question.

"Is peace attainable?" With United States occupying Vietnam, with an ever-widening schism between the Communists of Russia and China, with disturbing rumbles from France and Germany, with political unrest in every nation, with the entire world trembling on the brink of nuclear Ragnarok—the answer would seem to be a resounding NO. Yet is it? Has man passed the point of no return? Has the final judgment already been made, and all our present efforts left as the prelude to Armageddon? Let us examine the question more closely.

It is perhaps a commentary on man that, when one wishes to speak of peace, one must inevitably speak of war. The simplest definition of peace seems to be "the absence of war"—a definition by exclusion. Let us define war. War involves two or more hostile states in armed conflict, with one or more seeking a goal which is actively opposed by the others. This is of course a general definition; wars are also divided into two major classifications: absolute and limited.

The object of absolute war is the unconditional surrender or extermination of the enemy; limited war seeks reparation for injury, recognition of claims, or a territorial advantage. (As Karl von Clausewitz pointed out, however, there is a tendency for all limited wars to become absolute if the opposing states are equally powerful and tenacious.) These classifications are then subdivided into international, imperial and civil wars.

The causes of war need not concern us here; in seeking peace we are primarily concerned with the causes of war. The hows of war can be found in any history text; for the whys we must turn to the psychiatrist.

The causes of war have been a source of endless speculation. The Fascists glorified war; for the purposes of this essay (and, indeed, for the survival of the race) we must agree that war is a prime evil. Since the basic goals of modern civilization are Life and Liberty, and since war is the basic threat to these ideals, war is therefore totally undesirable.

Having agreed on this, it is a natural conclusion that the qualities which make war possible lie in the baser side of human nature. We must then proceed to discover precisely what these qualities are. Yet most psychologists agree that there is no war-prone characteristic inherent in man.

We must conclude that war is a sociological phenomenon. It is not as individuals that men wage war. It is as nations. Leaders do not declare war as men; they do this as the figureheads of nations. It is not individuals who adopt moral codes to war; it is the populace of a state. We have seen a mass murderer led to the gas chamber; we have seen a parade held in honor of a war hero, whose only feat was to kill more men than any other soldier. (Had the Texas slayer climbed a Vietnamese hillock rather than a university bell tower, he would have been saluted by his country. Was Einstein given a medal after Hiroshima?)

Yet, you may say, a nation is composed of men. It is men who fight the battles. Must they not accept the guilt? The only answer is yes. Each individual must be responsible for his own actions—even when his integrity leads him away from his nation's doctrines. For a closer understanding of this point, we must turn to mob psychology.

"Crowds in the sociological sense tend to form when integrated groups are breaking down. People have a feeling that their established and accustomed groups are no longer functioning satisfactorily; hence they experiment with new and unexpected types of collective behavior. A specific stimulus is necessary to start a crowd—such as collective fear, an antisocial event which creates a strong grievance, or a strong plea for a new social order."

"People then interact and generate a great deal of collective excitement which results in some form of crowd behavior. The behavior may either have a specific purpose—such as lynching a person or destroying some hated organization, as in a religious revival meeting or a football rally . . ."

The obvious implication is that the populace of a state can, under conditions of war, be considered a crowd. Once states are at war, the leaders of a state must ensure that the populace supports its actions and that the sympathies of the populace are with the state's cause. Propaganda in its worst form uses the inner conflicts in men, channeling latent aggressive tendencies toward the enemy.

This results in mob hysteria directed violently against the Enemy—the kind of reaction which Hitler used so effectively. The ultimate result is a direct focussing of hatred upon the enemy, as in the "Two Minutes' Hate" of Orwell's 1984, and the conviction that "we" are better than "they"—mental poisoning of the deadliest kind. (Also, under these conditions, the hysteria may be directed against any who oppose the state's actions and so become, in the eyes of the crowd, part of the enemy.)

This use of propaganda results in the kind of "my country, right or wrong" thinking which characterized both World Wars and partially dominates the political scene today. It is my belief that his kind of nationalism is the primary cause of war.

After Middle East War

Wooing Back Tourists

By IRENE BEESON
from Amman

I WAS one of three passengers on a recent plane from Athens to Beirut. Beirut airport was practically deserted, except for officials and armed military guards. Despite my British passport I was greeted with the customary warm smiles and words of welcome.

"Plenty of rooms in hotels," my taxi driver assured me. "Very few tourists — nobody comes these days. The war, terrible war, everybody stays away now." "Welcome to Lebanon," great posters proclaimed. "International Tourist Year 1967." But Beirut was desolate.

The beaches around Beirut were crowded at the weekend, but foreign faces were as rare as pearls in oysters. "We expected a slump after the war," Mansour Shallita, director of the Lebanon's Council for Tourism told me, "but I am not unduly worried." He was confident that the Lebanon would recover from the present difficulties faster even than from the tourist slump which followed the 1958 crisis, when U.S. troops landed in the country.

People in the hotel and transport industries did not appear to share Mr. Shallita's optimism. They have appealed to the government for financial help and are pressing the authorities to open the Nahoura border post on the southern Lebanese-Israeli border, to allow tourists to visit Jerusalem from the Lebanon.

While Mr. Shallita agreed that at least 30 per cent of tourists visiting the Lebanon before the recent war came on their way to the Holy Places on the West Bank of the Jordan — now occupied by Israel — he did not think that this would have a long-term adverse effect on the tourist trade, which in 1966 accounted for 10 per cent of the country's gross income.

Lebanon had launched a world-wide publicity campaign. Western and Arab press representatives had been invited to spend a few days in the Lebanon as guests of the tourist council, to see and report that the country had lost none of its charm and appeal, and was as inviting as ever. Prices had been slashed by 15 to 25 per cent.

"Lebanon can compete with Israel," Mr. Shallita assured me. "We have more to offer, and the Lebanon is much better equipped to look after trouists' comfort and pleasure. People want sunshine, golden beaches, the sea, good hotels, night clubs and floor shows and the opportunity to go on a shopping spree. We have plenty of all that, and some to spare — and we also have our mountain resorts which are ideal both for summer and winter holidays."

Before I left Beirut for Amman, a few days after the interview, I ran into a group of French tourists and noticed several flaxen-haired white-turning-to-pink-skinned beauties on the beach. Perhaps things were looking up. If the Juin war has meant a temporary setback for Lebanon, for Jordan it has been a veritable catastrophe. Amputation of the west bank of the Jordan, now occupied by the Israelis, has robbed Jordan of her most important historic, religious and archaeological sites and monuments and deprived her of a vital source of income from tourism. Tourist traffic in Jordan had increased from 109,000 visitors in 1960 to 616,000 in 1966, yielding an income, last year, of a little over $33 million.

Mr. Ghaleb Barakat, director of the Jordan Tourism Authority, confirmed reports that about 80 per cent of the country's tourist trade had been lost with the west bank. Of Jordan's 160 hotels, 110 are on the west bank.

At present tourism on the east side of the Jordan is practically non-existent. "There have been a few, very few tourists recently," Mr. Barakat told me, "but we are hoping to see an increase . . . nothing like the pre-war influx, of course."

Tourism on this side of the River Jordan has been neglected in the past, in favour of the holy places on the West Bank. But Jordan has much to offer tourists outside Jerusalem, Bethlehem, Bethany, Jericho and other places now in Israeli hands, in the way of archaeological and religious sites, monuments and natural beauty.

It would not be correct to say that peace has returned to the east bank of the Jordan. War is still present here in the fact that the river has been converted into an emotive barrier separating Jordan from Jordan.

But the country is absolutely secure for foreign visitors. Jordanian welcome and hospitality are as warm as ever. Jordan is quiet, in a stunned, wounded way.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

1917 — The Canadian Press was formed as a co-operative to exchange news among Canadian daily newspapers.

First World War: Fifty years ago today — in 1917 — British warships sank four German minesweepers off Jutland.

Second World War: Twenty-five years ago today — in 1942 — Russians announced withdrawal of defence lines southwest of Stalingrad. Soviet bombers raided Warsaw.

Spoiling the Square

IT IS high time some sensible statements were made about Centennial Square. It was built for and by the people of Greater Victoria for the enjoyment of themselves and visitors. It was very carefully designed and a great credit to the community. Now it has become a meeting place of a group generally despised and shunned by all the normal people here and from other places.

These so-called hippies are not people who because of destitution cannot make themselves look normal. Rather they are a queer group who deliberately leave their hair long, their faces scruffy, their clothes filthy, their feet, and presumably their bodies dirty. They do all this knowing that other people look at them with disgust. Their only access to water seems to be by the fountain. They congregate there because they know it spoils the square for all the regular citizens.

Every week one or more persons are picked up for loitering or lack of funds. Why are not all these persons checked every day or so for the same reason? Obviously most do no work. They sing and caper and in every way annoy the people who largely were responsible for building the square. If they have to have a place to meet then why not give them some old dirty hall, more in keeping with their mode of living, but the citizens and visitors should not have to be subjected daily to 20 or more filthy youths.

No Vacancy

Eight or nine estimable gentlemen may look rather foolish if, when the Conservative convention assembles, Mr. Diefenbaker repeats what he said in Vancouver recently: "I am the leader."

To this he might accurately add that since he has not resigned or been fired there is no vacancy in the office for which the eight or nine estimable gentlemen have been feverishly campaigning from coast to coast.

If, as seems more and more probable, Mr. Diefenbaker should take that stand, which among the aspirants will be bold enough to challenge him and thus incur the antagonism of that large block of delegates (they do not need to be a majority) who are devotedly loyal to the Chief?

That is a prospect insufficiently discussed in pre-convention commentaries.

Love

Re the account in the Colonist of Alderman Baird's talk with the hippies and the discussion of the meaning of the word "love".

The best definition given would seem to be sharing. Fellowship is, I venture to think, rather better. It is true that the one invincible power in the world is love, consequently we have God Is Love; from this it follows that Love Is God since the verb to be takes the same case after as before.

Unfortunately to so very many "God" means a conscious force which is responsible for creating and running the world. However it has been truly said that the concept thus given to the world is a divisive one.

Can we not see love as fellowship—sharing—and realize that it needs conversation and co-operation to spread it?

I do not understand Alderman Baird's answer which, as reported, was said to indicate "the low degree of measurement of love used by the hippies".

Bonds in Discard

As a long time bondholder I feel deep sympathy for Mr. Robert J. Howard's protest on behalf of perpetual bondholders. He is however quite mistaken. It is untrue to say "these bonds matured in 1968" (or any year), the very name "perpetual" shows any thinking person that the bonds do not mature. What happened in 1946 was that the coupons attached to these bonds were all used up, but the government immediately and in good time supplied new coupons so that the bondholders continued to receive the interest due to them.

What did happen, and is still happening, to all bondholders (mortgages, insurance policies, money on deposit etc.) is that owing chiefly to excessive government spending, money is rapidly losing its purchasing power, and owing to the great demand for money, interest rates are rising. Last loan of the Canadian government gave investors 6 per cent interest! Who is going to pay full price for earlier government loans issued at much lower rates of interest? We (mostly elderly people) face a very heavy capital loss if we want to realize our money. Most of my bonds run for 20 or 25 years—we simply can't wait that long.

The question is far wider than merely perpetual bonds, it covers money itself (and bonds are just money in a fixed form) and all fixed interest investments. Someone has well said, "Every price or wage increase is a slap in the face for the bondholder." My face is sore right now!

As regards old age pensions does Mr. Howard realize that the people who have made the effort and sacrifice to save a little are now taxed and paying out up to $240 per year for the people who never saved at all? This is apart from income tax altogether. The non-savers get $135 a month including the B.C. government grant. Granted there are hard cases, but the "good time Charlies" are sitting on the pig's back, make no mistake about that.

I wrote to the perpetual bondholders association pointing to the wider implications involved and sent a copy of my letter to our finance minister. I had no reply from the latter. Probably because there is no reply.

Our Readers' Views

To be considered for publication in whole or in part, letters must be on subjects of general interest and if signed with pen-names, must be accompanied by writer's name and address. Preference will be given to those that are brief.

School Costs

The reduction of school costs will again be prominent on the fall action program of the Oak Bay Ratepayers' Association.

In this connection I would like to refer to the reported remarks of Mr. Peter Bunn, school board chairman, following our penultimate meeting.

Mr. Herbert Anscomb at the meeting said he did not see why he should be called on to pay for the education of other people's children any more than he would for their TV set or automobile.

Mr. Bunn declared that this was "back to caveman thinking."

But Mr. Bunn should re-study social history. He will learn that communal responsibility and the sharing of everything is a feature of primitive (caveman) life. Living proofs of this are the aborigines of Australia, the Bushmen of the Kalahari Desert and the few who remain of the original inhabitants of Tierra del Fuego. It is the absence of individual responsibility which keeps these people primitive.

In fact, therefore, it is Mr. Bunn who is advocating "back to the caveman" while Mr. Anscomb is the champion of progressive evolution.

HARRY GREGSON,
President,
Oak Bay Ratepayers' Association.

Means Test

In your apparent anxiety to distribute social welfare funds more evenly, you appear to have overlooked that any attempt to restore the odious "means test" implies the re-hiring of additional "social workers" in the civil service, on very high salaries which, it is believed, in the long run would counter-balance any saving effected.

With the new guaranteed income for old age pensioners, I thought that this obnoxious relic of the past had been laid to rest forever. I know of elderly people, nervous, and in frail health, who would rather deprive themselves of some of the necessities of life, than submit to its humiliating ordeal—and having personal knowledge of some of the ignorant "jacks-in-office" who do the actual job of snooping, I can well understand how they feel about it. I, for one, would never vote for any party in Ottawa which advocated a return to the means test in the ordinary sense.

Citizens are trusted to be honest when filling out income tax forms. They are not checked up to find out if they have old all the truth. Why can't we trust old people at the end of their lives? In any event, the Canada Pension Plan will eventually take care of this problem. That plan ought to have been brought in 30 years ago, as in other countries.

Perhaps family allowances — as with old age pensions — should be taxable for people in the higher-income brackets, and with more than two children. Old-age pensioners are doubly taxed; 4 per cent of tax goes towards the fund while they are younger and working, and then when they draw the pension, they must still pay tax if they have anything more than $1,000 a year. So it is not fair that family allowances should be entirely non-taxable.

Why not abolish — or cut by 50 per cent — the exemptions of people in the high-income brackets who apply for Old Age Security? That would obviate the means test for the needy, and would be fair and just to the better-off. They pay the 4 per cent to are entitled, but they would be discouraged if their exemptions were cut. It would be cheaper than paying an army of snoopers in Ottawa.

As for national medicare — why not let Ottawa go ahead with its plan to subsidize the participating provinces, but require everyone to pay a nominal 50 cents a month to be eligible?

You say our tax structure cannot afford to bear the burden of these social services programs. When one man can pay half a million dollars for a race-horse — in a population of only 20 million people?

Sunday's Elections Provide Minimal Optimism

Outlook in Vietnam Painful Progress

By JOSEPH KRAFT
From Saigon

As I indicated yesterday, a sham battle over possible fraud has obscured a far more important development fostered by the presidential elections here. That development is the coming back to life of Vietnamese politics.

The true test of the election is whether this political rebirth can be nourished along lines favorable to ending the war. My feeling is that it can — but not, and this is the great disappointment of the elections, in a way apt to yield quick results.

To be sure, there has been an unmistakable change of atmosphere here since the presidential campaign last June. Before then political life had been stifled to the point where there could be no responsible government, nor rapport between rules and ruled.

Repression and censorship were the order of the day. Parties and political sects existed in semi-clandestinity. Programs were things unknown. Discussion of the true issues was rare and hesitant. I well remember, as late as last April, that when the subject of peace came up in a chat I was having with a Vietnamese friend, we both lapsed into whispers.

Now the lid is off, and light and air have been let in. Censorship has been almost completely abolished. The parties and sects have surfaced with candidates for the presidency and the senate seats which are also being contested now.

All conceivable issues — peace, corruption, land reform, police repression, draft-dodging, and even the right number of American troops — have been hotly debated.

This political regeneration has had a relentlessly ongoing character. Thus the issue of peace was first broached by the former minister of economics Au Truong Thanh in his declaration of intent to run.

Subsequently, in the most shameful act of the campaign, Thanh was ruled off the ballot as a pro-Communist. Not, it should be added parenthetically, by the military junta, but by his civilian competitors. Yet even with Thanh out of the race, the theme of peace took hold as the chief expression of what Vietnamese want.

Every candidate has been obliged to deal with the peace issue. Even the main military candidate, Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, taciturn hard-liner if there ever was on, has been obliged to stand and deliver.

As it happens he has not only come out for a pause in the bombing of North Vietnam. He has even accepted the possibility of meeting with the leaders of the National Liberation Front, or Viet Cong.

But will the political process now set in motion be pushed beyond mere rhetoric to the point of responsible action? Perhaps, for there is apt to exist in the likely relationship between the new government and the new senate a potent instrument of sustaining political life.

The senate can make life miserable for the government. It will be able to question the president and his ministers. It will be able to vote no-confidence in them, or even have them up on trial for misdeeds. It is thus in a position to create issues and make the government respond.

The natural way for the government to respond is to build a majority in the senate. But this means compromise, conciliation, give-and-take.

By that means, the overriding issue of peace is almost sure to be kept in the forefront of public discussion. If chances for settlement exist, the Saigon government, instead of being a principal obstacle as in the past, will be under some pressure to take the initiative.

Still, the truly impressive force for peace, the pressure of public opinion here is not soon going to be brought to bear. For the election has not, as many of us had hoped, seriously engaged public interest.

The presidential candidates, and this is especially true of the civilians, have proved uninspiring. The crowds, mostly assembled by decree to begin with, have proved listless.

Posters, manifestos and press conferences have been addressed to a narrow audience. And the ballot, with 11 presidential slates and 48 senatorial lists, is a jumble beyond the comprehension of simple people — and not a few sophisticated ones.

★ ★ ★

The best that can be said for public opinion, accordingly, is that the way will be opened for its expression in future elections. But that means that the political outlook is like the military prospect. The optimum reading is for slow, painful progress. And that is probably not good enough.

BACKGROUND

Alice in Wonderland Elections

They'll Vote—or Else

By ARCH MacKENZIE
From Washington

That they are being held at all marks, progress, however, for a country with no such tradition.

Further on the credit side, the election processes have eased press censorship somewhat. Renewed public interest in politics and perhaps otherwise lightened the heavy grip imposed on the country the last two years by the military dictatorship.

Beyond that, the elections appear stamped with an Alice in Wonderland quality that makes it questionable how many benefits seem likely to result.

Certainly there is little evidence that peace itself will be appreciably nearer. U.S. President Johnson's mood seems to have hardened with the barrage of statement from military leaders seeking continued or increased bombing pressure on North Vietnam.

About 4,000,000 of the 16,000,000 South Vietnamese will vote in the election. Or else.

"Police will stamp identification cards at the voting booths and anyone subsequently searched and found without the election-day stamp on his card will be in danger of automatic classification as a Viet Cong," says Tran Van Dinh, a former senior South Vietnamese diplomat now living here.

Each voter must puzzle through nearly 60 separate ballots and more than 600 candidates, including 11 slates for the presidency.

There would have been more had not some of the most popular civilian and military possibilities been ruled out for assorted reasons.

One statistic indicates the top-sided power enjoyed by the cities over the South Vietnamese rural areas — where the Viet Cong have to be beaten if U.S. objectives are to be achieved.

★ ★ ★

Of 480 candidates for a new 60-seat Senate, only 72 live outside Saigon or its suburbs. Each of the 72, moreover, comes from a provincial capital.

Perhaps most important, the winner seems assured. That is the U.S.-supported team of Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, now chief of state, and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Ky has warned he might respond militarily if a civilian whose policies he disagreed with wins.

(CP) 50 Years Old Today

Its Business Is News

Seven coal miners are found alive after being buried nine days in the rubble of No. 2 Cumberland colliery at Springhill, N.S.

Within minutes the news is delivered to newspapers. The Canadian Press has gone to work gathering the details of another story.

For half a century Canada's national news-gathering co-operative has been on the job, reporting everything from prize fights to wars, royal births to traffic deaths.

Sept. 1 is CP's 50th birthday. A special commemorative five-cent postage stamp — the western hemisphere emblazoned by a streak of lightning to portray the speed of news communications — is being issued to mark the anniversary.

★ ★ ★

During its five decades, the agency's operations have moved with the times from the clickety-click of the old telegraph Morse code to the hum of a computer, but its basic job is the same.

It still has to collect and distribute regional, provincial, national and international news for Canadian newspaper readers, now estimated to number more than 13,000,000.

★ ★ ★

Most international news is provided by CP through affiliation with three worldwide agencies — The Associated Press, the U.S. co-operative on which CP's own setup was patterned; Reuters, owned by newspapers of Britain, Australia and New Zealand; and stories are received in French for CP's French-language service to newspapers in Quebec, Ontario and New Brunswick.

But many major stories, domestic and foreign, are reported by CP's own staff.

CP delivers well over 1,000,000 words a week — equivalent to a dozen good-sized novels. It leases 40,000 miles of teletype wires, enough to cross the country eight times.

★ ★ ★

Total staff, including teletype operators and accounting and secretarial personnel, exceeds 400.

★ ★ ★

Staff correspondents are posted in St. John's, Nfld., Saint John, N.B., London and Windsor, Ont., Regina, Calgary and Victoria.

Focal points in handling the hourly flood of foreign news are New York, London and Montreal.

Staff correspondents work in Washington, Moscow and the United Nations. Part-time correspondents report for CP in major Commonwealth countries, Africa and South America.

When CP was formed in 1917, its news was transmitted by slow dot-dash telegraph, with Morse men at the papers.

Then came teletype, CP's transmission being copied automatically at each newspaper.

Most CP wires now have been converted to teletype-setter operation. Perforated tape made from CP transmissions is used to operate linecasting machines automatically at the newspapers.

In 1948 CP started distributing news photos as well as news in words. Now CP transmits both domestic and international illustrations by wire to 54 members, continuing mail service to another 21.

In 1907, the idea of a co-operative was born in Winnipeg. The three local papers, with other western dailies, formed Western Associated Press to provide national and international news on a pooled basis.

By 1909, Maritimes papers had formed a similar co-operative agency and two years later Canadian Press Ltd. was incorporated as a holding company for Canadian rights to the news report of The Associated Press.

It was six years before the government of Sir Robert Borden, recognizing the unifying force a national news agency would provide, approved in 1917, $50,000 to help bridge the gaps and an $8,000 grant to help pay for overseas cables reporting Canada's role in the First World War.

The news agency never again accepted a grant or subsidy from any source.

On Sept. 3, 1939, CP went on 24-hour-day, seven-days-a-week operation in London, New York and Toronto on word that hostilities had started. They stuck to it, although the London bureau was demolished during the 1940 blitz.

Canadian Press war correspondents won journalistic fame, including such as Ross Munro, Douglas Amaron, William Stewart and Foster Barclay.

Hopes Dashed for Quick Pact

Brazil, Nigeria Oppose N-Treaty

GENEVA (UPI) — Brazil and Nigeria Thursday opposed a joint United States-Soviet draft treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons and dashed hopes for any quick agreement on the pact.

Speaking for the entire "non-aligned" bloc, the two dissenting nations protested that:

● The nuclear powers expect non-nuclear nations to renounce atomic weapons while promising nothing to stop their own arms race;

● The nuclear powers offer other nations no guarantee of protection against nuclear attack or blackmail;

● Non-nuclear nations would be banned from developing atomic explosive devices for peaceful uses such as engineering and mining works.

The opposition to the treaty proposal, which was presented by the United States and Russia last week, made it highly unlikely the 17-nation disarmament conference would be able to agree on any final wording to submit to the United Nations General Assembly this fall.

Officials said the way things are going there could be a complete deadlock, with a pact delayed for months if not longer.

Only Britain and the Communist states have accepted the joint treaty of the super-powers.

Other countries, notably India, were expected to back the Nigerian and Brazilian objectives.

Whites Hold Bukavu

KINSHASA, Congo (UPI) — White mercenary soldiers repulsed Congolese army attacks and inflicted heavy losses Wednesday, diplomatic sources reported Thursday.

The sources said the Congolese attempted several attacks on the mercenaries and their Katangese allies holding the town of Bukavu.

The mercenaries held their fire until the Congolese were within 100 yards then opened up with mortar and machinegun fire. The Congolese fled leaving more than 100 dead and large quantities of arms and ammunition.

FOUR DEAD

One mercenary and three Katangese were killed and two Katangese wounded.

The sources said the Congolese units have now withdrawn from the vicinity of Bukavu.

RELIEVED

The second battalion of paratroopers guarding the Katanga governor's residence was relieved this week but at first refused to move.

Shots were exchanged between this unit and other army units before the paratroopers returned to their camp at Shinkolobwe.

UVic Entrance Scholarships

Victoria High Grad Tops Area Winners

Sarkonak

Franklin

A Vancouver student, 16-year-old William G. Stewart, heads the list of 16 winners of University of Victoria entrance scholarships announced Thursday.

Mr. Stewart, a graduate of St. George's School, won the top-ranking President's Scholarship of $600. He had the highest standing in provincial departmental exams among students seeking entrance to the University of Victoria.

He averaged 95 per cent, and plans to major in chemistry or mathematics.

Awards announced Thursday total $4,100 from university scholarship funds and $2,100 from organizations, business and private donors. All went to first-year students.

Best average in Greater Victoria was attained by Ralph W. Sarkonak, 18, of 2612 Blackwood Street. He graduated from Victoria High School, and was among seven Greater Victoria students who won $500 President's Scholarships.

The Harbord Insurance Ltd. scholarship of $500 was won by Ian M. Franklin, 17 of 1971 Watson Street.

Mr. Franklin, a Mount View grad, will study music at the university's school of fine arts. He plays first oboe in the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, teaches the instrument at the Victoria School of Music, and was chosen this summer to play in the National Youth Orchestra.

Six other Victoria students won President's Scholarships of $500. They are:

Paul J. Pearlman, 17, of 3275 Uplands Road, English and history;

Cedric A. Zala, 17, of 3901 Rowley Road, chemistry.

Scholarships of $100 each, donated by the Canadian Union of Public Employees, were won by five Victoria students. They are:

Still to be announced are the winners of five $300 scholarships donated annually by the University of Victoria Alumni Association for students entering first year.

Negroes Defy Ban White Priest Held

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Milwaukee police quickly choked off a march on city hall by an organization of young Negroes Thursday night, scattering 400 demonstrators who took to the streets in defiance of a ban imposed by Mayor Henry Maier.

Scores were arrested, including Rev. James E. Groppi, white Roman Catholic priest who is adviser to the organization, the Milwaukee Youth Counsil of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

★ ★ ★

Police made their move about 10 minutes after the marchers left St. Boniface Church where Father Groppi is assistant pastor.

The marches drew thousands of jeering whites and led to 61 arrests and scores of injuries.

The marchers started off three abreast in a group including at least 30 whites.

About six blocks from the church empty police vans pulled alongside the marchers. Police swept in, grabbing marchers and pulling them back toward the vans.

Meanwhile, a group of about 300 Negroes began filing back into St. Boniface Church. Reporters were barred.

Rap Brown Predicts Rebellions

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Black Power leader H. Rap Brown predicted Thursday in an interview on Havana radio that when trained Negro troops return to the United States from Vietnam, "they will use their skills to liberate the Negro people."

Brown warned that "every city in America which has a large Negro population can predict confidently it will have rebellions because the Negro people are going to be free through any means necessary."

Brown charged the U.S. is practising "active genocide" against Negroes, killing them in Vietnam and on the streets of American cities.

The broadcast said Brown was interviewed by telephone from Havana. His whereabouts in the United States was not determined.

Shipping Strike Arbitration Sought

Canadian Wheat Crop Held Up

REGINA (CP) — Premier Ross Thatcher called Thursday for compulsory arbitration "at the earliest possible moment" in the Great Lakes shipping strike by members of the Seafarers' International Union.

"Once again the interests of both western farmers and Canada as a whole are being jeopardized by a critical strike," said the premier.

"This time, it is the Seafarers' International Union which has walked off their Great Lakes' ships without regard for the economic tieup that will result.

"This is the second successive year in which strikes have been called in the transportation industry at a time when the Canadian wheat crop is being harvested and moved to market."

The premier said it appears the actions of the unions could cause serious harm, not only to wheat farmers whose products cannot get to market, but also to Canada's reputation as a world trader.

"In my opinion, compulsory arbitration should be considered at the earliest possible moment." This type of legislation is used in Australia.

Parachutist's Body Found

HURON, Ohio (AP) — The coast guard said the body of a man wearing a jump suit was pulled from the choppy waters of Lake Erie Thursday and is presumed to be one of 14 skydivers who have been missing since Sunday.

The parachutists missed their target at Ortner Field near Wakeman by 10 miles. Of the 18 who made the jump, four were pulled from the lake minutes after they hit the water. Two were dead.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Quebec Tory:

Diefenbaker Just Titular Leader

QUEBEC (CP) — Paul Trepanier, president of Quebec's Progressive Conservative Association, said Thursday night John Diefenbaker really is no longer leader of the Progressive Conservative party.

Mr. Trepanier, mayor of Granby, who has expressed support for the leadership candidacy of Manitoba premier Duff Roblin, said in an interview:

"When Mr. Diefenbaker speaks in the House of Commons or outside of the House he doesn't speak as leader of our political party. His position is just titular.

"He speaks only in the name of John George Diefenbaker who has no contact whatever with the party executive nor any contact with the parliamentary caucus."

MONTREAL (CP) — Nova Scotia Premier Robert Stanfield said Thursday he thinks it unfortunate the term "special status" has been applied to the aspirations of the people of Quebec.

In English the term implies some special rights or privileges, he said, and the notion any group of Canadians should enjoy some rights or privileges which are not enjoyed by other Canadians is entirely unacceptable.

"But I do not believe that this is what the people of Quebec mean. I believe that what they seek is only that measure of authority in respect to social and economic affairs, which will enable them to fulfill themselves as French-Canadians."

TORONTO (CP) — Senator Wallace McCutcheon Thursday called on businessmen to enter the political arena to help stem the accelerating drift towards "big government."

Senator McCutcheon, one of nine declared Progressive Conservative leadership hopefuls, told a service club meeting that if present trends continue government will soon be master rather than servant of the governed.

Arizona Woman Leads With 16.4-Pound Coho

Mrs. Anne E. Hecker, 1430 Tanque Verde Loop, Tucson, Ariz., caught a 16.4-pound coho at Stuart Island on a cut herring, Aug. 27, but as she is not a subscriber she loses her chance at the three-horsepower Viking outboard motor donated by the T. Eaton Co. for the heaviest coho.

Next in eligibility is Gordon Maycock, 1935 Trans-Canada Highway, with a 15-pounder caught at Pedder Bay on a Flashtail. He is a subscriber and if he can hold the lead his fish will win the motor.

Two Former Policemen Jailed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two former city policemen Thursday were jailed for two years each after pleading guilty to breaking and entering and possession of stolen property.

Marvin Magnusson, 33, of Coquitlam, and David Munroe, 41, both admitted breaking into a cookie factory. Magnusson also admitted stealing a woodworking tool, and both men admitted further charges of possessing stolen goods. They resigned from the Vancouver force last week. The crimes were committed while they were on the police force.

Two Mine Firms Plan Share Offer

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

New shares are to be offered as rights to shareholders of large Canadian mining companies — Rio Algom and Preston Mines.

Rio Algom is offering one new share for each seven shares held, and details of the offer will be made Oct. 4.

Preston Mines, which owns 44 per cent of Rio Algom, will offer two new shares for each 11 held.

ABITIBI'S PURCHASE

Abitibi Paper Company has purchased 60 per cent of the outstanding shares of Inter City Papers Ltd., a Montreal wholesaler of fine papers and book-binding supplies.

It has sales of about $17,000,000 annually.

Abitibi bought the shares for an undisclosed price from majority shareholders and intends to make the offer to minority holders.

CIL PLANTS STRUCK

Six Ontario plants and one warehouse of Canadian Industries Ltd. were struck Thursday by members of the United Mineworkers Union, involving 1,300 persons.

UMW also struck CIL's four Quebec plants earlier this week. In all 2,500 persons are now on strike for higher wages.

A company offer of 10 per cent and 7 per cent over two years has been rejected.

WHERE MONEY COUNTS

Quebec's attachment to France may be culturally and affectionately strong but it does not extend apparently to financial matters.

The French government's decision to float a loan for Quebec to "liberate it from dependence on the New York money market" has not met with any great response from Quebec.

One reason is the French lending terms are currently about 7 per cent in comparison to the 6-per-cent level in the U.S.

RESULTS IMPROVED

Versafood Services Ltd. increased its net earnings to $309,887 in six months ended June 28, up from $224,398 in the first half of 1966.

Sales rose to $15,702,969 from $13,471,156 and net profit before taxes was up 90 per cent.

The company's working capital was down to $807,267 from $808,346 Dec. 31, chiefly due to capital expenditures on new facilities in the Toronto-Dominion Centre in Toronto and the Garden Restaurant in Niagara Falls.

ALMINEX BUSY

Net profit of Alminex Limited for the year ended June 30 was down to $230,000 from $432,000 in the previous year despite an increase of 12 per cent in gross production.

The lower profit was due to increased exploration costs and tax provision.

Sulphur production of 21 long tons a day assumed importance for the first time, and the production now is up to 30 long tons.

Alminex has net holdings of 2,679,790 acres mainly in the North Sea, northwestern Alberta, the Arctic Islands, Northwest Territories and Ontario.

The exploratory efforts are mainly directed towards northwestern Alberta but a well is to be drilled in the North Sea in 1968.

BOW VALLEY PROFIT

Bow Valley Industries of Calgary, which has important oil holdings in the Zama-Rainbow Lake area, made a net profit of $1,211,546 ($1.03) in the year ended May 31. This was down from $1,300,137 ($1.13) in the previous fiscal year.

Oil and gas revenues at $1,462,566 were up 50 per cent from the previous year.

MORE FROM GAS

Net income of Northern and Central Gas for the first half of 1967 was $9,377,000 (70 cents) against a readjusted $9,050,000 (67 cents) in the corresponding half of 1966.

Rally Staged At New York

Key stocks throughout the list rose from fractions to a point or more while some of the higher-priced glamor issues rose a handful of points.

Chrysler was the most active of the Big Three auto stocks, advancing 1⅝ to 50¼.

Elsewhere in the list, PBM gained 6⅞ and Polaroid 5.

Mines Do Better

VANCOUVER — Western Mines, pyramid, PCE, New Imperial and Ventures were among the mining winners. Midrim and Peso lost.

B.C. Sugar put on $1.50 to 39½ on news of further redemption of its preferred shares.

Western Broadcasting was up $1.00 and MacMillan added. 50.

Thomson Strong

Canadian Hydrocarbons advanced 2¼ to 25¼ on news of a two-for-one split.

Chrysler Corp gained ⅝ to 53¼ following a statement that the wholesale price of 1968 model cars will be increased by about $100.

Thomson Newspapers moved up 3 to 39 and Jefferson Lake lost 1 to 48⅛.

Among base metals, Preston rose 1⅛ to 19¼, Mattagami Lake ⅝ to 14⅛ and Rio Algom and Denison Mines 1 each to 32⅛ and 71.

Dome Mines was down ½ to 47 and Campbell Red Lake 2 to 18½ in golds.

MacMillan Rises

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices were mixed to fractionally higher in moderate trading.

In the industrial sector Dominion Textiles gained ⅝ to 24¼, and Steinbergs rose ⅝ to 19. Canada Cement and Canada Iron each advanced ½ to 22⅝.

MacMillan-Bloedel advanced ⅝ to 28, and B.C. Forest and Fraser each rose ½ to 20 and 18.

Quebec Libre

Stormy Words Again

QUEBEC (CP)—A delegation from France spent a free day wandering around historic Quebec City Thursday following two official welcomes that recalled President de Gaulle's controversial visit to Canada.

Greeting the French visitors on their arrival in Quebec City, Culture Minister Jean-Noel Tremblay of Quebec ended a brief talk with: "Long live France and long live free Quebec."

His words—in French "vive le Quebec libre"—became the centre of a national storm earlier this year when de Gaulle shouted them during his visit to Montreal.

FAVORITE SLOGAN

The words have long been a favorite slogan of those advocating French - Canadian separatism.

Earlier, Yvon Groulx, president of the Montreal St. Jean Baptiste Society, had welcomed members of the Franco-Canada Association to Montreal by saying the "spontaneous and unreserved welcome" given Gen. de Gaulle in Quebec had helped put the problems of the province in the world spotlight.

PRESIDENT PRAISED

He praised the French president for his "impressive and wonderful response in not hesitating to inscribe freedom for French-speaking Quebecers on the international listing of great world problems."

Mr. Tremblay's repetition of the separatist slogan came at the end of a brief talk Wednesday night to the delegates.

"We stand on a free land in Quebec just like in France and, without wishing necessarily to repeat the same word used by the president of France, I say: Long live France and long live free Quebec."

Action Slows Motorists

Elizabeth Wangberg, 20, was one of two go-go girls arrested for causing a traffic jam in downtown Montreal by dancing in the showcase window of a club. The girls received unexpected support when they appeared in court — the Crown prosecutor argued bylaw which they were charged under was outmoded and said next thing police will do is "arrest Santa Claus." — (CP)

Unionist Charges Conspiracy

'GM Trying to Provoke Strike'

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, United Auto Workers president, accused the Big Three U.S. auto-makers Thursday of a conspiracy to thwart collective bargaining and said: "As of now it will take a package of very good miracles to avoid a strike."

Reuther called a press conference to make the conspiracy charges.

The fiery union chief accused General Motors Corp. of being the chief architect of the conspiracy and repeated charges that the industry is "trying to provoke a strike."

He had been expected to name a target company which the union will bargain with in efforts to reach a pattern-setting contract before the strike deadline — midnight Wednesday night.

Delay in picking the target company with only six days of bargaining remaining before the strike deadline was regarded as unprecedented.

Reuther said the union had asked the three companies Wednesday night if any was willing to extend its contract.

Chrysler was told the UAW would grant the company immunity from a strike if it would agree to the extension.

The union traditionally picks one company to set the pattern for the industry, then drives to settlement or strike with that company leaving the other two operating normally.

GM supplies parts to Ford and Chrysler as well as much smaller producers. If the company closed its supplier operations it could make idle more than 650,000 auto-workers across the U.S.

Reuther said the union had no plans to strike all three companies.

He added the union had offered Chrysler immunity from a strike because it is the largest employer in Detroit area, whose economy has suffered from a week-long racial riot in July that caused millions of dollars in damage.

WAGE DEMANDS

The union made its demands on the companies shortly after bargaining started July 10.

They asked for a big wage increase, guaranteed annual income, parity for Canadian workers, and continuation of a cost of living escalator clause that brought union members 18 cents an hour in wage increases in the last three years.

The union also asked improvement in pensions and other fringe benefits.

Canadian Unionism Growing

OTTAWA (CP) — Union membership in Canada is at an all-time high and prospects for further growth are exceedingly good, Donald MacDonald, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Labor Congress, said in a Labor Day message.

"Many of our affiliated organizations are finding their personnel resources taxed in meeting requests for information and organization," he said.

There had been an "enormous surge of interest" in collective bargaining among many professional and semi-professional groups.

Minister Defends Charles

PARIS (AP) — French-speaking Canada was "enclosed in its bigotry and provincialism" until President de Gaulle's voyage there last month, Foreign Minister Couve de Murville said Thursday.

It was on that visit that de Gaulle stirred up a diplomatic storm by shouting "Long live free Quebec!" — the slogan of the Quebec separatist movement.

Couve de Murville said the French president was given an "enthusiastic and frenetic welcome" in Quebec.

Testifying before the National Assembly's foreign affairs committee, the foreign minister defended de Gaulle's Canadian policy as justified in terms of France's mission.

"The present enthusiasm explains in part the attitude taken by Gen. de Gaulle during his voyage and it creates duties for France," he said. "No one in France can remain indifferent to this French community and we must reply to its appeal."

The foreign minister said France has decided on greater co-operation with Quebec province in cultural, economic and financial spheres.

Rocks in Familiar Spot As 0-2 Series Trailers

They are down two games to nil in the finals of the Inter-City Lacrosse League after dropping an 8-6 decision to Vancouver Carlings at Memorial Arena last night.

Just as it did in the semi-final, when Coquitlam Adanacs took a 2-0 lead only to lose three in a row, the series now looks as if it might be a short one although the Rocks this time have to lose four times before being eliminated.

PLAY SATURDAY

They play again in Kerrisdale tomorrow night and back here next Tuesday, but unless the Shamrocks find a way to get around the bigger Carlings, they can start thinking about next year.

Vancouver out-muscled and out-hustled the Rocks and showed a lot more poise. Although they slowed down in the second period when the rocks got close, Carlings took control of the game again in the final period, and but for a great last period in goal by Barry Forbes, the spread would have been much bigger.

QUICK GOAL

Quite a few of the 3,047 fans were still looking for their seats when the first goal came.

Vancouver lost the draw, one of the few in the game, Jack Shower was left unmarked and walked in on Skip Chapman, the Carlings' goalie.

Showers shot from the doorstep and hit Chapman on the foot. The rebound came out to Sid Warick, who cut down the left boards, fed a pass to Gord Leibscher, who fed Gary Stevens in the clear.

The second shot of the game was in the nets, and Carlings were never to trail.

GOT FIRST BACK

Bob Salt was the marksman, and the Carls scored three more times on individual efforts before the period was over to take a 5-2 lead.

BIG GOAL

Vancouver's Dennis Nagy was left unchecked, picked off a pass from Leibscher and scored from the doorstep to put Carls ahead, 6-2, at 5:09 of the second period.

Shamrocks started to come on from this point and enjoyed their first edge in end-to-end play.

IN CONTENTION

Ted Leibich and Jack Showers combined on a stop-and-go-play at 12:44 to close the gap to 6-4, and when Jim McNeill scored on the odd-man play at 15:42 to put Shamrocks to within one goal at 6-5 they had the momentum that, except for a lot of bad shooting, could have turned the game around.

Leibscher, a pest all night, gave Carlings a two-goal lead at 16:08 when he scored from 15 feet to give his club a 7-5 lead for the last period.

Carlings bounced back again in the final period and time and time again were in all alone on Forbes, who came up with some phenomenal saves.

Shamrocks were not all together out of it. They had their moments too in the last period. McNeill, twice, Leibich and Ron Zilkie hit goal posts in the last ten minutes with the score at 7-6. But a penalty to Reg Foster at 17:41 gave Vancouver the chance to control the ball.

Shamrocks came out of the game without any injuries and Coach Dave Unwin, who felt the game was lost by his club's poor shooting, hopes to have his little pepperpot, Nirmal Dillon, back in strip for the next game.

British Champ Leading Fog-Bound Amateur Meet

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Fog, as thick as the mud under foot, proved only a minor handicap to Bob Dickson of McAlester, Okla., as he slogged his way to a three-stroke lead Thursday in the weather-pocked first round of the United States amateur golf tournament.

PLAY STOPPED

Three times during the murky day, play was halted because of weather conditions. Fog and 44-degree temperature were the reasons for the 90-minute stoppage in the morning. Two more interruptions came late in the day when a fog blanket covered six of the middle holes, including the 10th.

COWAN STARTS WELL

Two 18-hole rounds Saturday, weather permitting, will determine the successor to Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., as U.S. amateur champion.

Cowan was among those unable to finish Thursday's round. He was two under for eight holes.

Next to Dickson came Marty Fleckman with a 74 that included four three-putt greens "because my hands were so cold I didn't know at times that I was holding a putter."

Ron Cerrudo of San Francisco, who had to borrow a No. 8 club when he broke his own, splashed home with a 75. He seemed most disturbed because of three-putting the 17th hole from 20 feet, also blaming the cold.

Ti-Cats Cut Veterans

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Eastern Football Conference have released two veterans to make room for two cuts from National and American Football League teams.

Linebacker Herb Paterra and defensive tackle Roger Lalonde were released when Jack O'Billovich arrived from Detroit Lions and Charlie Turner from Buffalo Bills.

City Sailor Is Seventh

MONTREAL—Clifford Campbell of Beechwood, N.J., won the Mallory Cup Thursday by edging out Eddie Botterell of Montreal in the eigth and final race of the North American senior sailing championships.

O.C. Cricket

LONDON (CP) — Thursday's close-of-play cricket results:

Sussex 352 for 9 declared and 135 for 4; Rest of World XI 475 for 8 declared.

Combined Services 201 for 7 declared and 180 for 7 declared; Ireland 201 for 4 declared and 180 for 6. Match drawn.

Leicestershire 240 and 81 for 3; Northamptonshire 217.

Yorkshire 250 and 147 for 3; Warwickshire 146.

Leeds Beaten

ZAGREB (CP) — Dinamo Zagreb of Yugoslavia beat Leeds of England, 2-0, in the first game of their Inter-Cities Fairs Cup soccer final here Wednesday night.

Racquet Club Honors Six

Six youngsters were singled out for special awards yesterday as the two-month junior tennis development program came to an end at the Victoria Racquet Club.

Winners of the awards which went to the four deemed to have shown the most progress and sportsmanship were Jay Kayll, John Dowling, Elizabeth Angus and Wendy Copeland.

Highest scores in the weekly round-robin which was part of the program were registered by Larry Straith and Brian Ayres. About 300 youngsters were enrolled.

White Sox Dump Leaders

Three Challengers Move In

It got closer in the American League pennant race yesterday as both Chicago White Sox and Minnesota Twins gained a full game on the leading Boston Red Sox and the idle Detroit Tigers moved a half game nearer.

Only a game and a half separated the four clubs after the White Sox had knocked off the Red Sox, 4-2, and Minnesota had squeezed out a 10-9 win over Baltimore Orioles.

Boston and Chicago meet again today while Detroit opens a series on Minnesota's home grounds.

BOOKIE STARS

Cisco Carlos, a White Sox rookie, held Boston hitless for six innings but yielded two seventh inning runs to give the Red Sox a 2-1 lead.

That brought relief for the youngster, who missed the loss when home runs by Tommy Agee, who led off with his, and Pete Ward, who hit his after a two-out error put Rocky Colavito on base, brought the White Sox three eighth-inning runs and victory.

PINCH-HITTER CLICKS

Twins had to score two ninth-inning runs to take the Orioles, who scored three times in the top of the ninth, doubles by Boog Powell and Dave Johnson and a two-out home run by Curt Blefary.

Cesar Tovar started the Twins back by beating out an infield single and pinch-hitter Rich Rollins took them the rest of the way by driving the ball into the bullpen at the 410-foot mark.

CARDS MARCH ON

Meanwhile, Orlando Cepeda led St. Louis Cardinals a bit closer to the National League pennant and furnished more evidence of being the league's most valuable player.

Cepeda hit his 24th home run, scored twice, drive in a run with a sacrifice fly and stole a base as the Cardinals nipped past Houston Astros, 4-1, to hold their lead at 10 games with 28 left to play.

Cincinnati Reds remained in second place as rookie John Bench drove in two runs with a double — his second major league hit — in a 3-1 win over San Francisco Giants.

Jim Maloney, pitching a four-hitter, got the victory with Mike McCormick, who had a 25-inning scoreless streak ended when Lee May hit a second-inning home run, taking his seventh defeat in 25 decisions.

PINCH-HITTERS WIN

Pinch-hitter Al Spangler kept Chicago Cubs within 11 games with an 11th-inning single which beat New York Mets, 2-1. And another pinch-hitter, Rico Carty won one for Atlanta Braves, hitting an eighth-inning double which drove in the tying and winning runs in a 5-4 triumph over Los Angeles Dodgers.

Huyke's Single Beats Portland

VANCOUVER—Woody Huyke's two-run single in the bottom of the ninth inning gave the Vancouver Mounties a come-from-behind victory over Portland Beavers Thursday in the first game of a crucial three-game series in Vancouver.

Mounties moved to within a half game of the Western Division leading Beavers with the win in the tight Pacific Coast Baseball League race.

Pirate Star Ends Career

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Pirates has announced the retirement of veteran right-hander Vernon Law, who pitched two victories in Pittsburgh's 1960 World Series baseball triumph.

Law, 37, had a record of 162-147 in 16 seasons with the Pirates.

Daffodil Cup Race Offers Big Chance to Rasmussen

Eldon Rasmussen from Edmonton has been a man in a hurry for a long time but Victoria fans can expect him to be trying even harder than usual during the Daffodil Cup races at Western Speedway Saturday and Monday.

Depending on his showing, Rasmussen may get another crack at the United States Auto Club circuit which includes the Indianapolis 500.

HE'LL BE WATCHED

Watching from the stands will be veteran modified owner Jim Heyhoe of Portland, who has recently purchased a rear-engined Offenhauser championship car.

Heyhoe took his car to the USAC races in Milwaukee last weekend but Bruce Walkup, one of the top sprint drivers from California, wasn't able to qualify it.

Rassmussen wants another try in the big circuit badly and should be tough to beat in the Daffodil Cup chase. He won the first race in 1961 and with the late Billy Foster is the only double winner, repeating in 1965.

Other drivers who have made the USAC circuit after competing at the Daffodil Cup are Foster, Art Pollard, who ran in 1961, and Jim Malloy, the 1964 champion who now drives for Victoria's Grant King.

The Daffodil Cup race, which is sanctioned by the Canadian American Modified Racing Association, is a two-day event and will likely have a record entry.

Speedway manager Reg Midgley expects more than 40 cars to compete. Among the entrants are defending champion Norm Ellefson and Victoria's Al Smith.

CLASSY FIELD

Speedway president Geoff Vantreight attended the Copper Cup races in Salt Lake City recently and has convinced the top four drivers in that circuit to attend the meet.

Coming, in the order of current point standings, are Mel Andrus, Dick Card, Dick Simon and Terry Nish.

Nish, who competed here two years ago, also competes in California.

Chuck Neitzel of Boise, Idaho, a previous performer in Victoria, won the Copper Cup and will be trying for his first Daffodil Cup championship.

RICH WEEKEND

One reason that Midgley expects such a large entry is that at least $12,000 in prize money is available for the modified drivers in B.C. during a four-day period.

There is a meet tonight in Langley and races will be held Sunday at Nanaimo.

Meet the Steelers

Terry Durham

* * *

Quarterback Eyes Pro Grid Career

One of the players who hopes that the Continental Football League will provide him with the experience to make professional football a career is 22-year-old Terry Durham, who'll likely be doing some of the quarterbacking for Victoria Steelers tomorrow night in their home opener against Seattle Rangers.

LINFIELD STAR

A six-foot, two-inch 200-pounder, Durham had a stand-out college career with Linfield College in McMinnville, Ore., after starring with McMinnville High School.

At Linfield, where his Dad, Paul, is head coach, Durham earned honorable mention in his last season when it came time to select the All-American team from the National Association of Inter-collegiate Athletics and he led Linfield to the NAII final in 1965.

BIGGEST THRILL

His biggest thrill at Linfield came in the NAII semi-final against Sul Ross of Texas. His club was trailing, 13-27, in the fourth quarter and pulled out a 30-27 win.

Durham got one touchdown on a running play, passed for the tying touchdown late in the quarter and then Linfield got the ball back on a successful onside kick.

Linfield got within field-goal distance and won it with a three-pointer about 45 seconds from time.

TRIED BY BEARS

Durham was at the training camp of the Chicago Bears for three weeks this summer, and then turned out with Eugene Bombers before coming to Victoria.

He has mainly been a drop-back passer but is willing and, he believes, able to roll out and run or pass as circumstances dictate. He just wants to play.

"Yes," he said to a question, "it is my ambition to play pro football."

Harris Wins

Greens Will Worry

WOODBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) — The huge rolling greens at the Board of Trade Golf course are providing the greatest challenge for the 152 professional golfers who will tee off today in the $200,000 world golf championship.

"They're fast and they're tricky," said Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., after playing the first nine holes in a practice round Thursday.

LOTS OF THEM

"The rolls aren't that hard to figure, but there are so many of them that it's difficult to see them all."

The par-71 course winds and dips over 7,024 yards of hills and valleys. Most of the fairways run north and south and were subjected to a 20-mile-an-hour north wind Thursday.

Bob Cox of Vancouver said it made the course a "bit rougher."

"Most of us will get as much practice as we can today in case the wind keeps up during the tournament."

WILL CHANGE

Although the wind will probably die down or change before the end of the four-day tournament, the greens could only get rougher.

"They're fast right now," said Tim McCutcheon of Peterborough, Ont. McCutcheon, 16, who is caddying for Rod Funseth of Spokane, Wash., was the 1966 Canadian juvenile golf champion and the low qualifier at this year's Canadian junior championship.

"The pros seem to be having the most trouble with the tricky rolls and I'm sure they'd all quit if the greens are shaved during the tournament."

EVERYONE READY

The entire field of professionals had arrived for a practice session by mid-afternoon Thursday. A number of competitors have been here since early in the week and the remainder, including Arnold Palmer, arrived after the windup of the Westchester Classic at Rye, N.Y., Wednesday night.

GAIN RICH PRIZES

The tournament, with first-place prize money of $35,000, is the richest annual golf tournament in the world. The Westchester Classic awards the winner $50,000 from the $250,000 pot but it was played for the first time in 1967 and is not yet considered an annual tournament.

Palmer is considered the favorite to walk away with top money here.

Gets New Job

Medical Rematch In Seniors' Final

The bustling Victorian, who has already won the Canadian and British Columbia senior championships this year, swept into the finals of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament yesterday by defeating medalist Lee Steil of Seattle, 6-5, in one semifinal at the Victoria Golf Club.

UPSETS GIVAN

In the other, Dr. M. Aspray of Spokane scored a bit of an upset by defeating favored Harry Givan of Seattle.

It gave Dr. Aspray a chance for some revenge. He lost to Dr. Bigelow in the final last season, 3 and 2, after eliminating Steil in the final.

Dr. Aspray made it again yesterday on the 20th hole, where Givan caught a trap with his tee shot, exploded over the green and wound up with a bogey four which lost to Dr. Aspray's par.

Today's 18-hole final is scheduled to start at 9 this morning. Starting time for other finals:

Faloney, Defence Lead Lions In 22-13 Comeback Victory

WINNIPEG—B.C. Lions scored their first Canadian Football League victory of the season here Thursday night, defeating Winnipeg Blue Bombers, 22-13, with a spectacular second-half recovery which featured quarterback Bernie Faloney as the master of old and a defensive team which resembled the "Headhunters" of 1964.

Coming as it did after the Lions had probably played their most inept 25 minutes of a 0-5 season, the comeback literally startled the Bombers and their 17,489 fans.

Without Kenny Ploen but with the Lions playing horrible football, the Bombers had a 13-0 lead under Bill Van Burkleo before the game was 18 minutes old.

But the Lions managed a touchdown two minutes from the end of the half to get to 7-13, scored the second and third times they got the ball in the third quarter, just missed again to settle for a single and then clinched it with a sensational goal-line stand.

After Faloney had failed to move the club, Pete Ohler went in at quarterback and things just got worse for the Lions, who had a minus offence after about 20 minutes of play.

NIELSEN STARS

Meanwhile, Van Burkleo and Kenny Nielsen, who seemed headed for a new record with the first seven Winnipeg receptions seemed to be all the Bombers needed.

Nielsen and Van Burkleo combined for a 21-yard touchdown play in the first quarter, then Nielsen took a three-yard pass for the second Bomber touchdown in the first minute of the second.

AIR STRIKES

It started late in the second quarter with the Lions 41 yards when Leroy Sledge took a 17-yard pass. Three plays later, Faloney hit Jim Young on second down with a 12-yard touchdown pass.

Ted Gerela made the first of his three converts and it was 7-13 at the half.

A NEW CREW

It looked only a flurry at the time, but it was a different B.C. team in the second half.

Lions stopped the Bombers cold the first two times they got the ball, got started when Craig Murray ran a punt back to the Winnipeg 35.

Faloney took them over in three plays, missing his first pass but then hitting Paul Burleson for 12 yards and Sledge for the last 23.

Lions got the ball back quickly, then went 65 yards in eight plays, getting 64 of them in the air as Faloney completed four of five passes, the long one a 40-yarder to Sledge. Ellmes crushed over for the last yard.

THE CLINCHER

Faloney fumbled on his 12-yard line after being thrown 19 yards behind the line of scrimmage, and two plays gave the Bombers a first down on the one-yard line with nine minutes left.

Three plays later, the Lions had the ball on the Winnipeg 30. Dave Raimey was thrown for a one-yard loss on the first play, a pass was fended off on the second and Raimey, who tried both ends as he found no opening, was hauled to the ground on the 30.

Bombers threatened mildly twice again, the first time on a 33-yard pass gain by Nielsen and the second time when Ellmes fumbled at midfield.

The first time, Lions successfully held off against three passes. The second time they got the ball back on the first play as linebacker Dwayne Czupka intercepted a pass knocked into the air at the line of scrimmage.

Lions, who had minus 27 yards rushing in the first half and 59 yards passing, wound up with 247 passing yards as Faloney went 14 for 21 in the game and nine for 13 in the second half.

Celtic to Shoot For World Title

GLASGOW — Glasgow Celtic, the European champion, and Racing od Argentina, the South American champion, will play a two-game series for the world title this month.

First game will be in Glasgow on Sept. 20 and the second game in Buenos Aires on Sept. 27. If there is a point tie after the two games, the series will be decided in a third game to be played in Santiago, Chili, within three days after the Buenos Aries game.

Dates and sites still have to be confirmed by the European and South American soccer associations but no change is expected.

TRIP RANGERS

Celtics added another big victory on Wednesday by defeating Glasgow Rangers, 3-1, to reach the Scottish League cup quarter-finals.

Rangers had a 1-0 lead after half-time, just missed a goal after resumption of play when a shot hit the cross-bar and then missed a penalty kick.

Museum Gets Artifacts From Navy

OTTAWA (CP) — Sailors wearing the straw hats and striped jerseys of the Canadian navy of 1910 presented three historical naval artifacts to the Canadian War Museum Tuesday.

HMCS Canada was used to train the first officer cadets of the Canadian navy. In 1924 it was sold for commercial use in the West Indies.

HMCS Quebec served with the Royal Navy in the Pacific during the Second World War. In 1960 it was sold to Japan and wrecked there.

Beatles Drop Pop Culture

LONDON (UPI) — The Beatles said Thursday they were dropping out of the raucous pop culture they helped create to tune in on soothing "transcendental meditation."

No pot, pills or LSD. Just mysticism with a Mersey beat.

The Liverpudlian foursome said they would make a two-month pilgrimage through India to study the Hindu influence brought to their attention through the teachings of a self-styled Indian holy man in Wales, Maharishi Mahesh Yogi.

* * *

"We want to sell this idea of transcendental meditation to everyone," said the intellectural Beatle, John Lennon, after an announcement no personal manager would take Epstein's place.

understanding and makes people relax. We want to try to set up an academy in London and use all the power we have got to get it moving," he said.

Lennon gave no date for the Indian pilgrimage to "learn the meditation thing properly.

"This is how we plan to use our power now," Lennon said in an interview in the music magazine Disc published Thursday. "They've always called us leaders of youth, and we believe this is a good way to give a lead."

After a "couple of months" in India the four planned to return to London and establish an academy so persons worried about youth and drugs "will come and dig it (the meditation) too," Lennon said.

* * *

Meanwhile, Epstein's younger brother Clive assumed the late 32-year-old entrepreneur's post as chairman of Nems, the extensive entertainment empire weaved by Brian as the Beatles rocketed to furtune and fame.

"There is no question of a replacement for Mr. Brian Epstein as personal manager of the Beatles," a Nems announcement said. "However, Nems will continue to give them every possible assistance in the conduct of their affairs."

Visiting Sub Been Around

A world-girdling U.S. submarine will be on view to the public in Esquimalt from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The USS Gudgeon, launched in 1952, and capable of 18 knots under water, travelled around the world in the fall of 1957 and the spring of 1958. It was the first U.S. sub to circumnavigate the globe.

Paris on Broadway

Paris, a Burmese, is top cat with owner Louise Shaffer after winning role in forthcoming Broadway play in audition with 19 other cats in New York Thursday. He'll get cat minimum of all milk he can drink for his role in Keep It In the Family. Miss Shaffer will get $75 to $100 a week. — (AP)

Symphony Offers Big Prize

EDMONTON (CP) — A national performing artists' competition offering $5,250 in prizes and aimed at attracting contestants from across Canada was announced Thursday by the Edmonton Symphony Society.

Symphony president David McDonald said the competition is open to instrumentalists and vocalists, invited to enter five regional competitions across the country early in 1968.

The five finalists would perform with the Edmonton Symphony Orchestra March 30 and 31, 1968, for a first prize of $3,000, second prize of $1,000, third $750, and fourth and fifth of $250 each. The first-prize winner is also offered a $1,000 guest artist fee to appear at two concerts in the society's 1968-69 season.

New Film Cycle

Violence Causes Concern

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In The Dirty Dozen, American soldier-convicts pour gasoline into an underground shelter to incinerate 100 Nazi officers and their women.

In A Fistful of Dollars, Clint Eastwood picks a quarrel with four town toughs, then plugs each of them off a fence, like targets in a shooting gallery.

In Beach Red, a marine sergeant and a Japanese captain engage in a jungle duel in which the arm of one is broken by a rifle and the stomach of the other is sliced with a knife.

NEW CYCLE

In seeking causes for recent U.S. racial riots, a New York Times survey of psychiatrists and psychologists cited among conditions adding to the mood of unrest:

"The accentuation of violence by television, films, newspapers and magazines, and particularly the impression this makes on children."

VIOLENCE DISTURBS

Dr. Lewis Austad, executive clinical director of the California Educational Centre for the Emotionally Disturbed, says: "There can be no doubt that violence in movies and on television can be very disturbing to the youthful mind, especially of the non-average type.

Influential Martin Quigley Jr. editorialized in Motion Picture Herald: "Today, on TV and in too many films, killings are piled on killings, new and extraordinary means are found to kill and maim. An appeal is made to sadism and perversity. . . . Morality and respect for human dignity hardly count."

COOL KILLING

How did movies get this way? The cause may well be attributed to James Bond, who caught the public fancy with a new kind of cool killing. A flood of imitators followed, with even more variations of torture and brutality.

Depiction of violence in films once was governed by stringent principles in the industry's self-censorship code. But the advent of Jack Valenti as president of the Producers Association swept away the old code except for a few generalities.

The man who applies this yardstick is Geoffrey Shurlock code administrator. Shurlock doubts the theory that violence on the screen inspires viewers to actual violence. Instead he sees violence as a release for frustrated energies.

Science Council Recommends

Space Agency for Canada

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — Establishment of a Canadian space agency responsible to a cabinet minister was recommended Thursday by the Science Council of Canada, an advisory body on science policy.

The council said in a report, submitted earlier to Prime Minister Pearson, that the agency's board of directors should be drawn from industry, universities and the public service.

Dr. O. M. Solandt, council chairman, told a press conference that a government task force under Dr. John Chapman of the Defence Research Board is already working on one of the council's major recommendations: Full Canadian participation in an international communications satellite system.

GROUP TO REPORT

The Chapman group will report next month on its recommendations concerning construction, ownership and operation of Canadian communications satellites.

Dr. Solandt said that as of now the Defence Research Board is the only body competent in Canada to build a communications satellite.

He estimated it will take two to five years to put a Canadian communications satellite into orbit.

"If we are going to stake out a claim in this area we have to act quickly," Dr. Solandt said. A Canadian space agency would greatly accelerate participation in space exploration.

The council said Canada also needs satellites to survey the country's natural resources.

It suggested that Canada should build launching facilities for experimental rockets and small satellites but buy launching services from other countries for the bigger communications satellites.

EXPANSION NEEDED

Space research and development should be expanded to a growth rate of about 20 per cent a year, or some $60,000,000 annually for five years.

"A co-ordinated, expanded and sustained national effort will be required if Canadian use of space is to be developed under Canadian leadership to meet the needs of the Canadian economy. . . .

"The national interest of Canada demands that Canadian scientists and technologists be enabled to play their part; that Canadian labor be used in Canadian plants to manufacture at least a fair share of the equipment; that Canadian organizations operate the systems and that Canadians reap the benefit of the discovery and development of their resources."

Ontario Removes Post Of School Inspector

TORONTO (CP) — No more will there be one day a year when school children are asked to be inordinately good.

The department of education has liquidated the position of school inspector.

A five-page department memorandum buries the 100-year-old tradition as the first step in a major reorganization of the department's field operations designed to remove the unpopular job of grading teachers.

The move comes a week after Dr. J. R. McCarthy, deputy minister, sought the opinion of the Ontario Teachers' Federation on superintendents and was told it was nonsense to expect anyone to judge a teacher in one brief visit a year.

By far the cheapest and best lasting fertilizing material for your lawn and shrubs. If applied as top dressing (one yard for every 500 sq. ft.) it will with proper care after three yearly applications develop a thick and lasting turf that feels like a soft carpet. That is how good and lasting lawns used to be made. Top dressed lawns moreover are far less vulnerable to weeds and moss; also they require less watering.

The Apple Harvest

By M. V. CHESNUT

The earliest varieties of apples are ripening nicely now, and one characteristic of these early trees is that they ripen their fruits a few at a time — usually those at the top of the tree first.

This piecemeal ripening is really a fortunate state of affairs for the home gardener, for ALL the early varieties are poor keepers and cannot be stored for any length of time. If it were not for this obliging habit of the tree in doling out its harvest, we would be faced with the prospect of having to eat up a whole treeful of apples in a matter of a few weeks.

It is best to go over your early apple tree every few days, picking the ripest for immediate use and perhaps a few green ones for pies, but leaving the rest to mature in their turn. To test apples for ripeness, place the flat of the hand under the fruit and lift it gently to just a little above the horizontal position. If the apple is ripe, the stalk will part readily from the spur of wood. If it doesn't come away of its own accord, lower the apple just as gently and try it again a few days hence.

The turn of the season often brings in its wake a series of boisterous wind storms, and these can often cause considerable loss of fruit from our trees. This loss can be minimized by spraying with one of the hormone anti-drop chemicals such as Stop-Drop, Planofix or Fruitone, applied as a drenching spray about ten days before the expected ripening period. Another and perhaps simpler method is to strew a good thick layer of straw under the trees to cushion the fall, and simply let 'em drop.

Windfalls mustn't be allowed to remain on the ground under the trees, though, for each one is a potential source of infection for the tree, or a happy and comfortable home for over-wintering pests. During the fall clean-up, if you can't get rid of them any other way, they should be composted, or burnt, or buried deeply. I should point out, though, that even bruised windfalls can be made into a wine of considerable horsepower.

There seems to be some confusion in the minds of my readers on the proper time to pick squash. With the kinds known as summer squash, it doesn't matter, for these kinds cannot be stored for any length of time, and in fact ,the smaller you pick 'em, the better they taste.

In fact, with the Zucchini and Cocozelle squash, which make enormous fruits if allowed to grow to full size, the preferred size for the table is only six or seven inches long. These immature fruits, produced in succession all season, are delicious when cooked unpeeled and served whole, either with butter, salt and pepper or in a cream sauce.

It is a different story with winter squash. These need to be approaching maturity for best flavor, and they MUST be completely matured on the vine if they are to be stored for winter use. Varieties include Hubbard, Blue Hubbard, Acorn, Butternut, Buttercup, Uconn and Rainbow, and all of these "keeping" kinds will rot or go mouldy in storage if harvested too soon.

One pretty good indication of maturity is the stem, which should have a dried and withered appearance. Another is the hardness of the skin — you shouldn't be able to dent it with your thumbnail. After picking, winter squash — and ornamental gourds — should be "cured" by keeping them in a very warm room for two weeks, ideally around 80 degrees, then transferring to a cool, dry basement for winter storage.

JACK SMITH Suffers from Hums

Ta ta, ta ta ta ta ta ta

Everyone thinks he is losing his mind occasionally. The trouble is, when you lose your mind you don't know you've lost it; and when you don't lose it, you don't know either. Consequently, nobody knows whether he's same or not.

My problem is a hum. For years I have been the victim of tunes that hum through my mind. I am not a musician. I played the clarinet for nine months, in 1929, but nothing came of it. It was only an elective in junior high.

The teacher said I was not helping the orchestra, so the next year I changed my elective to woodshop, and made a bookcase which I have to this day.

Nevertheless, I have these hums. They usually begin in the last stages of sleep, before the alarm rings. They persist all through my shower, and even breakfast. Once I get a hum, I can't get rid of it. Sometimes it's a tune I don't like.

A year or two ago I spent six weeks humming Strangers in the Night. I tried breaking in on it with the Colonel Bogie march, a song so stirring and insistent that it will get rid of almost any hum.

Colonel Bogie usually works. But then you have eliminated one problem only to take on a worse one. A hum is like glue. The more you try to get rid of it, the harder it sticks to you. Having got rid of Strangers in the Night, I went through a Colonel Bogie period that came close, I am sure, to unsettling my mind forever.

In elevators, for example, I would always hum the march, which goes, as everyone knows, "Ta ta, ta ta ta ta ta ta." By the way people looked at me, I thought I might be losing my mind. The way people look at you is one good indication of whether you have lost your mind or not.

I remember one period, last spring, I think, when I was troubled by Rossini. I woke up humming, "Ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta," and couldn't get it out of my mind.

★ ★ ★

Worse, I couldn't even remember what it was. One of the overtures, of course, but which one?

"Rossini," she said.

"Goodbye," I said, knowing I would have to work it out by myself.

I didn't think Colonel Bogie would help me against Rossini. A hum loses its power over a period of weeks. Beethoven, I have found, will wipe out almost any hum. I played the second symphony.

I decided on the part that goes "Ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta" and got it fixed in my mind. Beethoven's second, I believed, would protect me from any other hum.

I drove to work with a feeling of freedom, humming "Ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta, ta ta ta ta." I parked the car and got in the elevator. The muzak was playing In a Little Spanish Town 'twas on a Night Like This.

In a Little Spanish Town is a powerful song. I knocked out Beethoven. All day I was humming "Ta ta ta ta ta ta, ta ta ta ta ta ta ta."

But as luck had it that evening, I had to ride home on the bus. To my ear, engines always play tunes. The bus was playing Rossini that night. "Ta ta ta ta, ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta ta."

When I got home I asked my wife, "What's this — ta ta ta-ta ta ta ta ta ta ta, ta ta ta?"

"Sometimes," she said, "I think you're losing your mind."

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Nuns' Hair Makes Wigs

HOLLYWOOD ON THAMES, (NANA) — The fair hair of the nuns of Tuscany is covering some of the most celebrated heads in Europe. Stanley Hall, Mr. Big of Wig Creations London, while he took me on a tour of his fantastic factory in the West End of London, explained that, "the best hair for wigs comes from Italy." He showed me a silky blonde swatch of hair that once adorned the head of a young novice who became a nun. Before the final vows are taken, the hair, as you know, is shorn. What I didn't know (until Mr. Hall informed me) is that the lovely locks are sold. The money received is used for the benefit of the nunnery.

★ ★ ★

In my journey through the busy workshop, I met Beryl Reid who was getting a wig for a television show. Beryl was a smash in The Killing of Sister George, in London and on Broadway which makes it absurd that Bette Davis was signed for the movie version. Why not create a new film star instead of using an old one? Noel Coward was coming in to fit the wig he will wear for his U.S. televising of Shaw's Androcles and the Lion with Norman Wisdom. And, in a corner, was my long-time Hollywood friend, Sidney Guilaroff styling a wig for Shirley Maclaine for her Paramount comedy here, The Bliss of Mrs. Blossom.

★ ★ ★

Lillian Gish passed through London from Italy where she had visited her ailing sister Dorothy. Dick Van Dyke is back in Chitty Chitty Bang Bang, from 10 days off with a leg injury. For a while Dick was able to work from the waist up, but his doctors ordered him home. Fortunately, no time was lost and director Ken Hughes was able to work around him with Sally Ann Howes and the rest of the cast.

★ ★ ★

Rita Hayworth and daughter Yasmin have been sailing off Sardinia on the Aga Khan's yacht. Yasmin will be a heartbreaker like her mom and dad, the late Aly Khan. She's very pretty, gay and appealing.

★ ★ ★

British artist James Mason is lucky in his choice of friends. While Barbara Streisand was in London on stage in Funny Girl she met Monet and sponsored his first one-man show at the Grosvenor Galleries. Now Barbra and her husband, Elliott Gould, have 10 Monets in their New York apartment.

★ ★ ★

Ingrid Bergman's producer-husband Lars Schmidt, saw The Apple Tree on Broadway and is anxious to present the show in Paris and Stockholm. He'll have to buy the rights first. Rod Steiger is due in Paris to star as the titled character in the film version of The Sergeant, which has, my son tells me, the faintest suggestion of homosexuality.

Good Words Now Bad

SYDNEY HARRIS

Language is like a lawn. Unless it is carefully tended, regularly cropped, and vigilantly weeded, it turns into a jungle or a wasteland.

Take a word like "discrimination." A century ago, it used to be a "good" word — and still is, in the sense of "Discriminating smokers prefer . . ." But, for the most part, it has become a "bad" word.

Yet, the ability to discriminate is among the highest of human faculties.

There are, of course, wrong and unfair kinds of distinctions and divisions to make — divisions made out of bigotry or hate or fear. But no really discriminating person would commit these moral and intellectual blunders.

"Dogma" is another classic instance of a word that has run to weed. It comes from the Greek dokein, meaning "to think," and it implies a definite, consistent doctrine or code of beliefs. Nobody can live effectively without such a code; and almost everybody possesses a dogma, either openly or privately.

But the word itself has become a nasty one — meaning any opinion, or set of opinions, held with fanatical tenacity in the face of reason. To call a person "dogmatic" is almost an insult; but actually it is the person without a carefully thought-out dogma who is involved in contradictions, conflicts and spiritual upheavals.

An opposite instance is the word "sentimental," which has come to mean "warm-hearted" or "full of love for people." It really means "having an excess of sentiment" or being "mawkishly emotional."

Sentimentality is not allied to love; it is generally the opposite of love. A sentimental person feeds his 12 canaries and throws rocks at the neighbor's children; or carries his wife's picture in his wallet while making passes at some tramp at a bar.

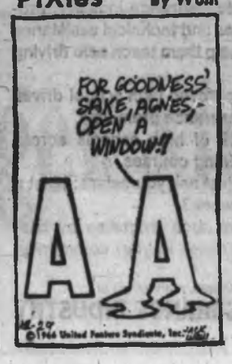

★ ★ ★

"Cynic," too, is customarily misused and misunderstood. It comes from a school of philosophers who taught that virtue is the only good, and that its essence lies in self-control and independence. It has come to mean anyone who rails or complains or exposes the realism beneath hypocrisy. Incidentally, the sentimentalist's favorite name for a realist is "cynic."

★ ★ ★

Language requires a gardener. Sometimes I also think it requires a policeman to prevent us from illegally parking our words in spaces reserved for their proper occupants.

Bank Heist Might Be Pain Killer

COPENHAGEN — The little man from Hamburg told the judge he robbed the Copenhagen bank so he could get into the nice prison hospital.

The judge looked at Otto Artur Kelfer, 58.

Otto said his doctor had told him his only chance for adequate care was to "get behind bars." Otto himself could not afford the treatment for the after-effects of a tubercular lung operation.

So he boarded the train at Hamburg for Copenhagen "to try something." During the trip Otto said he took 20 different types of pills to kill the pain.

"When I came out of the station, I saw a bank and I thought that there was money. I went inside and took my pistol out.

"I knew enough Danish to say 'Give me money' and 'More money.'" Otto said.

Otto showed a toy pistol to a bank teller who handed over $4,530. Bank employees grabbed Otto at the door.

'Horrible Homicide' Claims Socialite

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Police have launched an investigation into what they called the "horrible homicide" beating of a 74-year-old socially-prominent woman.

Mrs. Katherine Thompson Wood was found beaten Wednesday in her secluded home at nearby Pennsbury Township. She was the sister of James Thompson, the Thailand silk magnate who disappeared last march in Malaysia.

Police said Mrs. Wood was hit on the head with a blunt instrument. The body was discovered on a bed.

Two big watchdogs were standing by. An officer said one of the dogs may have been struck by the same weapon that killed Mrs. Wood, but otherwise there was no indication of why they did not prevent the crime.

A domestic reporting for work Wednesday found the body.

Investigators said they have not found the weapon or motive for the killing.

"I won't say there are no suspects," said a detective.

Known as a perfect cocktail hostess, Mrs. Wood was listed in the Philadelphia Social Register.

The dead classroom

A startling and proven fact: one classroom of high school students is wiped out every week because of car accidents.

It is an unbearable statistic, but true. More young Canadians are killed in automobile accidents than by any other cause.

Young drivers as a group are involved in more automobile accidents than any other drivers. This is the simple reason insurance rates are higher for them.

We, in the automobile insurance industry, provide training courses, bursaries and technical assistance to high school instructors to help them teach safe driving to their students.

At present, only 14% of high schools across Canada have these driver training courses.

Parents, teachers — just ask yourselves: Must a classroom be wiped out next week?

Fountain Frolic Costs Pair $70

A tipsy midnight frolic in the Centennial Square fountain brought two navy sailors to police court Thursday.

John Hancock and Terry Glen Murray, both of HMCS Mackenzie, were spotted gamboling fully-clothed in the spray at 12:30 a.m. Thursday while a crowd of spectators looked on.

Clothing soaked, they were unable to outrun two patrolmen who arrested them.

PUBLIC PLACE

In court they paid $35 fines each for causing a disturbance by being drunk in a public place.

Magistrate William Ostler observed drily:

"It is the responsibility of the authorities to provide entertainment in Centennial Square. There is no need for you to gratuitously assist them."

★ ★ ★

Barry Lee Arden, 1014 Rockland Avenue, had been charged with obstructing police officers after an altercation at 5050 Patricia Bay Highway on Aug. 20.

Mr. Arden and another witness said he did not raise his hands to officers who told him to leave. Police information said he did.

The magistrate suggested the change of plea because of contradictory sworn evidence. The trial will continue Sept. 11.

DOUGLAS C. WATT

TERENCE F. HEENAN

New Appointments Announced

The appointment of Douglas C. Watt as Vice-President, Marketing and of Terence F. Heenan as Vice-President, Staff (Operations) is announced by J. Ernest Richardson, President and Chief Executive Officer of the B.C. Telephone Company. Both appointments are effective Sept. 1.

In his new capacity, Mr. Watt will be responsible for the Company's Marketing Department operations. Born in West Vancouver, he attended elementary and high schools there and graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of British Columbia in 1941. After several years on the accounting and payroll staff of Burrard Dry Dock Co. Ltd., he joined B.C. Tel in August, 1945 as a development engineering clerk. After a brief period with another company, he returned to B.C. Tel in February, 1948 and has served the Company since in various capacities, including Executive Assistant, General Commercial Engineer, Coastal District No. 1 Manager, Coastal Division Manager, Assistant Director of Personnel and, since January, 1966, Vice-President, Staff (Operations).

Mr. Heenan will be in charge of future planning and engineering, plant, traffic and commercial staff services. Born and raised in Halifax, he obtained his Bachelor of Science degree from St. Mary's University, Halifax, in 1947 and his Bachelor of Electrical Engineering degree from Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, in 1949. The same year he joined the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company in Halifax and held various positions in the engineering and traffic departments before becoming Assistant Chief Engineer with that company in 1963. In 1965, he was appointed chairman of the Advisory Group of the Trans-Canada Telephone System, with headquarters in Montreal, and he held that post until his appointment with B.C. Tel.

Museum Need For Funds 'Disturbing'

* * *

Symons

* * *

The Maritime Museum of B.C. is in the perilous state of a poor relation, according to a bulletin issued by the marine treasure storehouse.

"We are very disturbed about the fact we are not making ends meet," curator John W. D. Symons said Thursday.

"We feel it is a worthwhile objective to preserve the maritime history of the province, but we need some guaranteed continual backing before we can do the job properly."

IN RED

The facts outlined in the bulletin show the museum ran $7,000 in the red last year, a deficit that persisted in spite of a 500-per-cent increase in membership in the past two years.

The bulletin attributes the deficit to a shortage of grants, and says the museum is treated as a very poor relation compared to art galleries and museums in other Canadian cities.

Last year, the City of Victoria and the municipalities in Greater Victoria donated a total of $7,000, but the city's tax bill was about $4,800. Total grants from all sources amounted to $10,500, the bulletin said.

10 CENTS

Victoria's contribution to culture is about 10 cents per capita, the bulletin estimates, compared with a 40-cent per capita grant to the London, Ont., Art Gallery, or an 80-cent per capita grant to the Kamloops museum and the Fort Kamloops replica.

The City of Vancouver plans to spend $55,000 for its population of 450,000, or $1.21 per capita.

The bulletin also points out the huge sums being spent at the federal level on culture — a budget of $3,722,500 to the National Gallery in Ottawa; $42,000,000 for a National Arts Centre, originally estimated at $9,000,000.

Curator Symons feels persons interested in preserving B.C.'s maritime history permanently should get after legislators on all levels of government and impress on them the urgent nature of the museum's financial needs.

"This hand-to-mouth existence is not realistic, and cannot continue indefinitely," he said.

Six Managing Cultural Fund

B.C. has named a six-member advisory committee for the newly-created Centennial Cultural Fund with the Speaker of the legislature, W. H. Murray of Prince Rupert, as chairman.

A cabinet order Thursday said the committee will advise on allocation of approximately $275,000 in interest earned by the fund each year "for the purpose of stimulating cultural development of the people of the province."

Deputy chairman is L. J. Wallace, head of the B.C. Centennial Committee and deputy provincial secretary. Also on the advisory body are the government's three women ministers without portfolio, Mrs. Isobel Dawson, Mrs. Grace McCarthy and Mrs. Pat Jordan.

The sixth member of the committee is deputy education minister Dr. G. Neil Perry. No ground rules have been announced for allocation of the cultural grants.

A $5,000,000 capital fund was set up by the legislature last spring, and the interest earned on this amount will be spent each year, said Premier Bennett.

Late Dam Payments Cost $2,000 Daily

Late payment to B.C. of $12,000,000 in flood control payments from the U.S. is costing Ottawa approximately $2,000 a day in interest, Premier Bennett said Thursday.

The premier said that although the money was coming from the U.S., discussions concerning the late payment were being held with Ottawa. It is up to the federal government to see the money is forthcoming from Washington, he said.

A wire requesting action was sent by Mr. Bennett to External Affairs Minister Paul Martin last Tuesday, and the premier said he had also been in "verbal communicating" with Ottawa. He said he didn't expect a quick answer to the wire, but had received assurances the money was coming.

The $12,000,000 in flood control benefits was due July 31 when the Duncan Dam, first and smallest of three projects to be constructed under the Columbia River Treaty, became operational.

EVERY SPOONFUL

"It's immaterial whether the Americans were advised the dam would be ready ahead of time," said Mr. Bennett. "We only deal with the Canadian government, which was aware of every spoonful of earth placed on the dam. Ottawa is responsible for the payment."

Mr. Bennett said B.C. was asking and expected to get 5½ per cent interest on the principal for late payment.

U.S. Official Here Sept. 13, 14

A U.S. Social Security Administration field representative will be at the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service offices, 468 Belleville, Sept. 13 and 14.

William R. Pierron will be available from noon to 4:30 p.m. the first day and from 8:30 a.m. to noon the second to give claim forms and explain the U.S. social security program.

The visit is to assist people now living in Victoria and up-Island areas who have been employed in the U.S. after 1936 and who wish to inquire about their status under the social security program.

Family of 15 Homeless

Only Wash Left After Big Fire

A pathetic line of fresh washing whipped by the breeze is all that remains for a family of 15 burned out of their Cole Bay Indian Reserve home early Thursday.

Fire destroyed the seven-room frame dwelling at 1065 McTavish Road in North Saanich shortly after 7 a.m.

CHIHUAHUA DIED

All were uninjured, but their two-year-old pet Chihuahua, Frisky, died as it tried to escape the searing flames by crawling under a bed.

The family is now living in a condemned house on the reserve, said Donald Williams, chief administrator of the Pauquachin Indian band.

"They urgently need beds, bedding and kitchen utensils," said Chief Williams, who is unrelated to the burned-out family.

FUND LAUNCHED

A fund to aid the stricken family has been launched.

The family has found temporary shelter nearby in the unfurnished home of a relative, Romaine James, and donations of food and clothing had started to arrive late Thursday.

Wisps of smoke hung over the charred skeleton of the house Thursday afternoon, while nearby heaps of burned clothing, twisted bed springs, a washing machine, shoes, and other family possessions lay blackened and soggy in the front yard.

OIL STOVE CAUSE

Hugh Loney, chief of the Sidney and North Saanich Volunteer Fire Department, said the blaze broke out in an oil stove which was lighted at 7:30 a.m.

The alarm was sounded by Mr. James, and although the flames had reached the front and back of the house, the family were able to escape through the windows.

Firemen under Chief Loney battled the blaze but, despite attempts to save the house only the chimney remained. It later toppled. Two of the three trucks fighting the fire had to haul water from a mile distant, while a third truck provided power for hoses at the scene.

GRANDFATHER SHOUTED

Elaine Williams, 20, the oldest child, poked about the ruins with her sisters, Doris, 17, and Ramona, 13, and told of the family's flight from the burning house.

"I heard my grandfather shouting and we tried to get out the front and back doors, but the flames were stopping us," she said. "I pushed up one of the windows and got out first and helped the others out. Eventually, we got two or three windows open. We were all out within five minutes."

As the ashes cooled, he frantically searched for the missing pet, Frisky, only to find him dead under a bed.

"Sylvester favored Frisky the most," said Elaine. The dog usually slept in the kitchen, and in the confusion was missed as the family escaped. They have a second dog, a black mongrel named Sad Sack.

MOTHER IN SHOCK

Mrs. Williams suffered shock as the result of the fire, her daughter said, but her father went back to his job as a boomman with B.C. Forest Products as usual late Thursday afternoon.

Fire is no stranger to the Williams family, who have lived in their home for the past 12 years. A house on the property next door to them on McTavish Road, owned by an uncle, Raymond Williams, was swept by fire six years ago, and one man was injured in the blaze, said Elaine.

CLOTHING NEEDED

Two collection points have been established for the Williams fund.

Chief Donald Williams is accepting goods and cash at his home at 9045 West Saanich Road. His phone number is 656-2205.

Centennial Copter To Land in City

The cross-Canada Centennial Helicopter will touch down at 10 a.m. today at Victoria's heliport on the south side of Esquimalt Road in Victoria West. The original plan to land the craft in Central Saanich Thursday night was cancelled.

Garbage Puzzle: How to Clear Expanding Bulk

By A. H. MURPHY

Some 60,000 tons of garbage will be hauled away from Greater Victoria this year and most of it dumped on a tract on Hartland Road just west of the border of Saanich.

Of that total, Victoria will contribute 27,000 tons which works out to about 200,000 cubic yards or more than 850,000 garbage cans full.

To provide this service costs the city about $300,000 a year.

Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt also have to provide service to their ratepayers at a cost which is proportionately the same.

Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich has given notice that on Tuesday he will renew the drive he made more than a year ago to have this whole complex matter made the responsibility of the regional board of the capital district.

In order to get things moving, he will bring the matter up at a meeting of the Greater Victoria Intermunicipal Committee, and probably urge that the committee urge the board to make a study of the issue with the aim of taking it over as one of its several functions.

Annual Addition

H. H. James of the city engineer's department, in charge of the matter for Victoria, said Thursday the volume increases in the city by about 8 per cent a year.

In 1960, when Oak Bay and Esquimalt were included in the city collection, the total was 23,550 tons — about 154,000 cubic yards representing 783,000 cans.

In 1966 the total, which included the city only, rose to 24,560 tons or 189,000 cubic yards or 850,000 cans.

In Victoria the rubbish is collected by a staff of 50 men operating 10 trucks and hauled to a depot on the waterfront, from where it is loaded on tractors and trailers by the Victoria Disposal Co. Ltd. and hauled away to the dump on Hartland Road. This necessitates 40 to 50 trips a week.

For this service the company is paid about $55,000 a year by the city. Collection costs in 1966 were $274,000 of which $56,800 was recoverable from fees charged stores, hotels and apartments for collection.

Load Gets Heavier

Biggest problem in garbage disposal today, said Mr. James, was not weight but bulk. The ever-increasing use of paper and plastics for wrapping and containers was coupled with more and more oil furnace installations which did not burn such refuse and this meant that it had to be hauled away.

This, he added, was a problem which could only grown worse.

The problem of disposal will be on of the major ones faced by the regional board if it takes over garbage as a function.

Corps Handled Fairly Special Report States

By BILL THOMAS

The appointment of retired Rear Admiral John B. Caldwell as a full-time paid commandant of the Victoria division of the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires appeared Thursday to be a major step in implementing recommendations of the 23-page Pearlman report.

In summary the report states that "basically and by and large, the affairs of the division have been administered efficiently and fairly, and to the best advantage of the corps and its members."

City lawyer E. E. Pearlman was retained by the corps governors to study the operation of the local division and make recommendations. His report was made public Thursday.

Admiral Caldwell has replaced Cmdr. A. C. Wurtele, who will remain chairman of the board of governors.

In his recommendations concerning duties of the new commandant, Mr. Pearlman suggested he should be "a senior full-time executive of the division, but his primary responsibility would be to the governors."

Not Desirable

"Furthermore, I suggest that it is not desirable that the person who makes a decision which may be reviewed by the board of governors, should sit on the board or on a committee of the board which is then reviewing an administrative decision," Mr. Pearlman added.

"While senior to the adjutant, he would not be involved in the regular routine work normally performed by the adjutant except as specifically laid down in the job evaluation."

The new senior officer would be responsible for hearing complaints from commissionaires and "would see to it that any complaint not settled to the satisfaction of the complainant, was brought to the attention of the board of governors or an appropriate committee thereof."

Chief's Duties

The report states explicitly that "The respective authority, duties and responsibilities of the commandant, the executive or division officer and the adjutant should first be meticulously established."

Mr. Pearlman said he found no support for charges of favoritism that had been levelled at the corps, but suggested that "in order that suspicion and unfounded allegations may be avoided, or at least lessened, I recommend that better and more detailed records of the training, qualifications and experience of commissionaires be maintained at division headquarters."

The report suggests that the the commissionaires and the public be told more about the operation of the unit.

"Perhaps considerable misunderstanding and mistrust might be avoided if additional information pertaining to the operations of the corps was made available not only to the commissionaires but to the public at large.

"I see no reason why the full story behind the rates of pay, working conditions and the amount received by the corps division and other items of interest should not be placed on record."

The report explained the governors do not meet at regular intervals and suggested meetings at least once every three months, at fixed dates.

Dealt at Length

Mr. Pearlman dealt at length with the charge of abuse of the regulation requiring commissionaires on pain of suspension and loss of rank to report any instances of misconduct by other commissionaires, "especially if committed in public or likely to injure the interests of his comrades."

He said he had found no abuse of the clause, but recommended that it be amended to say, "It is the duty of every member of the corps to report any instance of misconduct on the part of a member when committed in public or liable to injure the interests of the corps."

Mr. Pearlman reported he found no evidence of unwarranted dismissals but, on the contrary, "incontrovertible evidence which establishes that in many of the charges which came before the commandant the commissionaire concerned was given the opportunity to appear and did appear before the board of governors, which in turn confirmed the disciplinary action taken by the commandant."

Right Proposal

However, the report does suggest that commissionaires be given the right to communicate directly with the proposed executive director and through him with the board of governors "without fear of reprisal."

Mr. Pearlman suggests the establishment of a grievance committee if this is the wish of the commissionaires. It is suggested that this comprise the commandant, a member of the board of governors and a representative from the ranks of the commissionaires.

The report suggests that "all grievances not settled by submission firstly to the commandant, would go to this grievance committee, which would hear all the facts and report the same along with its recommendations to the board of governors."

Detailed View

Problems of organization and administration are detailed in the document with the suggestion that the board of governors had previously delegated too much authority to the administrative staff.

Mr. Pearlman suggests the board of governors must "now in some fashion reorganize its position to ensure that its members are fully cognizant and fully informed of the day-to-day operation of the corps."

Reviewing the financial records of the Victoria division, the report said, "Adequate and proper books of account and records are in fact maintained, and are subject to two audits, one by a firm of chartered accountants and the second by the federal department of finance . . ."

A statement issued by the corps Thursday said some of the recommendations would be implemented while others would be discussed at the annual meeting of the Canadian Corps annual meeting to be held soon in Halifax.

Three Cees Frowns

The Pearlman report has done nothing to satisfy the Three Cees organization whose complaints sparked the inquiry.

President of the breakaway group, former commissionaire Clifford Eckardt said Thursday the report "raises more questions than it answers."

"Mr. Pearlman's findings are still no substitute for an impartial judicial hearing.

"We intend to press for such a public inquiry, for we feel this report vindicates our original complaints," Mr. Eckardt said.

Ash Trays Relatively Empty

By NANCY BROWN

Ricky Larsen, 7Ti Lampson, is four years old, and already he has 20 uncles, 14 aunts, 13 great-uncles and 12 great-aunts, plus great-grandpa and great-grandmother — 58 in all — and not a smoker in the bunch.

"We don't smoke because of example and training," said his great-uncle, Charles Richmond, 2564 Bermuda Place, Thursday.

"I guess we all tried at one time or another, but our father had trained us not to smoke until we were of age. By then we had too much sense."

* * *

Mr. Richmond said the whole family is of the Pentecostal religion which advises against smoking, although there is no church precept against it.

"Neither of our parents smoked, either," he said. "A son usually patterns himself, and his ideas of what a man should be, on his father.

"If his father doesn't smoke, chances are the son won't, but if a boy sees his father puffing away at a cigarette all the time, he will think that is the manly thing to do."

* * *

During the next quarter of a century Mrs. Richmond bore eight sons and four daughters. The family moved to Victoria in 1942, when the youngest son, Clinton, was just a baby.

* * *

Now 24, Clinton is married and has a son of his own — just six weeks old, and born within a few days of two of his cousins, the sons of Edward and Jim Richmond.

The three are Ricky's youngest uncles.

Ricky is the grandson of Mrs. Ethel Larsen, the Richmonds' oldest daughter, a widow, who spends her summers as a stewardess on the Ss. Prince George, and her winters teaching school in Hong Kong.

All but four members of the close-knit family live in Victoria, where they can visit back and forth.

Of the four living away, three are Pentecostal church ministers. Glen is provincial youth director for the church, and Jim and George pastors in Kimberley, B.C., and Melville, Sask.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Richmond will not reach their golden wedding until December, the family had a pre-anniversary celebration in Victoria last weekend.

"All the family were here, so we took our chance while we could. By December they'll be scattered again," said son Charles.

* * *

The clan took a picnic lunch to Beacon Hill Park, adjourning later to the Richmond home at 3282 Whittier, where they tried to work out the intricacies of their relationships.

Railings gone: A portion of the railing of Rock Bay Bridge was carried away by the fire engines on Tuesday, and one side of the rail of the draw of the bridge over the Arm was knocked off by a heavy vehicle on Wednesday night. The danger to the public from the absence of the rails is very great.

The cable worked pretty well yesterday and a number of private messages were got through.

Oyster and Chop House — Messrs. Levy and Aarons, the well-known restaurateurs are the first this season to open delicious bivalves for Victoria epicures. Victoria Girl Teaches Riding

A Victoria girl has travelled 4,000 miles to Virginia Beach to be with the horses she loves.

She is Sue Brown, daugher of Lt.-Cmdr. and Mrs. A. C. Brown, 2525 Craamore Road, who started riding nine years ago at Hillcrest Farms School of Horsemanship in Virginia, and has returned there as instructor.

Sue has successfully completed a riding rating course sponsored by the division of Girls and Woman's Sports, National Sports Committee of the United States. The course is held annually on a national basis to ensure a satisfactory standard of riding is maintained.

Sue will make sure of this when she helps instruct the 300 pupils enrolled at Hillcrest Farms, for horses have always been her first love.

Interviewed in Virginia Beach, Sue, who has won a great many ribbons in shows, said "a rider should have consideration for his horse. It takes kindness and patience. A horse thinks on the level of a three-year-old child. The rider should never forget that."

She deplores "abusive riding."

"There is nothing worse than to see a horse who has been ridden improperly. A horse should be relaxed if he is normal. After a while in some riding academies they become tense and can get nasty."

During the past nine years Sue has continued her riding even when she found it almost impossible to find a horse to ride and train, and even when she was busy studying at Norfolk house school and the University of Victoria.

One qualification Sue feels is a must for riders is courage, which no riding school can teach.

"To be successful at horsemanship, a person has to be athletic. It takes courage to stay with the horse when he leaves the ground and jumps over a fence."

Mothers' Dilemma — In Beautiful Victoria

By MAUREEN DUFFUS

To swim or not to swim?

After spending a long hot summer trying to find out if the water near us is polluted or safe for swimming, I'm not sure who to be mad at.

● The inspectors who have just, the week before holidays end, informed us the water is "well within the safety limits for swimming."

● The rumor-mongers who spread horrifying tales of dread diseases to be caught if you so much as set foot in any water around Victoria, from Brentwood to Langford.

● The people who care so little about the problem they still dump raw sewage and industrial wastes into any water that happens to be handy.

● Or the governments who, up to now, have permitted this appalling situation to continue.

I have been talking to other over-protective moms, who have heeded the warnings of the health authorities and kept the children out of all but the theoretically safe swimming places.

Some distraught mothers have finally given in and let their children take their chances against the dread viruses at View Royal or Brentwood, or wherever — even in "that open sewer previously known as the Gorge."

★ ★ ★

As one said, "You feel such a kook keeping them out when the other kids are in. But after what I've heard about Esquimalt Harbor, I can't bear to swim there myself."

Source of these rumors is hard to trace, but it seemed reasonable to have our water tested to make sure.

In July I phoned the provincial department of health, who told me to contact the metropolitan board of health.

(It wasn't until Thursday I learned anyone can take a sample of water to the provincial lab to have it analysed. I do wish someone had told me sooner.)

Meantime, the city office had politely passed my enquiries on to the Saanich office. When I first phoned there the inspector was out.

I called back next day and spoke to a very polite inspector who explained he was only filling in until another inspector returned from holidays — sometime next week. Meantime, Inspector No. 1 was too busy with Brentwood bacteria to check ours. I left my phone number.

Two weeks later I phoned back again, only to find I should have been referred to a sub-office in the first place.

Naturally, the sub-office inspector was out when I phoned, but eventually he phoned back and, oh triumph, he admitted I had the right office. It then remained to set a time.

With the best will in the world, the inspector said he could come next morning — but the tide is out in the mornings. He made a special point of coming in the afternoon, and couldn't find the house.

By this time, another week was lost, as the sub-office only has access to the lab three days a week.

This farce came to an end the next week, when the inspector found the house when the tide was in, scooped up his sample and left.

Exactly a week later he phoned with the report: traces of pollution, but well within the safety range for swimming.

So we have a few sunny, warm days left to enjoy our beach before school starts and the rains set in.

In all fairness I should point out that in all these many phone calls I met with great politeness. The inspectors were extremely busy analysing drinking water, which of course was more important.

But all along the line I also met with gloomy prophecies about the unlikelihood of anyone swimming in our area without catching some dread disease. And did I know it was possible to get hepatitis from eating oysters?

Meantime, another phone call elicited the information that, in spite of rumors of skin rashes, ear infections, sore throats, and sick spells following swimming at Elk Lake, the swimming beaches there had been tested and found perfectly safe. Beaver, Thetis and Prospect Lakes are similarly cleared of all blame.

Why, then, are so many mothers complaining?

I haven't met anyone whose child has contracted hepatitis, but I do know that a great many minor ills have been connected with swimming. There is no proof, of course, that the water is to blame.

Nevertheless, I'm still thoroughly cross and indignant that so many beautiful beaches, lakes, rivers and streams have been allowed to become contaminated, and that kids for years to come will be denied the fun of swimming.

I know a lot of people have been beating their heads against the wall of indifference for years, and it is very hard to pin down just who should be doing something about it. And I suppose there's no quick solution now that things have been allowed to become so disgraceful. Mr. Bennett's order forbidding his ferries to dump anything into the sea isn't going to help clean up Colquitz Creek.

I wish I could think of something constructive.

Failing that, if anyone can suggest where exactly to aim my wrath, I would be grateful.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the woman who was angry because her mother-in-law kept nagging her to "try" for a girl. I am 15 years old and my mother had the same problem — five sons and no daughters. It wasn't her mother-in-law who nagged her, it was my father. My mother didn't mind, though. She took a chance at the age of 49 and here I am — a girl!

I am sure if I had been a boy she would have loved me just as much. But needless to say she was thrilled. My father was the happiest man in Michigan.

Please print my letter for all women who can't make up their minds. This letter might help them decide. — DOLLY

Dear Doll: Your mother must be quite a woman — one for the books, you might say! My hat is off to her.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: We are having a little trouble with our five-year-old daughter. She has always been friendly and affectionate. This is a good trait, we feel, but lately she has been overdoing it. She hangs on people, climbs on their laps, pats their faces and kisses them.

Last night we had guests. The child climbed on the lap of a woman she had never seen before and said, "You are so pretty I love you." At that point I asked her to get off the woman's lap. The woman said, "Oh, she isn't bothering me. Let her stay."

Why does my daughter behave this way and how can I break her of the habit when I don't get the cooperation of guests? I need your help, Ann. I am not handling this problem well and I know it. — FALLING SHORT

Dear F.C.: First you must learn why your child feels the need to climb on people and kiss strangers. Usually such youngsters do not get enough affection at home.

When you tell your child to stop hanging on people and the adult says, "She isn't botherng me," you should say, "Well, she's bothering ME. We don't permit this sort of thing." Then insist that the youngster do as you say.

Dear Ann Landers: Please do me a big favor. My parents gave me a beautiful church wedding. They spared no expense to make it elegant. I received some lovely gifts.

Like all brides, I was very busy before the wedding, and then I got busy after the wedding. Somehow, I didn't get around to writing thank-you notes for the wedding gifts. Seven years have passed and whenever I see people who sent me gifts I feel a little ashamed of myself.

Please print my name and let these folks know that I do appreciate the wedding presents and I am sorry I did not write to them and let them know. Thank you. — REGRETFUL

Dear Re: This space is not a message centre. But I'm glad you wrote because I have a message for you and for every other lazy slob who neglects to say "Thank You."

Every person who sent a gift somehow found the time and energy and money to select something just for you. If you can't stir yourself to let that person know you received the gift, you are woefully lacking in common, everyday decency.

Reed-McDougall

Home on Mainland

Sharon Ann McDougall carried a Bible covered in point d'Alencon lace which held yellow rosebuds attached to white streamers when she became the bride of David Thomas Reed in St. John's Anglican Church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown styled on empire lines with a bodice of point d'Alencon, fashioned with a portrait neckline and sleeves ending in lily points. A panel swept back from two tiny bridal bows at the shoulder, accenting the chiffon skirt. A tiny floral rosette held her tiered veil of silk illusion.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McDougall, 1243 Judge Place, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Ruth Reed, Winnipeg, and the late Mr. H. R. Reed.

The church was decorated with baskets of white, pink and yellow gladioli and white ribbon pew markers. Canon Grahame Baker officiated at the wedding ceremony and nuptial mass.

The bride's attendants wore matching dresses of seagreen styled on empire lines, fashioned with scoop necklines and pale yellow ribbon and bow accents at the waistline. Self-fabric petals and yellow tulle en tone formed their headpieces. Only jewelry accents were culture pearl necklaces, gifts of the bride. They carried bouquets of yellow glamelias with green tulle and white streamers.

Little flower girl Kris Eager was gowned in a similar style and carried a basket of summer flowers.

Mrs. C. McGregor was matron of honor for her sister, Mrs. J. Fox was bridesmatron and Miss Beverly Gerrard, bridesmaid.

Best man was Allan Reed, brother of the groom. Ushering the guests were Lloyd McFadden and Lloyd Reed, another brother of the groom.

★ ★ ★

Walter Dedick proposed the toast to the bride at the reception following at the Club Tango. The head table was decorated with baskets of yellow flowers and baskets of white gladioli and mauve cosmos decorated the guests' tables.

A two-piece suit of mauve wool, purse and hat of the same fabric, and white accessories was the choice of the bride for travelling. She wore a mauve orchid corsage.

After the honeymoon on Vancouver Island, the couple will make their home in New Westminster where the groom will resume studies at Simon Fraser University in Burnaby.

Mrs. Hobbs Honored

At the sketching meeting, members of the Victoria Sketch Club honored one of their oldest members, Mrs. S. Morgan (Isabel) Hobbs, by making her a life member.

The president spoke of her service and inspiration over a period of 50-odd years. She then pinned on her badge of life membership which is a silver maple leaf. The secretary presented her with a corsage of roses.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Isabel Hobbs is well known in art circles and is fondly known as "The Dogwood Lady." She is quite famous for her flower pictures and especially for studies of the B.C. provincial flower. One of her dogwood pictures hangs in Government House.

This Is What Cowichan Bay Is All About

They Rush Here by Air, Rail, Highway

By RAY KERR

COWICHAN BAY — Fishing this world-famous bay these days is something like driving over the Malahat on a summery Sunday evening. By the time you get to Victoria, you wish the automobile was never invented.

And by the time Cowichan Bay is through with you, fishing is something you'd rather read about.

It's not that there isn't plenty of fish. If you know the difference between a planer and a strip-teaser, you're in business just about any time of year.

★ ★ ★

But you sure get the business in the late summer and early fall.

It seems that all those fat springs and coho heading for their spawning beds induce a sort of hysteria among anglers as far east as Nova Scotia.

They rush for the bay by air, rail, highway or water with visions of the big ones in their eyes.

It's the kind of fever a non-fisherman doesn't understand, but it's just as real as any other malady, and can be just as deadly.

As he gaffed the fish, the punt upset, leaving the Calgarian, without a lifejacket, clinging to the small craft.

He was pulled out about 10 minutes later, almost ready to pass out.

But he was still hanging on to the gaff and the big fish as he was hauled into the rescue vessel.

"I sure as heck didn't come down all the way from Calgary to lose a 25-pounder like that," he told his rescuers later.

★ ★ ★

The hysteria creates other problems, with experienced anglers usually paying the price. While they think ahead, the greenhorns — and they're in a majority — zoom every which way, thinking that two lines tangled together will untangle all by themselves.

They don't, as Tom Spencer of Victoria will tell you.

Mr. Spencer, considered a scot of a fisherman's Bobby Hull by the Cowichan Bay fishing fraternity, hooked a 30-pounder last year with a whole bunch of boats sitting almost on top of him.

He said the big salmon picked up 12 other lines while he was fighting it. He got it, and probably a few grey hairs with it.

Then there was a fellow mooching (still-fishing) with a young boy the other day. The man looked as if he'd either started celebrating early in the morning or had never stopped the night before.

★ ★ ★

But hooking across a troller, he got his line snagged without knowing it, then when the pull came, figured he had a fish.

★ ★ ★

So he started reeling in, with nothing giving. He was quite a pathetic picture there, hollering, "Where's somebody with a net? I haven't got a net," with everybody but himself knowing all he had on was a lot of planer — plus an angry owner to contend with.

And it's not unusual to see three of four boats get their lines all tangled up, looking like a bunch of hard-working laborers straining at their singing reels and getting nowhere.

★ ★ ★

But then they get ashore, and right there on the wharf, being weighed in, is a 40-pound beauty, sure to play an important part in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest.

Synod Ends

Anglicans Stress Ecumenism

OTTAWA (CP) — The Anglican Church of Canada ended a 10-day general synod Thursday that not only dealt with contentious ecclesiastical issues but stamped itself as a body concerned with ecumenism.

Although only one day was devoted almost exclusively to questions of union with the United Church of Canada, the more than 250 synod members seemed to address themselves to most questions with concern for the whole Christian community rather than the Anglican alone.

The synod sessions were at St. Paul University, a Roman Catholic institution housing the theology and canon law faculties formerly part of the University of Ottawa. Both the Roman Catholic archbishop of Ottawa and the rector of St. Paul spoke at the synod.

MODERATOR SPEAKS

Rt. Rev. W. C. Lockhart, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, spoke during the discussions on union and remained for the entire day's proceedings.

"If this unity is to come because" God "wills it, it will be because we are prepared to make the changes necessary to find a meeting place in Him," said Dr. Lockhart. "We cannot treat this matter as casually as we have in the past."

Archbishop J. A. Plourde, brought greetings to the synod from the Ottawa archdiocese and said the Roman Catholic Church is "irrevocably engaged in the full current of the ecumenical dialogue" and that the churches now are stressing their similarities rather than their differences.

'IN GOD'S TIME'

Archbishop Clark said he hoped union with the United Church "will be in God's time but I hope we will notice when God's time comes along."

In stressing the ecumenical theme that carried through the synod Rt. Rev. G. P. Gower, Bishop of New Westminster, called on Canadian churches of all denominations to co-ordinate their communications programs in the spirit of the ecumenical movement.

As well, Rev. John R. Lee of Winnipeg, a delegate from Rupert's Land diocese, told the synod the church eventually will have to be organized into ecumenical parishes because denominational parishes are obsolete.

Thousands Battling Flames of August

From UPI

The flames of late August roared through western forest and grasslands Thursday as the weatherman predicted September would bring rain.

On the last of the "dog days" more than 200,000 acres had been charred by fires in British Columbia, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Montana and California.

Some timber and brush remained aflame as thousands of firefighters labored under blistering temperatures in a dry spell described by weathermen as "unusual." The mercury soared as high as 105 degrees.

Forecasters said above-average rainfall would occur in September. The first showers were anticipated for the Pacific Northwest by Labor Day weekend.

Another Closure

Hazardous conditions in the woods in that portion of the Prince George forest district lying east of the Rocky Mountains have resulted in a travel and recreational closure which started Thursday midnight.

Resources Minister Williston said a suspension of campfire permits has also been imposed in the same general area, lying east of the Rocky Mountain divide to the Alberta border and south of the Halfway River and Peace River.

John D Praises Liberal Project

REGINA (CP)—John Diefenbaker spent an hour "back home" Thursday.

Mr. Diefenbaker and his brother Elmer, officially opened the newly-restored Diefenbaker family home in Regina's Wascana centre before about 1,200 spectators.

Mr. Diefenbaker, caught up with the emotion of the moment, said "the chords of memory are touched on occasions such as this."

"No words of gratefulness can express the depth of my emotions."

The ramshackle boyhood home was moved last March from Borden, 50 miles north of Saskatoon, to Regina. Mr. Diefenbaker, his father and his brother Elmer, hammered every nail into the building in 1906.

It was restored by the Liberal provincial government at a cost of about $15,000 as a tribute to the first Saskatchewan resident to become prime minister of Canada and to the pioneers of the province.

Earlier, at a press conference, Mr. Diefenbaker refused to give any hint of his intentions regarding the Conservative party leadership convention next week in Toronto.

He said, when asked about rumors that an Ontario firm was printing posters for him:

Asked about reports that he might start a procedural fight to block voting and thus retain the leadership on a technicality, he said:

"I've had no time to read this latest fiction."

Smog, Sun Rampaging

There was no letup in tremendous smog wave engulfing Los Angeles Thursday as broiling sun sent temperatures up to 100-degree mark and above in some parts of southern California. Smog attack, with no relief in sight, is worst in more than decade.—(AP)

TV TALK

By BRUCE LOWTHER

If they made the following story into a television series, nobody would believe it—but the show would become one of the top 10 without a doubt. The story is of a projected series called The Perils of Pauline.

It all began with the Dodge Rebellion commercials, which gained the public's fancy and made actress Pamela Austin a sort-of star. Aha, said somebody, let's tie the basic idea with the old Pearle White movie serials and come up with a hit ~~called The~~ Perils of Pauline.

CBS like the thought, so a pilot was made in hopes of a series in the 1965-66 season. It didn't work—writing and acting difficulties—but CBS sold the pilot to Universal studios.

The movie men took the best of the pilot, which wasn't much, shot some new stuff and made a movie called—you'll never guess—The Perils of Pauline.

Some NBC boys saw it and decided there was still hope for a series. So Miss Austin and new writers, cast and supervisors are making another pilot. The Perils may finally appear in the 1968-69 season. Don't touch that dial.

Friday's Highlights

NOTE: Many 1966-67 series are ending this week. Their replacements will be listed here, starting next week.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

The Achilles heel of the club expert is that he would rather make a contract via an intricate line of play than with a simple finesse. On this deal in the 1967 World Championship, the average expert would have been absolutely right.

The French pair were in four diamonds doubled, and our West player began with queen and another heart, East shifting to ace and another trump. This left declarer, who needed all the remaining tricks, with only three trumps in dummy to cope with four losing cards in his own hand (two spades and two hearts). Since West had bid spades, declarer decided that the simple way to grab his tenth trick was to finesse dummy's jack. Down one!

On the bidding and the play, West was pretty well marked with the exact hand-pattern that he actually held.

Vul: None

The bidding:

1 ♠	Pass	1 N.T.	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	Pass	2 ◇
3 ♣	3 ◇	4 ♣	Pass
Pass	4 ◇	Dbl.	All Pass

Opening lead: Heart queen

A far-seeing declarer might therefore have decided to give up the spade finesse and to go for a squeeze instead. The second round of trumps is won with dummy's ten, and declarer ruffs three clubs in his own hand and two hearts in dummy. This leaves everybody with four cards, dummy holds the club king, a trump and the spade ace-jack. Declarer holds a heart and king-third of spades.

When declarer ruffs his last heart in dummy, West is squeezed like a lemon. If he is not to part with the club ace, he must surrender his spade guard, enabling South to win three spade tricks without a finesse.

Take That, You Fire!

Hand that holds the firehose is the hand that rules the world. Firewomen at Cranberry, near Nanaimo, bring streams of water to dry, hot fire problem. Mary Jackson, left, and Irene Renton use back tanks to get mack fire out. When siren sounds, they and other women in the company will be ready!—(Agnes Flett)

Boy and Bike Hit in Crash

ALBERNI — A 12-year-old Alberni boy suffered a broken leg Thursday night when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a truck.

Terence Seitcheher of 513 Elizabeth was riding his bicycle at 10th and Bird at 8:45 p.m. when he was struck by a Phoenix Terrace Restaurant vehicle driven by employee Jimmy Quan.

Wednesday night, a rearend collision in downtown Campbell River sent Mrs. John Ritchie to hospital overnight.

Pay Hikes Approved

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Workers at Noranda Copper Mills Ltd., Annacis Island have accepted base pay hikes ranging from 33 to 43 per cent in a new 33-month contract.

Pen Baskin, area supervisor of the United Steelworkers of America, said the 250 employees involved voted by a majority of one to accept the agreement.

Ship Aground

CAPE TOWN (AP) — The 6,922-ton Liberian tanker Oinoussai ran aground in fog off the coast of South-West Africa and a rescue helicopter lifted 17 persons, including three women, to safety ashore. Another 25 to 30 persons reported on board were remaining with the ship. They include the skipper.

Central Saanich Said No So Duncan Got Cougars

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — To shake paws with Tom and Oola is just as delightful as shaking hands with Dave and Lynn Hancock, a handsome young couple from Island View Beach, Central Saanich.

So Tom and Oola arrived Thursday afternoon at the Duncan Zoo and zoo keepers Jim and Tosca Oyen welcomed their charges.

For Dave and Lynn Hancock, the parting was sad.

When they returned to their Wildlife Research Station at Island View Beach, the two kittens whom they had nursed from small fluffy balls who hadn't opened their eyes were absent, and they said it was an empty feeling.

★ ★ ★

Tom and Oola will also be missed at Central Saanich by the young couple's fur seal and dog.

Lynn was teaching at Lord Kitchener School, Vancouver, and the young animals were raised at the school.

In turn, children took the kittens home to discover the wonderful world of wild animals.

When school ended for the summer, the Hancocks and their four cougars went to Central Saanich to establish the wildlife research station.

Both are keen promoters of conservation.

Tom and Oola's two sisters probably will become film stars. A film company at Los Angeles, Calif., bought them from the Hancocks.

The two young people will often come to Duncan to see their two cougars, the cats will miss them.

"Particularly Tom," Lynn Hancock mused, "He will miss us very much because he likes people better than animals."

We Couldn't Help Fire!

By S. McCONNELL BIRD

TOFINO — Everything possible was done to quell the fire.

It was too bad that it happened at this time, but these things do happen now and then.

We are all hoping that it won't stop the hoped-for-heavy tourist trade which would have come for the Labor Day weekend.

Business houses and accommodations have banked on this trade.

Special thanks to the firefighters for their splendid work and for so long hours, got very little sleep, but still they carried on so valiantly.

And to the B.C. hydro manager and crew, department of highways manager and all the workmen, all of whom worked untiringly to get the fire under control.

And they got the road open as soon as possible so people could get out.

To everyone who helped in any way to alleviate the closure of the road, and quell the fire, and help out with freight being brought in the area here, we say thanks a million.

★ ★ ★

The huge Sproat Lake fire came with the force of a traumatic shock to the people of Tofino and Ucluelet. Here one resident, Susie McConnell Bird, outlines her reaction to the summer of catastrophe.

★ ★ ★

And to all tourists and visitors we express our regret. This is the first time this has happened, and we hope it will never happen again.

★ ★ ★

But there is always a first time, and we hope you will visit us again and enjoy our scenery and lovely beaches, fresh fish and shell fish.

So do come.

We are as sorry it happened as you are, but we feel it was unavoidable as far as we can judge in our humble opinion and it may never happen again.

★ ★ ★

Other places in B.C. have had road closures owing to forest fires.

Do come and visit us again in the Tofino, Long Beach, Ucluelet areas. We will be glad to welcome you one and all.

★ ★ ★

Everyone feels badly about it. But fortunately no one was injured or hurt in any way.

Some suffered delays in getting home, we realize that, but we couldn't help it. And everything was done by the people of the area.

So please come and visit us.

'Chiang Too Corrupt'

Shoolingin

DUNCAN — The Cultural Revolution in China will collapse with Mao's death, said Dee Shoolingin.

A direct descendent of Tungunese Khans, his grandfather and father were wealthy Russian tea merchants in China.

Mr. Shoolingin was born in Tientsin, southeast of Peking 59 years ago and has been an ardent observer of happenings in China since his boyhood.

Since 1952 he has been mainly engaged in Canadian farming.

"I am sure the cultural revolution will collapse with Mao's death but this collapse must be exploited today by building up and supporting a rival who has more liberal ideas than Mao," he suggested.

Mr. Shoolingin, who has been close to Chinese people many years of his life, warned this person should not be Nationlist leader Chiang Kai Shek, "Because he and his family are too corrupt to be allowed to take over China's destiny again."

Mr. Shoolingin said Russian agents came to China soon after the Russian revolution, and worked with the people, gaining their confidence.

It was the beginning of China's long and confusing revolution.

The slow fermentation of the crumbling country which had become a republic in 1912, had started.

Russians Flee

In its wake, the Kuomintang armies under Chiang Kai-Shek broke with the Communists. China became weakened by civil war and hostilities with Japan, until finally in 1948, the Communist forces under Mao Tse-tung began to drive the nationist forces from the mainland.

Mrs. Shoolingin left China with fellow Russians in 1949, via the Philippines and the Dominican Republic. He and his family reached Canada in 1952.

He said the present wave of Chinese hostility is an attempt to bolster patriotism.

"All dictatorships have to have some scapegoat to maintain themselves in power.

"No dictator can stay in power unless he creates hatred, suspicion and fear among his people.

"It will take a long time to eradicate the cultural anarchy caused by the Mao ideology.

"It is very bad that the young people have accepted without criticism Mao's doctrines and have enmeshed themselves in a system devised by the Soviets in 1918."

Mr. Shoolingin pointed out that while the Russians have become more moderate since the last war, Mao is trying to do what Russia did in 1937 when a purge under Stalin claimed many lives.

"Mao cannot be successful, because unlike Stalin he does not have a tremendous net of secret police which ruthlessly exterminated all opposition.

"Mao tries the same with the masses, which in inadequate.

"Mao is not as ruthless as Stalin, who destroyed 2,000,000 fellow Communists."

Mr. Shoolingin still has one brother living in the family home at Tientsin.

"I get letter from him three or four times a year and maybe he'll be able to come to Canada when he's 65."

Band Maps Education

Cowichan Carpenters Await Housing Work

From a small beginning two years ago the Cowichan Band this year will offer eight different courses in conjunction with Cowichan school district's adult education program.

For the first time in the history of the Cowichan band some white people will be able to learn the native tongue of the Cowichans.

Commenting on the carpentry course Mrs. Phyllis Joe said "The course is for those with less than Grade 10 education who would like to qualify for carpenter's apprenticeship on the Cowichan Housing Program as well as all those interested in carpentry."

Urging Cowichan band members to participate in adult education Chief Dennis Alphonse said "I would like to see many of my people take advantage of this golden opportunity.

What a Way to Go!

PORT ALBERNI — This time the story of the fish that got away had a happy ending.

Jim Jones of 638 Josephine Street, Alberni, landed a large salmon on Franklin River and arrived happily back at the Port Alberni marina to weigh it in.

Delighted with a catch that obviously weighed over 40 pounds, he lugged up and on to the scale.

Air Canada Orders Seven

Stretch-Jets Coming

MONTREAL (UPI)—Air Canada Thursday announced that it has placed orders for seven additional jet aircraft worth almost $50,000,000 with the McDonnell-Douglas Aircraft Company of California.

These include four twin-engine DC-9-32s and three four-engine DC-8-63s. One of the DC-9-32s will be delivered in December of 1968, the other three in January, February and March, 1969. The three DC-8-63s will be delivered in February, March and April of 1969.

TRAFFIC GROWTH

The new aircraft have been purchased to meet expected traffic growth in the coming years.

The DC-9-32s, each capable of carrying 91 passengers, are extended versions of the standard DC-9, while the DC-8-63s are long-range, 189-passenger versions of the standard DC-8.

Air Canada's current fleet consists of 17 DC-8s, six DC-9s, four DC-9-32s, 23 Vickers Vanguards and 30 Vickers Viscounts, for a total of 80 turbine-powered aircraft.

'Soften Up' Claim In Sonic Booms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Residents of major U.S. cities are being subjected to "a public relations ploy" to soften up the public for supersonic transport flights, Representative Thomas M. Rees says.

The California Democrat said the air force is conducting sonic boom tests over Los Angeles, New York, San Francisco, Chicago, St. Louis and Indianapolis. He said flights are continuing although 564 complaints of damage have been received from Los Angeles residents since testing started July 10.

He said in a statement the U.S. Air Force contends the flights are needed to evaluate instrumentation on the SR-71 supersonic spy plane, but added that "under the guise of military necessity, the air force apparently is deliberately creating sonic booms to condition the public to accept supersonic noise and damage as a way of life."

Campus Friend Missing

VANCOUVER (CP)—"He's really very friendly," Dennis Roberts, information officer for Simon Fraser University, said Thursday. "But we can't find him anywhere."

Mr. Roberts said the university's missing friend answers to the name of Ivor, eats about three mice a day and stands five feet, six inches tall—if he stands at all.

Ivor disappeared Wednesday night and SFU officials think he's probably lost somewhere on the grounds.

"He might just be away between semesters," Mr. Roberts speculated.

Debray

CAMIRI, Bolivia (AP) — Jules Regis Debray, 26-year-old philosopher-journalist and son of a prominent Paris family, goes on trial next week, charged as a mastermind behind the growing Castro-type guerrilla movement in the mountains of Bolivia.

Debray, charged specifically with murder, arson, armed insurrection, conspiracy against the state and illegal entry into Bolivia, has said he is sure he will get the maximum sentence — 30 years — despite intercession by a wide circle of influential friends and intellectuals.

Reports that President de Gaulle of France and Pope Paul have put pressure on Bolivian authorities, although the amount of their intervention, if true, has never been announced.

Debray and two others were arrested April 20 in a community at the foot of the Bolivian Andes.

They agreed they were on their way down from a guerrilla camp but Debray, who had spent several weeks with the guerrillas, insisted he was on an assignment for a Mexican magazine.

British photographer George Andrew Roth was released. The third man, Argentine painter Ciro Roberto Bustos, a Communist who entered the country on a forged passport, but said he had barged into the guerrilla camp by mistake, was also held for trial.

Gen. Alfredo Ovando, commander-in-chief of Bolivia's armed forces, has called Debray an "advance agent" for the guerrillas, who operate between Camiri, 360 miles southeast of the capital of La Paz, and Santa Cruz, an important sugar and oil producing centre. So far, they have not been considered a threat to the government.

Partly, it is Debray's illustrious background that has helped draw such wide attention to the trial, the public portion of which is expected to commence Sept. 7.

The sandy-haired Debray, whose father is a wealthy lawyer and whose mother is a member of the Paris city council, won top academic honors throughout his schooling.

Regarded as a leading intellectual of the left in France, he became interested in politics during the Algerian war for independence from France and later went to Cuba where he developed an intense interest in Latin America.

He taught at the University of Havana, became close to Castro and recently produced Revolution in the Revolution — essentially a textbook for Latin American revolutionaries.

In it, Debray argues that the classic Marxian theories of revolution must be changed and updated for Latin America and contends guerrilla movements such as Castro's will bring change to Latin America, Africa and Asia in the next 15 years.

Announcement of Debray's arrest brought protests from the French ambassador and demands from some French newspapers that guerrilla correspondents should be granted the same status as war correspondents.

Speedy Skiing Race Makes Debut Monday

Top distance skiers from the west coast of the U.S. will be highballing into Victoria Monday morning in the first annual Lions International Open Water Ski Race.

Sponsored by the Port Angeles Lions Club, the race is expected to attract 20 or 25 entries in the two classes — boats under 35 miles an hour and boats over 35 miles an hour, unlimited.

100 MILES AN HOUR

One of the skiers, Wally Pannebaker of Port Angeles, is no stranger to fast skiing, having done more than 100 miles an hour behind the unlimited hydroplane Slo-Mo IV of Seattle.

Two other well-known skiers are Dr. Lew West of Seattle and Don Ibsen of Port Angeles. Other entries are expected from California, Seattle and Bellingham.

QUICK STOPOVER

Leaving Port Angeles at 8:15 a.m., the skiers are expected to start arriving at the foot of Mary Street in Victoria West before 9. They will be timed at this end and will be guests later of the Esquimalt Lions Club.

Takeoff time for the return lap of the 38-mile round trip will be at 9:30 a.m.

G. B. Corke Funeral Saturday

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Saturday in Fairfield United Church for G. B. Corke, 93, of 5087 Lochside, who died Thursday.

Born in London, England, Mr. Corke emigrated to Canada on a "low-fare, guaranteed-job excursion" at 28 years of age.

He was with a wholesale firm in Winnipeg for 40 years, much of that time as secretary-treasurer. He moved to Victoria in 1951.

Surviving are three of his six children: two daughters, Mrs. J. E. Warren of 5065 Cordova Bay Road and Mrs. W. J. McCord of Winnipeg, and a son, Ben, of Belleville, Ont.; two sisters in England, 17 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

No Name, No Vote In 1968

Esquimalt residents who wish to have their names included on the 1967-68 list of electors must fill in a declaration form within a month.

The names of property owners are automatically included in the list, but Canadian citizens or other British subjects over 21 years of age may be included by declaration.

Forms are available at the Esquimalt municipal hall, and must be filled in and returned to clerk J. W. Allan at the hall before 5 p.m. Sept. 30.

Navy League Back at Work

The Admiral Rayner Navy League Cadet Corps will begin training at 6:45 p.m. Wednesday in Rainbow Barracks at the foot of Robert Street.

Boys between 11 and 13 years wishing to join the corps are to report at the barracks on opening night.

CHINESE DUEL WITH CANNON

HONG KONG (UPI) — Fierce artillery duels were reported today to have been raging for the past two days in Canton between a regular army division and mutinous brigades in the city's outskirts.

In a related development, pro-Mao top military leaders in Peking called on the Chinese army to play an even bigger role in the raging power struggle, Peking radio said.

The radio report coincided with newspaper accounts in Hong Kong, quoting recent arrivals, that told of the military clash in the major southern Chinese city.

DELAYED FLIGHTS

The arrivals reported that troops of the 47th Army, sent to Canton by order of Peking, mounted an attack against rebels entrenched at the Pai-Wan-Shan (White Cloud Hills) area near the Canton airport.

The right-wing English daily, The Hong Kong Standard, quoted the arrivals as saying the fierce artillery duels delayed the departure of two planes sent by Premier Chou En-lai to bring more leaders of two major opposing Red Guard groups to Peking for a "peace conference."

The Peking broadcast said the military leaders appealed to the army to take "urgent measures" to protect Red Guards from anti-Mao elements and at the same time improve military-civilian relations in the year-old cultural revolution.

BLOOD BATH

Reports in Hong Kong Thursday told of a "blood bath" in the central Chinese city of Chengchow where opponents of Mao besieged a militia unit.

The "combat bulletin" of the Honan Red Guards, received Thursday in Hong Kong, said many supporters of Mao were burned or beaten to death.

$50,000 Position Beckons Minister

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Pickersgill is reported to be planning to leave the cabinet to become the first $50,000-a-year president of the Canadian Transport Commission, a still-to-be-formed federal agency set up by Parliament last winter.

an informant close to the minister said Thursday an announcement to this effect is expected before Parliament opens its fall session Sept. 25.

The new commission is to combine the present responsibilities of the board of transport commissioners, the Air Transport Board and the Canadian maritime commission.

Lunch-Stroll Welfare Showdown

Indians Snag Bennett

By IAN STREET
Legislative Reporter

An aroused delegation from the Cowichan Indian reserve confronted Premier Bennett Thursday on the lawns in front of the legislative buildings.

They told the premier they wanted the same social welfare services other residents of B.C. receive and felt they were entitled to them because Indians who live on reserves pay provincial taxes.

The premier, obviously taken by surprise, said as long as the Indians chose to live on federal reserves, the province could not act on their demands.

DISCUSSED WEATHER

Mr. Bennett was on his way to lunch at the Union Club when the group of Indian women caught up with him. The premier told reporters who arrived on the scene a few minutes later that he had discussed the weather.

When pressed, Mr. Bennett said: "I'm on my way to lunch, my friend. Do you mind?"

Mrs. Mary Thorne of Duncan said she told the premier Indians living on reserves paid all taxes and therefore felt entitled to full social welfare benefits from the province.

MET DEPUTY

"Mr. Bennett didn't seem very interested," said Mrs. Thorne. "He said if we choose to live on federal reserves then the province was already doing all that it could do for us."

Earlier, the delegation had a meeting with deputy welfare minister Ray Rickinson and received some satisfaction.

Mr. Rickinson promised to send a social worker to the reserve on a "project basis" to assess the needs of the Indians living there and assist them where possible.

OUT OF LINE

From B.C. Indian Commissioner J. V. Boys, the delegation received an assurance that federal authorities would investigate their charges of discrepancies in welfare payments

Polaris Sub In Collision

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI)—The Polaris-armed submarine Simon Bolivar scraped the bottom of a navy cargo ship Thursday while running submerged on a torpedo practice mission in the Atlantic Ocean 70 miles southeast of Charleston.

None of the 309 officers and men aboard the Bolivar and the USS Betelgeuse were hurt in the collision. Both ships made it on their own power to their home port at Charleston.

YUCCA FLAT, Nev. (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed Thursday "a minor release of radioactivity" was detected following an underground nuclear test.

Papers For Dief?

TORONTO (CP) — Papers which would allow the nomination of John Diefenbaker as a candidate in the Progressive Conservative party's leadership race have been issued by the leadership convention headquarters here.

A convention official said Thursday the nomination papers were picked up Tuesday by Keith Martin, co-chairman of the Youth-for-Dief committee. Mr. Martin declined to say who the papers were for.

Train Robbers Grab $80,000

MONTREAL (CP)—Two armed men overpowered a baggage car employee aboard the CNR's Scotian passenger train near Montreal Thursday and escaped with an estimated $80,000.

They entered the baggage car from the passenger section of the 17-car train, handcuffed the single employee on duty, shoved a woollen sock in his mouth and taped his mouth.

The baggage car employee, Marcel Poisson, 41, of Charny, Que., said the men jumped him while the train was passing through Beloeil, about 20 miles southeast of Montreal.

"I couldn't see whether they were young or old," he said in an interview. "It all happened too fast. They wouldn't let me face them."

He said the men gagged and handcuffed him, pushed him to the floor and put a coat over his head.

It was not known where the men boarded the train, bound from Halifax to Montreal. The first stop before Beloeil was St. Hyacinthe, about 12 miles down the track.

FOUND GAGGED

None of the passengers on the train or the other employees were aware of the robbery, the spokesman said.

The baggage car was just behind the engine.

Workman Killed By 12,000 Volts

WOODSTOCK, N.B. (UPI) — Edward Jewett of Dubec was electrocuted Thursday when 12,000 volts shot through his body as he touched a power line, working on a housing project.

RAIN!

Holiday Weekend Wet One

The long Labor Day weekend may be a wet one if the weatherman's crystal ball has not been cracked by the heat.

The Gonzales weather office forecasts rain today, and the Seattle weatherman's five-day prediction is for more than normal rainfall before Tuesday.

Victoria's traffic officers are keeping their fingers crossed and say the first hour will be the worst. That's how long it will take to clean the road film from the streets.

ROADS SLIPPERY

During that first hour, the roads will be slippery and accidents are bound to happen.

But many may be avoided, says city traffic inspector Richard Berry, if motorists use their heads.

Thatcher

Thatcher Calling Election?

REGINA (CP)—The Leader-Post says Premier Ross Thatcher is expected to issue an announcement Saturday concerning a Saskatchewan provincial election.

The newspaper said rumors were strengthened Thursday by a report that election proclamations have been prepared.

Arctic 'Aqaba' Turns Back U.S. Ice Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) The United States has halted a voyage by two U.S. icebreakers across the Arctic in a dispute with the Soviet Union over passage through the northern waters, the U.S. state department announced Thursday.

A strong protest has been launched with the Kremlin, the state department added, accusing the Soviety Union of denying to U.S. vessels their rights under international law and frustrating an important scientific mission.

At issue is whether the Vilkitsky Straits between the Soviet island of Severnaya Zemlya and the Soviet coast is an international passageway — as the United States claims — or Soviet territorial water, as Moscow contends.

The legal issue resembles in some ways the question over the Gulf of Aqaba, whose announced blockade by Egypt triggered the June war between Israel and its Arab neighbors.

'Must Take Risk'

Senators Demand Bombing Step-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — An immediate increase in bombing of all important military targets in North Vietnam—even if it risks war with China—was recommended unanimously Thursday by the U.S. Senate's preparedness subcommittee.

In an interim report sharply critical of Defence Secretary Robert McNamara, the senators asked closing of the key North Vietnamese supply port of Haiphong and bombing of all other meaningful military targets in an effort to shorten the costly war.

McNamara testified before the subcommittee last week that increased bombing could not by itself win or shorten the war and that the final victory must be won by ground forces in South Vietnam.

The subcommittee report said: "We cannot, in good conscience, ask our ground forces to continue their fight in South Vietnam unless we are prepared to pres the air war in the North in the most effective way possible.

"What is needed now is the herd decision to, whatever is necessary, take the risks that have to be taken, and apply the force that is required to see the job through."

Tory Credentials Go to 86 'Thinkers'

OTTAWA (CP) — Credentials for 86 disputed delegates to the Progressive Conservative leadership convention next week have been issued, informants said here Thursday.

The information was confirmed by Conservative national director Dr. James Johnston, who said he learned of the accreditation Wednesday, adding that he will challenge the action at Sunday's meeting of the convention committee.

* * *

The 86 were listed by convention headquarters as delegates from the Montmorency Falls, Que., policy advisory conference held by the party early this month in preparation for the convention.

Dr. Johnston submitted a formal protest last Friday stating that a large number of the "thinker's conference" delegates selected favored one particular candidate among the nine men and two women at present in the running.

Following protests from Dr. Johnston and agents for several of the candidates, convention headquarters advised party members who made inquiries that the credentials had already been issued.

* * *

"I have been told that I should refer the protest to the convention committee," Dr. Johnston said. "That is what I did in the first place when copies of my protest were sent to the 25 members of the committee and to the leadership candidates.

"Despite this, the credentials have been shipped."

He said there are "enough votes in that 86 to throw the convention." He declined to say to whom.

"Unknown hands have compiled a list of 86 people and the credentials have been sent. The convention committee now is expected to ratify this action. "I do not intend to."

* * *

He said the committee must decide who has power to make such appointments and how many may be appointed. The qualifications of those selected must be set out.

"Whatever the committee decides has to be acceptable as well to a plenary session of the convention," he added.

Rocks in Familiar Spot As 0-2 Series Trailers

They are down two games to nil in the finals of the Inter-City Lacrosse League after dropping an 8-6 decision to Vancouver Carlings at Memorial Arena last night.

Just as it did in the semi-final, when Coquitlam Adanacs took a 2-0 lead only to lose three in a row, the series now looks as if it might be a short one although the Rocks this time have to lose four times before being eliminated.

PLAY SATURDAY

They play again in Kerrisdale tomorrow night and back here next Tuesday, but unless the Shamrocks find a way to get around the bigger Carlings, they can start thinking about next year.

Vancouver out-muscled and out-hustled the Rocks and showed a lot more poise. Although they slowed down in the second period when the rocks got close, Carlings took control of the game again in the final period, and but for a great last period in goal by Barry Forbes, the spread would have been much bigger.

QUICK GOAL

Quite a few of the 3,047 fans were still looking for their seats when the first goal came.

Vancouver lost the draw, one of the few in the game, Jack Shower was left unmarked and walked in on Skip Chapman, the Carlings' goalie.

Showers shot from the doorstep and hit Chapman on the foot. The rebound came out to Sid Warick, who cut down the left boards, fed a pass to Gord Leibscher, who fed Gary Stevens in the clear.

The second shot of the game was in the nets, and Carlings were never to trail.

GOT FIRST BACK

Bob Salt was the marksman, and the Carls scored three more times on individual efforts before the period was over to take a 5-2 lead.

BIG GOAL

Vancouver's Dennis Nagy was left unchecked, picked off a pass from Leibacher and scored from the doorstep to put Carls ahead, 6-2, at 5:09 of the second period.

Shamrocks started to come on from this point and enjoyed their first edge in end-to-end play.

IN CONTENTION

Ted Leibich and Jack Showers combined on a stop-and-go-play at 12:44 to close the gap to 6-4, and when Jim McNeill scored on the odd-man play at 15:42 to put Shamrocks to within one goal at 6-5 they had the momentum that, except for a lot of bad shooting, could have turned the game around.

Leibscher, a pest all night, gave Carlings a two-goal lead at 16:08 when he scored from 15 feet to give his club a 7-5 lead for the last period.

Carlings bounced back again in the final period and time and time again were in all alone on Forbes, who came up with some phenomenal saves.

Shamrocks were not all together out of it. They had their moments too in the last period. McNeill, twice, Leibich and Ron Zilkie hit goal posts in the last ten minutes with the score at 7-6. But a penalty to Reg Foster at 17:41 gave Vancouver the chance to control the ball.

Shamrocks came out of the game without any injuries and Coach Dave Unwin, who felt the game was lost by his club's poor shooting, hopes to have his little pepperpot, Nirmal Dillon, back in strip for the next game.

White Sox Dump Leaders

Three Challengers Move In

It got closer in the American League pennant race yesterday as both Chicago White Sox and Minnesota Twins gained a full game on the leading Boston Red Sox and the idle Detroit Tigers moved a half game nearer.

Only a game and a half separated the four clubs after the White Sox had knocked off the Red Sox, 4-2, and Minnesota had squeezed out a 10-9 win over Baltimore Orioles.

Boston and Chicago meet again today while Detroit opens a series on Minnesota's home grounds.

ROOKIE STARS

Cisco Carlos, a White Sox rookie, held Boston hitless for six innings but yielded two seventh inning runs to give the Red Sox a 2-1 lead.

That brought relief for the youngster, who missed the loss when home runs by Tommy Agee, who led off with his, and Pete Ward, who hit his after a two-out error put Rocky Colavito on base, brought the White Sox three eighth-inning runs and victory.

PINCH-HITTER CLICKS

Twins had to score two ninth-inning runs to take the Orioles, who scored three times in the top of the ninth, doubles by Boog Powell and Dave Johnson and a two-out home run by Curt Blefary.

Cesar Tovar started the Twins back by beating out an infield single and pinch-hitter Rich Rollins took them the rest of the way by driving the ball into the bullpen at the 410-foot mark.

CARDS MARCH ON

Meanwhile, Orlando Cepeda led St. Louis Cardinals a bit closer to the National League pennant and furnished more evidence of being the league's most valuable player.

Cepeda hit his 24th home run, scored twice, drive in a run with a sacrifice fly and stole a base as the Cardinals nipped past Houston Astros, 4-1, to hold their lead at 10 games with 23 left to play.

Cincinnati Reds remained in second place as rookie John Bench drove in two runs with a double — his second major league hit — in a 3-1 win over San Francisco Giants.

Jim Maloney, pitching a four-hitter, got the victory with Mike McCormick, who had a 25-inning scoreless streak ended when Lee May hit a second-inning home run, taking his seventh defeat in 25 decisions.

PINCH-HITTERS WIN

Pinch-hitter Al Spangler kept Chicago Cubs within 11 games with an 11th-inning single which beat New York Mets, 2-1. And another pinch-hitter, Rico Carty won one for Atlanta Braves, hitting an eighth-inning double which drove in the tying and winning runs in a 5-4 triumph over Los Angeles Dodgers.

Nicklaus Earnings $178,854

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus's $50,000 Westchester Classic win Wednesday pushed him to the top of golf's money winners, figures released Thursday by Professional Golfers Association officials show.

Huyke's Single Beats Portland

VANCOUVER—Woody Huyke's two-run single in the bottom of the ninth inning gave the Vancouver Mounties a come-from-behind victory over Portland Beavers Thursday in the first game of a crucial three-game series in Vancouver.

Mounties moved to within a half game of the Western Division leading Beavers with the win in the tight Pacific Coast Baseball League race.

Pirate Star Ends Career

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Pirates has announced the retirement of veteran right-hander Vernon Law, who pitched two victories in Pittsburgh's 1960 World Series baseball triumph.

Law, 37, had a record of 162-147 in 16 seasons with the Pirates.

Daffodil Cup Race Offers Big Chance to Rasmussen

Eldon Rasmussen from Edmonton has been a man in a hurry for a long time but Victoria fans can expect him to be trying even harder than usual during the Daffodil Cup races at Western Speedway Saturday and Monday.

Depending on his showing, Rasmussen may get another crack at the United States Auto Club circuit which includes the Indianapolis 500.

HE'LL BE WATCHED

Watching from the stands will be veteran modified owner Jim Heyhoe of Portland, who has recently purchased a rear-engined Offenhauser championship car.

Heyhoe took his car to the USAC races in Milwaukee last weekend but Bruce Walkup, one of the top sprint drivers from California, wasn't able to qualify it.

Rassmussen wants another try in the big circuit badly and should be tough to beat in the Daffodil Cup chase. He won the first race in 1961 and with the late Billy Foster is the only double winner, repeating in 1965.

Other drivers who have made the USAC circuit after competing at the Daffodil Cup are Foster, Art Pollard, who ran in 1961, and Jim Malloy, the 1964 champion who now drives for Victoria's Grant King.

The Daffodil Cup race, which is sanctioned by the Canadian American Modified Racing Association, is a two-day event and will likely have a record entry.

Speedway manager Reg Midgley expects more than 40 cars to compete. Among the entrants are defending champion Norm Ellefson and Victoria's Al Smith.

CLASSY FIELD

Speedway president Geoff Vantreight attended the Copper Cup races in Salt Lake City recently and has convinced the top four drivers in that circuit to attend the meet.

Coming, in the order of current point standings, are Mel Andrus, Dick Card, Dick Simon and Terry Nish.

Nish, who competed here two years ago, also competes in California.

Chuck Neitzel of Boise, Idaho, a previous performer in Victoria, won the Copper Cup and will be trying for his first Daffodil Cup championship.

RICH WEEKEND

One reason that Midgley expects such a large entry is that at least $12,000 in prize money is available for the modified drivers in B.C. during a four-day period.

There is a meet tonight in Langley and races will be held Sunday at Nanaimo.

British Champ Leading Fog-Bound Amateur Meet

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Fog, as thick as the mud under foot, proved only a minor handicap to Bob Dickson of McAlester, Okla., as he slogged his way to a three-stroke lead Thursday in the weather-pocked first round of the United States amateur golf tournament.

PLAY STOPPED

Three times during the murky day, play was halted because of weather conditions. Fog and 44-degree temperature were the reasons for the 90-minute stoppage in the morning. Two more interruptions came late in the day when a fog blanket covered six of the middle holes, including the 10th.

COWAN STARTS WELL

Two 18-hole rounds Saturday, weather permitting, will determine the successor to Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., as U.S. amateur champion.

Cowan was among those unable to finish Thursday's round. He was two under for eight holes.

Next to Dickson came Marty Fleckman with a 74 that included four three-putt greens "because my hands were so cold I didn't know at times that I was holding a putter."

Ron Cerrudo of San Francisco, who had to borrow a No. 8 club when he broke his own, splashed home with a 75. He seemed most disturbed because of three-putting the 17th hole from 20 feet, also blaming the cold.

Ti-Cats Cut Veterans

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Eastern Football Conference have released two veterans to make room for two cuts from National and American Football League teams.

City Sailor Is Seventh

MONTREAL—Clifford Campbell of Beechwood, N.J., won the Mallory Cup Thursday by edging out Eddie Botterell of Montreal in the eigth and final race of the North American senior sailing championships.

Racquet Club Honors Six

Six youngsters were singled out for special awards yesterday as the two-month junior tennis development program came to an end at the Victoria Racquet Club.

Winners of the awards which went to the four deemed to have shown the most progress and sportsmanship were Jay Kayll, John Dowling, Elizabeth Angus and Wendy Copeland.

Highest scores in the weekly round-robin which was part of the program were registered by Larry Straith and Brian Ayres. About 300 youngsters were enrolled.

Meet the Steelers

Terry Durham

* * *

Quarterback Eyes Pro Grid Career

One of the players who hopes that the Continental Football League will provide him with the experience to make professional football a career is 22-year-old Terry Durham, who'll likely be doing some of the quarterbacking for Victoria Steelers tomorrow night in their home opener against Seattle Rangers.

LINFIELD STAR

A six-foot, two-inch 200-pounder, Durham had a standout college career with Linfield College in McMinnville, Ore., after starring with Mcinnville High School.

At Linfield, where his Dad, Paul, is head coach, Durham earned honorable mention in his last season when it came time to select the All-American team from the National Association of Inter-collegiate Athletics and he led Linfield to the NAII final in 1965.

BIGGEST THRILL

His biggest thrill at Linfield came in the NAII semi-final against Sul Ross of Texas. His club was trailing, 13-27, in the fourth quarter and pulled out a 30-27 win.

Durham got one touchdown on a running play, passed for the tying touchdown late in the quarter and then Linfield got the ball back on a successful onside kick.

Linfield got within field-goal distance and won it with a three-pointer about 45 seconds from time.

TRIED BY BEARS

Durham was at the training camp of the Chicago Bears for three weeks this summer, and then turned out with Eugene Bombers before coming to Victoria.

He has mainly been a drop-back passer but is willing and, he believes, able to roll out and run or pass as circumstances dictate. He just wants to play.

"Yes," he said to a question, "it is my ambition to play pro football."

Harris Wins

Greens Will Worry

WOODBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) — The huge rolling greens at the Board of Trade Golf course are providing the greatest challenge for the 152 professional golfers who will tee off today in the $200,000 world golf championship.

"They're fast and they're tricky," said Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., after playing the first nine holes in a practice round Thursday.

LOTS OF THEM

"The rolls aren't that hard to figure, but there are so many of them that it's difficult to see them all."

The par-71 course winds and dips over 7,024 yards of hills and valleys. Most of the fairways run north and south and were subjected to a 20-mile-an-hour north wind Thursday.

Bob Cox of Vancouver said it made the course a "bit rougher."

"Most of us will get as much practice as we can today in case the wind keeps up during the tournament."

WILL CHANGE

Although the wind will probably die down or change before the end of the four-day tournament, the greens could only get rougher.

"They're fast right now," said Tim McCutcheon of Peterborough, Ont. McCutcheon, 16, who is caddying for Rod Funseth of Spokane, Wash., was the 1966 Canadian juvenile golf champion and the low qualifier at this year's Canadian junior championship.

"The pros seem to be having the most trouble with the tricky rolls and I'm sure they'd all quit if the greens are shaved during the tournament."

EVERYONE READY

The entire field of professionals had arrived for a practice session by mid-afternoon Thursday. A number of competitors have been here since early in the week and the remainder, including Arnold Palmer, arrived after the windup of the Westchester Classic at Rye, N.Y., Wednesday night.

GAIN RICH PRIZES

The tournament, with first-place prize money of $35,000, is the richest annual golf tournament in the world. The Westchester Classic awards the winner $50,000 from the $250,000 pot but it was played for the first time in 1967 and is not yet considered an annual tournament.

Palmer is considered the favorite to walk away with top money here.

Gets New Job

Whitey Ford, who retired as a pitcher earlier this season, will remain with New York Yankees next year as their first-base coach. Since his retirement because of arm trouble in May.

Faloney, Defence Lead Lions In 22-13 Comeback Victory

WINNIPEG—B.C. Lions scored their first Canadian Football League victory of the season here Thursday night, defeating Winnipeg Blue Bombers, 22-13,, with a spectacular second-half recovery which featured quarterback Bernie Faloney as the master of old and a defensive team which resembled the "Headhunters" of 1964.

Coming as it did after the Lions had probably played their most inept 25 minutes of a 0-5 season, the comeback literally startled the Bombers and their 17,429 fans.

Without Kenny Ploen but with the Lions playing horrible football, the Bombers had a 13-0 lead under Bill Van Burkleo before the game was 18 minutes old.

But the Lions managed a touchdown two minutes from the end of the half to get to 7-13, scored the second and third times they got the ball in the third quarter, just missed again to settle for a single and then clinched it with a sensational goal-line stand.

After Faloney had failed to move the club, Pete Ohler went in at quarterback and things just got worse for the Lions, who had a minus offence after about 20 minutes of play.

NIELSEN STARS

Meanwhile, Van Burkleo and Kenny Nielsen, who seemed headed for a new record with the first seven Winnipeg receptions seemed to be all the Bombers needed.

Nielsen and Van Burkleo combined for a 21-yard touchdown play in the first quarter, then Nielsen took a three-yard pass for the second Bomber touchdown in the first minute of the second.

AIR STRIKES

It started late in the second quarter with the Lions 41 yards when Leroy Sledge took a 17-yard pass. Three plays later, Faloney hit Jim Young on second down with a 12-yard touchdown pass.

Ted Gerela made the first of his three converts and it was 7-13 at the half.

A NEW CREW

It looked only a flurry at the time, but it was a different B.C. team in the second half.

Lions stopped the Bombers cold the first two times they got the ball, got started when Craig Murray ran a punt back to the Winnipeg 35.

Faloney took them over in three plays, missing his first pass but then hitting Paul Burleson for 12 yards and Sledge for the last 23.

Lions got the ball back quickly, then went 65 yards in eight plays, getting 64 of them in the air as Faloney completed four of five passes, the long one a 40-yarder to Sledge. Eilmes crushed over for the last yard.

THE CLINCHER

Dave Raimey was thrown for a one-yard loss on the first play, a pass was fended off on the second and Raimey, who tried both ends as he found no opening, was hauled to the ground on the 30.

The first time, Lions successfully held off against three passes. The second time they got the ball back on the first play as linebacker Dwayne Czupka intercepted a pass knocked into the air at the line of scrimmage.

Lions, who had minus 27 yards rushing in the first half and 59 yards passing, wound up with 247 passing yards as Faloney went 14 for 21 in the game and nine for 13 in the second half.

Medical Rematch In Seniors' Final

The bustling Victorian, who has already won the Canadian and British Columbia senior championships this year, swept into the finals of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament yesterday by defeating medalist Lee Steil of Seattle, 6-5, in one semifinal at the Victoria Golf Club.

UPSETS GIVAN

It gave Dr. Aspray a chance for some revenge. He lost to Dr. Bigelow in the final last season, 3 and 2, after eliminating Steil in the final.

Dr. Aspray made it again yesterday on the 20th hole, where Givan caught a trap with his tee shot, exploded over the green and wound up with a bogey four which lost to Dr. Aspray's par.

Celtic to Shoot For World Title

GLASGOW — Glasgow Celtic, the European champion, and Racing od Argentina, the South American champion, will play a two-game series for the world title this month.

First game will be in Glasgow on Sept. 20 and the second game in Buenos Aires on Sept. 27. If there is a point tie after the two games, the series will be decided in a third game to be played in Santiago, Chili, within three days after the Buenos Aires game.

Dates and sites still have to be confirmed by the European and South American soccer associations but no change is expected.

TRIP RANGERS

Celtics added another big victory on Wednesday by defeating Glasgow Rangers, 3-1, to reach the Scottish League cup quarter-finals.

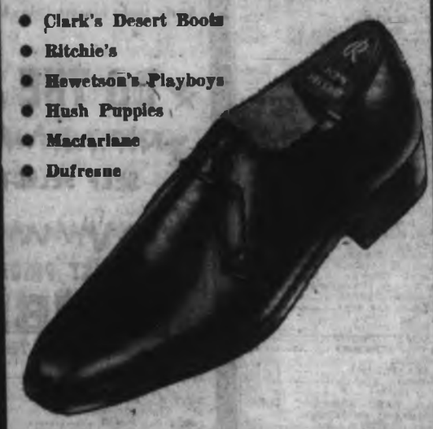

Rangers had a 1-0 lead after half-time, just missed a goal after resumption of play when a shot hit the cross-bar and then missed a penalty kick.

Cowichan Carpenters Await Housing Work

From a small beginning two years ago the Cowichan Band this year will offer eight different courses in conjunction with Cowichan school district's adult education program.

Alphonse

For the first time in the history of the Cowichan band some white people will be able to learn the native tongue of the Cowichans.

* * *

Commenting on the carpentry course Mrs. Phyllis Joe said "The course is for those with less than Grade 10 education who would like to qualify for carpenter's apprenticeship on the Cowichan Housing Program as well as all those interested in carpentry."

Urging Cowichan band members to participate in adult education Chief Dennis Alphonse said "I would like to see many of my people take advantage of this golden opportunity.

Night School Draws Crowd

DUNCAN — The biggest adult education program in the history of the Cowichan School District will start this month with a total of 120 subjects.

* * *

Thorburn

He started last year. "I appeal to people in this area to take full advantage of the tremendous program we are offering this year.

"I especially want to remind people who complain of lack of cultural outlets in this area that the program covers a wide range of recreational activities."

Academic classes will start in mid-September. The main body of vocational and cultural courses will begin in the first week of October.

Some of this year's highlights available will be university courses, English 300 and sociology 200 in co-operation with the University of Victoria.

Office Staff Needed

Adults will be able to complete high school or upgrade their education for job promotion.

Students will have 250 hours of instruction and will attend three nights a week.

They will write and produce a television program.

Mr. Thorburn said "It is probably the first night school venture of its kind in Canada.

Island Scene

Halliday

Doug Halliday, Duncan drugstore owner, is selling quite a few movie cameras to tourists. Several have mentioned that their main reason is to capture on film the beautiful scenery of the Cowichan district . . . Tom Barnet, MP for the Comox-Alberni region of the Island, has been told by the Transport Department that the CBC radio booster station and TV rebroadcasting station at Ucluelet won't be built for several months. The radio booster is scheduled for next January, the TV rebroadcasting facilities for next summer. The West Coast Community TV Association station on Mount Frederick has been licensed with the callsign CKUP TV-1 Ucluelet.

Boy and Bike Hit in Crash

ALBERNI — A 12-year-old Alberni boy suffered a broken leg Thursday night when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a truck.

Terrence Seitcheher of 513 Elizabeth was riding his bicycle at 10th and Bird at 8:45 p.m. when he was struck by a Phoenix Terrace Restaurant vehicle driven by employee Jimmy Quan.

Wednesday night, a reared collision in downtown Campbell River sent Mrs. John Ritchie to hospital overnight.

Central Saanich Said No So Duncan Got Cougars

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — To shake paws with Tom and Oola is just as delightful as shaking hands with Dave and Lynn Hancock, a handsome young couple from Island View Beach, Central Saanich.

Duncan Zoo

So Tom and Oola arrived Thursday afternoon at the Duncan Zoo and zoo keepers Jim and Tosca Oyen welcomed their charges.

For Dave and Lynn Hancock, the parting was sad.

When they returned to their Wildlife Research Station at Island View Beach, the two kittens whom they had nursed fromm small fluffy balls who hadn't opened their eyes were absent, and they said it was an empty feeling.

Tom and Oola will also be missed at Central Saanich by the young couple's fur seal and dog.

School Holidays

In turn, children took the kittens home to discover the wonderful world of wild animals.

When school ended for the summer, the Hancocks and their four cougars went to Central Saanich to establish the wildlife research station.

Both are keen promoters of conservation.

Tom and Oola's two sisters probably will become film stars. A film company at Los Angeles, Calif., bought them from the Hancocks.

The two young people will often come to Duncan to see their two cougars, the cats will miss them.

"Particularly Tom," Lynn Hancock mused, "He will miss us very much because he likes people better than animals."

'Chiang Too Corrupt'

DUNCAN — The Cultural Revolution in China will collapse with Mao's death, said Dee Shoolingin.

A direct descendent of Tungunese Khans, his grandfather and father were wealthy Russian tea merchants in China.

Mr. Shoolingin was born in Tientsin, southeast of Peking 59 years ago and has been an ardent observer of happenings in China since his boyhood.

Since 1952 he has been mainly engaged in Canadian farming.

"I am sure the cultural revolution will collapse with Mao's death but this collapse must be exploited today by building up and supporting a rival who has more liberal ideas than Mao," he suggested.

Mr. Shoolingin, who has been close to Chinese people many years of his life, warned this person should not be Nationlist leader Chiang Kai Shek, "Because he and his family are too corrupt to be allowed to take over China's destiny again."

Mr. Shoolingin said Russian agents came to China soon after the Russian revolution, and worked with the people, gaining their confidence.

It was the beginning of China's long and confusing revolution.

Shoolingin

crumbling country which had become a republic in 1912, had started.

Russians Flee

In its wake, the Kuomintang armies under Chiang Kai-Shek broke with the Communists. China became weakened by civil war and hostilities with Japan until finally in 1948, the Communist forces under Mao Tse-tung began to drive the nationist forces from the mainland.

Mrs. Shoolingin left China with fellow Russians in 1949, via the Philippines and the Dominican Republic. He and his family reached Canada in 1952.

He said the present wave of Chinese hostility is an attempt to bolster patriotism.

"All dictatorships have to have some scapegoat to maintain themselves in power.

"No dictator can stay in power unless he creates hatred, suspicion and fear among his people.

"It will take a long time to eradicate the cultural anarchy caused by the Mao ideology.

"It is very bad that the young people have accepted without criticism Mao's doctrines and have enmeshed themselves in a system devised by the Soviets in 1918."

Mr. Shoolingin pointed out that while the Russians have become more moderate since the last war, Mao is trying to do what Russia did in 1937 when a purge under Stalin claimed many lives.

"Mao cannot be successful, because unlike Stalin he does not have a tremendous net of secret police which ruthlessly exterminated all opposition.

"Mao tries the same with the masses, which in inadequate.

"Mao is not as ruthless as Stalin, who destroyed 2,000,000 fellow Communists."

Mr. Shoolingin still has one brother living in the family home at Tientsin.

"I get letter from him three or four times a year and maybe he'll be able to come to Canada when he's 65."

We Couldn't Help Fire!

By S. McCONNELL BIRD

The huge Sproat Lake fire came with the force of a traumatic shock to the people of Tofino and Ucluelet. Here one resident, Susie McConnell Bird, outlines her reaction to the summer of catastrophe.

* * *

TOFINO — Everything possible was done to quell the fire.

It was too bad that it happened at this time, but these things do happen now and then.

We are all hoping that it won't stop the hoped-for-heavy tourist trade which would have come for the Labor Day weekend.

* * *

Business houses and accommodations have banked on this trade.

Special thanks to the firefighters for their splendid work and for so long hours, got very little sleep, but still they carried on so valiantly.

And to the B.C. hydro manager and crew, department of highways manager and all the workmen, all of whom worked untiringly to get the fire under control.

* * *

And they got the road open as soon as possible so people could get out.

To everyone who helped in any way to alleviate the closure of the road, and quell the fire, and help out with freight being brought in the area here, we say thanks a million.

* * *

And to all tourists and visitors we express our regret. This is the first time this has happened, and we hope it will never happen again.

* * *

But there is always a first time, and we hope you will visit us again and enjoy our scenery and lovely beaches, fresh fish and shell fish.

So do come.

We are as sorry it happened as you are, but we feel it was unavoidable as far as we can judge in our humble opinion and it may never happen again.

* * *

Other places in B.C. have had road closures owing to forest fires.

Do come and visit us again in the Tofino, Long Beach, Ucluelet areas. We will be glad to welcome you one and all.

* * *

Everyone feels badly about it. But fortunately no one was injured or hurt in any way.

Some suffered delays in getting home, we realize that, but we couldn't help it. And everything was done by the people of the area.

So please come and visit us.

Twice Got Once Shy

PORT ALBERNI — This time the story of the fish that got away had a happy ending.

Jim Jones of 638 Josephine Street, Alberni, landed a large salmon on Franklin River and arrived happily back at the Port Alberni marina to weigh it in.

Delighted with a catch that obviously weighed over 40 pounds, he lugged up and on to the scale.

Back to Water

Before you could say "tyee season," the slippery fish skidded off the scale and back into deep water.

It took three hours before he finally managed, with the help and suggestions of almost every fisherman on the wharf, to land the fish a second time, hoisting it finally with a pike pole through the tail until a net could be slipped underneath it.

Net Near Scale

But it was worth it. The big tyee weighed 47 pounds 8 ounces and took the trophy for Biggest Fish of the Day. Biggest so far of the season have been a couple of 53-pounders caught last week.

The marina owners have stretched a net behind the weigh scale to make sure it doesn't happen again. Catching them once, they figure, is tough enough.

Girl Finds, Delivers Wayward Pills

The finder was Kim Procaviat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Procaviat of 1940 Birch.

The label on the parcel read "doctor's prescription, urgent" and was addressed to Sandringham Private Hospital, 1650 Fort.

Kim phoned the hospital about her find, then walked the several blocks to the hospital and delivered the parcel.

Mrs. Procaviat said she did not know how the parcel came to be in the driveway.

Saanich Bans Open Fires

Saanich has cancelled all fire permits, Deputy Police Chief Joseph Armstrong said Wednesday night.

Mr. Armstrong said this would ban all open fires, including domestic incinerators without suitable covers.

The move was not taken as the result of a rash of fire calls in Saanich, he said, but was aimed at prevention.

Other communities in the Greater Victoria area have had similar restrictions in effect for the past few days, except Esquimalt, where burning is permitted in restricted hours and under full control — i.e. area wetted down and garden hose handy.

False Calls Alarming

Amalgamation Chestnut Meddling Says Reeve

When the Victoria Chamber of Commerce urges union of area police and fire departments, it is meddling in a situation it knows nothing about, Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich said Wednesday.

There is no need of change in the present setup, the reeve added, referring to a discussion Tuesday at a civic affairs group meeting of the chamber at which it was decided to work toward a general open forum on the subject.

Group chairman Clyde Savage rekindled the old issue when he said that he had been talking to senior Victoria police and fire officials and they were all for amalgamation.

It would provide more efficient service, save money in overlapping administration costs and result in better location of new stations, said ex-alderman Savage.

ALTERNATIVE SOUNDED

He also observed that if municipalities did not do something about amalgamation, the provincial minister of municipal affairs would.

Reeve Curtis said Wednesday he believed Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell and Attorney-General Bonner were politically astute enough to know there would be a strong reaction against union.

Mr. Campbell, he added, had "made it clear" the regional district concept is his answer to amalgamation of municipalities or their functions, and these were to be operative, in the main, at local levels.

"I have an advantage over Mr. Savage in that I have some idea of the opinion both in Saanich and Victoria," the reeve said.

NO IDEA

"It seems that he has no idea of the general attitude in Saanich. Additionally, as a one-time strong supporter of total amalgamation between Saanich and Victoria, I have come to appreciate the very definite advantages in maintaining the status quo.

"Without reflecting on other police and fire departments, amalgamation of ours with others is a move Saanich residents would come to regret," the reeve said.

GREAT VALUE

There is great value in emergency services which know the area they serve and there is a highly desirable person-to-person relationship between Saanich firemen and policemen which could not be maintained with an amalgamated force, Mr. Curtis maintained.

Why Wait?

Garbage Pursuit Rejoined

Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich will fire the opening salvo with a request that the whole subject be reactivated.

He will point out that the matter was first brought to the attention of the intermunicipal committee in 1966, and in November of the same year a technical report, prepared by municipal engineers, was brought in.

NO ACTION

Early in 1967 the whole question was laid on the table by the intermunicipal group, pending a reaction report from one of the inner municipalities.

"I think it is most regrettable that the intermunicipal committee, since receipt of this report almost 10 months ago, has taken absolutely no action on any of the recommendations," Reeve Curtis' letter stated.

The reeve said he realized that the intermunicipal committee could go only so far with the question, and that it was rightfully a matter for the regional board.

NOT POSSIBLE

However, it had not been possible to advocate regional control until the regional district had a permanent secretary-treasurer, an officer appointed in recent months.

"I realize that the opinion is held in some quarters that Saanich feels particularly strongly about this because of the main dump on Hartland Road, close to Saanich, but in answer to this I earnestly believe that I would feel similarly concerned if the dump was some distance removed from the municipality I represent," the reeve declared.

NOT CONFINED

His objections to the principle of open and uncontrolled garbage dumping was not confined to Hartland Road, but also to the two smaller dumps on Millstream Road and to any others in operation, Reeve Curtis added.

In his letter, copies of which were sent to Mayor Stephen of Victoria and the reeves of Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Central Saanich, North Saanich and Sidney, Reeve Curtis suggested that visits be paid to the dumps on Hartland and Millstream.

Michener Helps

OTTAWA (CP) — Governor-General Michener has accepted the position of honorary patron of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada. The announcement was made by Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, committee executive director. The committee is a non-denominational relief and rehabilitation agency.

Border Closed

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—The border between the Dominican Republic and Haiti is being closed temporarily because of heavy contraband traffic and recent attempted crossings by "subversive element," the Dominican government has announced. The two countries occupy the same Caribbean island.

But Mankind Resists Resiliator

It's Like 'Walking on Rubber'

By BILL STAVDAL

That's because people have rigid minds, he says. No resilience.

Mr. Woodhead is the inventor of a bicycle attachment which he calls a resiliator. A nasty 61, he enjoys describing himself as "a crackpot inventor."

* * *

With a resiliator, he says, a cyclist has " . . . No aches, no pains, no fatigue. You don't get tired."

Bicycle companies and adults generally won't listen to him, he says. But he has gathered a group of teen-age cyclists who back his claims.

* * *

Manufactured in Mr. Woodhead's Hope Springs Bicycle Co. at 921 Wharf Street, the resiliator is a three-pound device bolted behind the pedals.

When a pedal goes forward on the power stroke, a wheel and spring riding on the chain cushion the foot slightly. The thrust of the foot is spread over a larger arc.

"It took 22 years of study on my part, and I can't explain it in three minutes," he replied when asked on Wednesday.

"I'm not going to talk physics. Adults haven't the mental resiliency."

His Resiliency Club of Victoria, 14 teenagers who "understand the physics of resiliency," has endorsed Mr. Woodhead's theory in a written and signed statement.

* * *

The resiliator makes "a bit of difference" going up hills, said Darrell Teng, 15, and brother Victor, 13, of 132 Regina Avenue. They made the test at the request of the Colonist.

* * *

For the rigid-minded, non-resiliator-oriented adult, Mr. Woodhead has this simple explanation:

Admiral Given Corps Command

Cmdr. A. C. Wurtele will be replaced Friday as commandant of the Victoria unit of the Corps of Commissionaires by retired Rear Admiral John B. Caldwell. The commander continues as chairman of the board of governors.

Admiral Caldwell confirmed Wednesday that he would take over Sept. 1. In a statement Tuesday, Cmdr. Wurtele had said he had not resigned: "I did nothing of the kind. It's a private organization."

KNOWS NOTHING

Individual members of the board of governors of the corps who could be reached Wednesday either refused to comment on the change of command or denied any knowledge of the appointment.

Capt. Victor Hadland, adjutant to the Victoria corps and a full-time paid officer of the unit, said he was "just an employee of the corps and I know nothing about the appointment of corps officers."

A governor, Capt. J. M. Grant, refused to comment at first, but did add, "It will all come out in due course, but it would be very disloyal and indiscreet for me to comment at this time. The welfare of the corps is our first concern, so you can put that in your pipe and smoke it."

"At a regular meeting of the board of governors of this division held at 2 p.m. Thursday, 24th August, 1967, the following appointments were made.

"To be chairman of the board of governors, Commander A. C. Wurtele, RCN (Rtd) effective Sept. 1, 1967.

"To be commandant, Rear-Admiral J. B. Caldwell, MBE, CD. Effective Sept. 1. 1967.

The board of governors of the corps includes the following: Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes, Brig. J. S. Adam, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, Capt. Grant, Lt.-Cmdr. H. L. Henderson, Rear-Admiral J. C. Hibbard, Major J. C. Holmes, Lieut. O. Matson, Major Okell, Air Vice-Marshal V. H. Patriarche, former RCMP Commissioner C. E. Rivett-Carnac, J. A. Wallace, general manager of Yarrows Ltd., Group Capt. Cecil Wyatt and deputy provincial secretary Lawrie Wallace.

Only Museum Will be Open

Provincial government offices will be closed Monday for the observance of Labor Day. The provincial museum, however, will be open to the public from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on the Monday holiday.

Attention-getter with Inner Harbor marine traffic is new provincial archives and museum now nearing completion. It will add to city skyline already dominated by legislative buildings and Empress Hotel.—(Jim Ryan)

Crews test the triple-width boat area at China Creek Park

China Creek Hit by Closure

Park Opened in Silence

PORT ALBERNI — China Creek Park, on the Alberni Canal, has been used by campers, boaters and picnickers for a year and still hasn't been opened.

Latest fire hazard restrictions in forest areas have forced the cancellation of the park's opening. It has been postponed indefinitely.

★ ★ ★

The idea to establish the park came from the late Doug Mallory, Port Alberni alderman.

The Port Alberni Harbor Commission, the twin cities' councils, the provincial government and MacMillan Bloedel have combined to put his dream into reality.

The park, which provides excellent access to the canal for fishermen and boating enthusiasts, has camping areas and picnic spots set aside in protected spots.

A three-place boat ramp has been installed during the past few months, and gravel dredged from the entrance has been spread to form a six-acre waterfront.

★ ★ ★

Work on the park itself started more than a year ago.

A branch of the Port Alberni marina has been set up at the park for the benefit of fishermen. Alberni Valley Kinsmen have built a rustic kitchen in a spot laid out by engineers, protected from stiff canal breezes.

And while residents and park-users wait restlessly for the official opening, representatives from each group are preparing the necessary speeches and attributes.

Engineers will be among the first complimented in the project — their skill made it possible for a road to be pushed through rugged rock country winding high above China Creek, twisting like a silver thread below.

There will be a guided tour of the park after the opening ceremonies, and MacMillan Bloedel buses or crummies are bound to make a stop at two giant Douglas firs, which may one day form the official park entrance. The trees rival most of those in Cathedral Grove.

★ ★ ★

People will probably also refer to the dream of a series of parks and connecting roads joining beauty spots in the lower Vancouver Island west coast region.

Blast Set Off

WASHINGTON (AP)—A low-yield nuclear test blast was set off underground Thursday at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test site. The blast, the 19th reported weapons-related test this year, had a force of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

Commission Wants Just the Truth

PORT ALBERNI — Regis Boucher of Alberni has found out the hard way that it does not pay to misrepresent the facts to the unemployment commission.

He has been fined $150, or 105 days imprisonment in default, for claiming $216 for dependents who are not living with him. His family is living in Victoria.

Boucher was given time to pay. He has made restitution.

If Man Was Meant to Fly Where Are His Wings?

PORT ALBERNI — The Alberni Valley seems fated to meet delays in centennial celebrations that involve aircraft.

Ten days ago, the visit of the Golden Centennaires was cancelled because of smoke and poor visibility caused by the Taylor Arm fire.

The centennial committee is hopeful that the flight of the whirlybird can be re-scheduled to eight or 10 days time.

Meanwhile, Mayor Hammer has told council that he has been in touch with CFB Comox, and requested a return visit of the Golden-Centennaires during the fall fair next weekend.

If this cannot be arranged he said he hoped jets from the base might perform over the valley on the morning of Sept. 9, when a parade is scheduled for the final day of the fair.

TOFINO — Kindergarten classes here and at Ucluelet will commence Monday, Sept. 11. The school may arrange a day for parents to come prior to this date to make final arrangements regarding their children's attendance. Parents will be expected to provide their own transportation for childrem.

LADYSMITH — Jack Carmichael, 19, and James Sharanowski, 18, both of Cassidy, have been remanded without plea after they had been charged with breaking into the Legion Hall here. Police said the two men were observed breaking a side window. Carmichael and Sharanowski were arrested at 2 a.m. Wednesday and charged with the offence.

LAKE COWICHAN — A total of $1,000 worth of tools was stolen from a building owned by Western Equipment Ltd., at Meade Lake between 5 p.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. Wednesday. Police said thieves broke a window and gained entrance through wire meshing.

★ ★ ★

TOFINO — Two men, their names unknown, have been rescued from the Victoria fishboat, Pit after the boat hit a rock and sank five miles east of Leonard Island. The men, who escaped injury, were taken aboard the Coast Guard cutter Racer.

★ ★ ★

UCLUELET — The first meeting of the Alberni-Clayquot Regional District has sent a letter to the provincial government asking for increased facilities at the Green Point campsite at Long Beach. They include improved sanitation, an adequate water supply and changing the dangerous approach to the Long Beach road.

Army Battles Rebels

FIERCE FIGHT IN CANTON

HONG KONG (UPI) — Fierce artillery duels were reported today to have been raging for the past two days in Canton between a regular army division and mutinous brigades in the city's outskirts.

In a related development, pro-Mao top military leaders in Peking called on the Chinese army to play an even bigger role in the raging power struggle, Peking radio said.

The radio report coincided with newspaper accounts in Hong Kong, quoting recent arrivals, that told of the military clash in the major southern Chinese city.

DELAYED FLIGHTS

The arrivals reported that troops of the 47th Army, sent to Canton by order of Peking, mounted an attack against rebels entrenched at the Pai-Wan-Shan (White Cloud Hills) area near the Canton airport.

The right-wing English daily, The Hong Kong Standard, quoted the arrivals as saying the fierce artillery duels delayed the departure of two planes sent by Premier Chou En-lai to bring more leaders of two major opposing Red Guard groups to Peking for a "peace conference."

The Peking broadcast said the military leaders appealed to the army to take "urgent measures" to protect Red Guards from anti-Mao elements and at the same time improve military-civilian relations in the year-old cultural revolution.

BLOOD BATH

Reports in Hong Kong Thursday told of a "blood bath" in the central Chinese city of Chengchow where opponents of Mao besieged a militia unit.

The "combat bulletin" of the Honan Red Guards, received Thursday in Hong Kong, said many supporters of Mao were burned or beaten to death.

$50,000 Position Beckons Minister

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Pickersgill is reported to be planning to leave the cabinet to become the first $50,000-a-year president of the Canadian Transport Commission, a still-to-be-formed federal agency set up by Parliament last winter.

An informant close to the minister said Thursday an announcement to this effect is expected before Parliament opens its fall session Sept. 25.

The new commission is to combine the present responsibilities of the Board of Transport Commissioners, the Air Transport Board and the Canadian Maritime Commission.

Lunch-Stroll Welfare Showdown

Indians Snag Bennett

By IAN STREET
Legislative Reporter

An unnamed delegation from the Cowichan Indian reserve confronted Premier Bennett Thursday on the lawns in front of the legislative buildings.

They told the premier they wanted the same social welfare services other residents of B.C. receive and felt they were entitled to them because Indians who live on reserves pay provincial taxes.

The premier, obviously taken by surprise, said as long as the Indians chose to live on federal reserves, the province could not act on their demands.

DISCUSSED WEATHER

Mr. Bennett was on his way to lunch at the Union Club when the group of Indian women caught up with him. The premier told reporters who arrived on the scene a few minutes later that he had discussed the weather.

When pressed, Mr. Bennett said: "I'm on my way to lunch, my friend. Do you mind?"

Mrs. Mary Thorne of Duncan said she told the premier Indians living on reserves paid all taxes and therefore felt entitled to full social welfare benefits from the province.

MET DEPUTY

"Mr. Bennett didn't seem very interested," said Mrs. Thorne. "He said if we choose to live on federal reserves then the province was already doing all that it could do for us."

Earlier, the delegation had a meeting with deputy welfare minister Ray Rickinson and received some satisfaction.

Mr. Rickinson promised to send a social worker to the reserve on a "project basis" to assess the needs of the Indians living there and assist them where possible.

OUT OF LINE

From B.C. Indian Commissioner J. V. Boys, the delegation received an assurance that federal authorities would investigate their charges of discrepancies in welfare payments

Polaris Sub In Collision

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI)—The Polaris-armed submarine Simon Bolivar scraped the bottom of a navy cargo ship Thursday while running submerged on a torpedo practice mission in the Atlantic Ocean 70 miles southeast of Charleston.

None of the 309 officers and men aboard the Bolivar and the USS Betelgeuse were hurt in the collision. Both ships made it on their own power to their home port at Charleston.

N-Blast Leaks

YUCCA FLAT, Nev. (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed Thursday "a minor release of radioactivity" was detected following an underground nuclear test.

Papers For Dief?

TORONTO (CP) — Papers which would allow the nomination of John Diefenbaker as a candidate in the Progressive Conservative party's leadership race have been issued by the leadership convention headquarters here.

A convention official said Thursday the nomination papers were picked up Tuesday by Keith Martin, co-chairman of the Youth-for-Dief committee. Mr. Martin declined to say who the papers were for.

Train Robbers Grab $80,000

MONTREAL (CP)—Two armed men overpowered a baggage car employee aboard the CNR's Scotian passenger train near Montreal Thursday and escaped with an estimated $80,000.

They entered the baggage car from the passenger section of the 17-car train, handcuffed the single employee on duty, shoved a woollen sock in his mouth and taped his mouth.

The baggage car employee, Marcel Poisson, 41, of Charny, Que., said the men jumped him while the train was passing through Beloeil, about 20 miles southeast of Montreal.

"I couldn't see whether they were young or old," he said in an interview. "It all happened too fast. They wouldn't let me face them."

He said the men gagged and handcuffed him, pushed him to the floor and put a coat over his head.

It was not known where the men boarded the train, bound from Halifax to Montreal. The first stop before Beloeil was St. Hyacinthe, about 12 miles down the track.

FOUND GAGGED

None of the passengers on the train or the other employees were aware of the robbery, the spokesman said.

The baggage car was just behind the engine.

RAIN!

Holiday Weekend Wet One

The long Labor Day weekend may be a wet one if the weatherman's crystal ball has not been smacked by the heat.

The Genzales weather office forecasts rain today, and the Seattle weatherman's five-day prediction is for more than normal rainfall before Tuesday.

Victoria's traffic officers are keeping their fingers crossed and say the first hour will be the worst. That's how long it will take to clean the road film from the streets.

ROADS SLIPPERY

During that first hour, the roads will be slippery and accidents are bound to happen.

But many may be avoided, says city traffic inspector Richard Berry, if motorists use their heads.

Thatcher

Thatcher Calling Election?

REGINA (CP)—The Leader-Post says Premier Ross Thatcher is expected to issue an announcement Saturday concerning a Saskatchewan provincial election.

The newspaper said rumors were strengthened Thursday by a report that election proclamations have been prepared.

Arctic 'Aqaba' Turns Back U.S. Ice Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) The United States has halted a voyage by two U.S. icebreakers across the Arctic in a dispute with the Soviet Union over passage through the northern waters, the U.S. state department announced Thursday.

A strong protest has been launched with the Kremlin, the state department added, accusing the Soviet Union of denying to U.S. vessels their rights under international law and frustrating an important scientific mission.

At issue is whether the Vilkitsky Straits between the Soviet island of Severnaya Zemlya and the Soviet coast is an international passageway — as the United States claims — or Soviet territorial water, as Moscow contends.

The legal issue resembles in some ways the question over the Gulf of Aqaba, whose announced blockade by Egypt triggered the June war between Israel and its Arab neighbors.

'Must Take Risk'

Senators Demand Bombing Step-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — An immediate increase in bombing of all important military targets in North Vietnam—even if it risks war with China—was recommended unanimously by the U.S. Senate's preparedness subcommittee Thursday by the U.S. Senate's preparedness subcommittee.

In an interim report sharply critical of Defence Secretary Robert McNamara, the senators asked closing of the key North Vietnamese supply port of Haiphong and bombing of all other meaningful military targets in an effort to shorten the costly war.

McNamara testified before the subcommittee last week that increased bombing could not by itself win or shorten the war and that the final victory must be won by ground forces in South Vietnam.

The subcommittee report said: "We cannot, in good conscience, ask our ground forces to continue their fight in South Vietnam unless we are prepared to pres the air war in the North in the most effective way possible.

"What is needed now is the hard decision to, whatever is necessary, take the risks that have to be taken, and apply the force that is required to see the job through."

Workman Killed By 12,000 Volts

WOODSTOCK, N.B. (UPI) — Edward Jewett of Dubec was electrocuted Thursday when 12,000 volts shot through his body as he touched a power line, working on a housing project.

Tory Credentials Go to 86 'Thinkers'

OTTAWA (CP) — Credentials for 86 disputed delegates to the Progressive Conservative leadership convention next week have been issued, informants said here Thursday.

The information was confirmed by Conservative national director Dr. James Johnston, who said he learned of the accreditation Wednesday, adding that he will challenge the action at Sunday's meeting of the convention committee.

* * *

The 86 were listed by convention headquarters as delegates from the Montmorency Falls, Que., policy advisory conference held by the party early this month in preparation for the convention.

Dr. Johnston submitted a formal protest last Friday stating that a large number of the "thinkers' conference" delegates selected favored one particular candidate among the nine men and two women at present in the running.

Following protests from Dr. Johnston and agents for several of the candidates, convention headquarters advised party members who made inquiries that the credentials had already been issued.

* * *

"I have been told that I should refer the protest to the convention committee," Dr. Johnston said. "That is what I did in the first place when copies of my protest were sent to the 25 members of the committee and to the leadership candidates.

"Despite this, the credentials have been shipped."

He said there are "enough votes in that 86 to throw the convention." He declined to say to whom.

"Unknown hands have compiled a list of 86 people and the credentials have been sent. The convention committee now is expected to ratify this action. "I do not intend to."

* * *

He said the committee must decide who has power to make such appointments and how many may be appointed. The qualifications of those selected must be set out.

"Whatever the committee decides has to be acceptable as well to a plenary session of the convention," he added.
